20 MILLION AID APPROPRIATION VOTED BY HOUSE

Emergency Clause on All Five Bills.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The $20,000,000 state relief program, intended primarily for the aid of the unemployment in Chicago, was approved by the house tonight by more than the two-thirds vote necessary to make it effective at once.

D. E. SHANAHAN. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The five bills were passed on roll calls which gave the first measure 106 votes and the other four 116. There were 22 votes against the first bill, but only four against the rest of the program.

Immediately the engrossed bills were rushed over to the senate, and there they were advanced to second reading. The upper house is expected to send them up another stage tomorrow so that they may be passed on Friday and be ready for the signature of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson either Friday or Saturday.

It is conceded that there may be difficulty in holding two-thirds of the senate—thirty-four—until Friday, but the backers of the relief program say that, with the example of the house before it, the senate will take pride in finishing up the emergency legislation this week.

Passage Is Cheered.

Gloom and frowns gave way to smiles and cheers when the first of the relief measures was passed. Even the most sanguine of the program sponsors felt, as darkness settled in the capital, that there was almost no possibility of recording the desired 102 votes for it. Downstate apparently was turning a deaf ear to Chicago's prayer for aid in feeding its hungry and sheltering its homeless.

The change came, it is conceded generally, when, after a test roll call had been completed and showed only 72 favorable votes—an even 50 short of the goal—Speaker David E. Shanahan violated his own rule which ordinarily keeps him from speaking for or against a measure and in a calm but emphatic manner told the house how important the pending bill and its companion measures were to Chicago.

Much credit also was given to Michael L. Igoe, minority leader, who fathered the bills and helped swing the big total of votes which came their way finally. That total showed that the test bill, the one appropriating the $20,000,000 for a new state emergency relief commission, received more votes from downstate than it did from Cook county. All the Cook county members present voted for the bill, but there were only 50 of them and 56 downstaters lined up with them.

Downstate Aid Acclaimed.

This support from downstate was acclaimed enthusiastically as the biggest demonstration of humanitarianism and of patriotism seen in Springfield in many years. It brought praise from Shanahan, Igoe, and others.

But the final victory did not come until after Chicagoans had pictured in dramatic terms the danger of rioting and other forms of lawlessness and disorder traceable to Red sources that they said would confront their city unless the emergency were met promptly.

Consideration of the relief program occupied the entire day in the house. This chamber even did an unusual thing by recessing until the downstate members could gather in the legislative lounge and talk things over among themselves.

Politics occupied the center of the stage during most of the day. Downstaters said during the debate that many of their fellows were actuated by knowledge that when they go into the April primaries they will be called on to explain how they voted for an increase in the state tax rate even though it is only a bookkeeping increase.

ACCEPTS POST RECENTLY HELD BY GEN. DAWES

Mills Likely to Get Cabinet Position.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.] — Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is to resign at once and go to London as American ambassador to Great Britain.

President Hoover offered Mr. Mellon the ambassadorship made vacant by the recent resignation of Charles G. Dawes. Mr. Mellon spent today considering the offer and telling friends that were he ten years younger there would be no doubt of his acceptance.

He was finally persuaded to accept by friends about equally interested in obtaining his graceful retirement from the post he has held for eleven years and in infusing younger blood into the treasury portfolio.

President's Announcement.

Announcement of the selection and of Mr. Mellon's acceptance was made by the President at 10 o'clock tonight in the following White House statement:

"The critical situation facing all countries in their international relations, the manifold economic and other problems demanding wise solution in our national interests calls for experience and judgment of the highest order. The importance to our country of the sound determination of these world-wide difficulties needs no emphasis.

"I have decided therefore to call upon one of our wisest and most experienced public servants to accept a position which will enable him after many years of distinguished public service at home to render equal service to his country in the foreign field.

"I have asked Mr. Mellon to undertake the ambassadorship to Great Britain. I am happy to say he has now expressed his willingness to serve."

Mills Slated as Successor.

Ogden L. Mills of New York, undersecretary of the treasury, is said to be slated to succeed Mr. Mellon at the head of the treasury department, although there are rumors that the portfolio will be offered to Gen. Dawes, who assumed office yesterday as president of the two billion dollar reconstruction finance corporation.

Mr. Mills conferred with the President during the day. The first time he was at the White House with Gen. Dawes, Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the reconstruction corporation, and Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, who called to discuss with Mr. Hoover general policies of the corporation.

A few hours later Mr. Mills saw the President alone. When the undersecretary emerged beaming from the White House he parried all questions pertaining to the possibility of his promotion to the cabinet position.

Mr. Mills' choice for his successor as undersecretary of the treasury is understood to be Henry H. Bond of New York, who was assistant secretary of the treasury from 1927 to 1929. He is a law partner of William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general.

First Named by Harding.

With the resignation of Mr. Mellon the last vestige of the Harding and Coolidge régime will have passed from the Hoover cabinet. Mr. Mellon remained at the head of the treasury, although it was an open secret Mr. Hoover was not enthusiastic over retaining him and did so chiefly to placate busines interests that regarded the venerable treasury head as the corner stone of prosperity. Mr. Hoover had not wholly approved the Mellon policies under the Harding and Coolidge administrations and, moreover, Mr. Mellon had opposed the nomination of Mr. Hoover until he reached Kansas City and found his hand forced by Boss Bill Vare's delivery of the Pennsylvania delegation to Mr. Hoover.

In view of the fact that Mr. Mel-

BEWARE OF THE BREAKING POINT

Tanker Blast Kills 6; Report 20 Are Missing

Marcus Hook, Pa., Feb. 4 (Thursday). —(AP)—Six men were known to be dead and many others were believed drowned or burned to death as the result of a series of terrific explosions which early today wrecked the oil tanker Bidwell, docked at the Sinclair Oil company's wharf here.

Eight of the victims were reported dying in Chester hospital, while three others brought there will live, doctors said.

Twenty men said to have jumped into the flaming oil-coated river were rescued by a launch, but others were believed to have perished.

Forty members of the tanker's crew and a number of other workmen were known to have been aboard the ship when the first blast occurred in a midship hold. Other explosions followed at short intervals and hurled flaming oil over workmen and buildings alike.

Rescue Captain's Wife.

The charred body of an unidentified man, burned beyond recognition, was taken to the Crozier hospital in Chester, where it was believed it might be the body of Capt. Rivers of Jamaica, L. I., N. Y., commander of the ship.

Mrs. Viola Rivers, wife of the captain, was found clinging to the side of the burning vessel in the forward hold, almost submerged in oil and water.

She was taken to the Crozier hospital in a serious condition. She kept screaming to attendants to notify her mother, Mrs. Sara Snell of Jamaica, L. I., N. Y.

Unofficial reports said only 20 men, either dead or injured, were known to have been taken from the ship. Others were seen to jump into the water where they screamed for help and disappeared beneath the water.

Center of Oil Operations.

The scene of the explosion is a center of activity for two large oil companies, the Sinclair and Sun Oil, and many chemical plants are located nearby.

The first blast occurred about 12:30 a. m. It was heard for a radius of 10 miles, shook houses in Wilmington, Del., Chester and communities on the Jersey shore. Dishes were knocked from shelves in Wilmington and windows were shattered for miles around.

Victims in Hospital.

Four of the victims who, doctors said would die, were Roy Hamilton of Marietta, Ga.; Edward Grelow, 31, of Indiana; Edwin Russell, 35, and Olaf Musser, 34, both of Marcus Hook.

Three others whose condition was less serious were identified as Lee McMahon, 27, of Fostoria, Tex.; William Major, 34, of Chester, and Vincent Serago, 31, whose address was not at first learned.

CONVICT TWO U. S. 'FASHION SPIES' IN PARIS COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Ida Helen Oliver of Chicago and Mrs. Caroline Davis of New Orleans were today found guilty of copying exclusive dress models from Paris couturieres. They were ordered to pay $4,600 and $4,100 respectively in fines and damages.

The judgment was handed down by the Correctional court of the department of the Seine. It sets a precedent by marking the first success in the ten year fight of Paris dressmakers to punish American "fashion spies." Representatives of the couturieres had asked expulsion for the two American women, who were arrested last year charged with buying illegally sketches of models.

Drastic control is exercised over American buyers from houses known to specialize in mass reproduction, and they are arbitrarily denied admittance to the showings. Those whose credentials are accepted have to post a $100 forfeit. The forfeit is deducted from purchases, but in case none is made it is retained by the house.

Anti-Freeze Death Toll Mounts to Seven Persons

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Four more deaths today from drinking an anti-freeze mixture brought the total here for three days to nine. Seven of the victims were members of a single drinking party.

Women Dicker with Robber; Save Jewels

Two sisters bargained with a bandit late last night and finally settled what might have been a $5,000 jewelry loss for $100 in cash.

The sisters, Mrs. Mildred E. Olson, 33 years old, buyer for a loop house, and Mrs. Elizabeth Lebhart, 31, of Milwaukee, were in the former's ninth floor apartment at 20 East Delaware place when the bandit, a sleek appearing youth, intruded. He demanded their jewelry. Mrs. Olson and Mrs. Lebhart pleaded most of their jewels had sentimental values, and asked that the gems be spared. The bandit paused a moment.

Fixes Price at $500.

"Get me $500 and I won't take the jewelry," he offered. The woman declared the price prohibitive. He lowered it to $400, then $300 as they still held off. At this point Mrs. Lebhart spoke up. "I can raise $100," she announced. That settled the bargain.

Mrs. Lebhart sat down and wrote out a check for $100, then summoned a bellboy to call for the check and cash it at the hotel office. The bellboy, Thomas Tiney, appeared. He saw two women and a man sitting down nonchalantly. He took the check, cashed it downstairs and reappeared with the money.

"Give it to Jack," directed Mrs. Lebhart, indicating the bandit. This remark, prearranged, was uttered as the robber held his hand in his gun pocket. Unsuspicious, the bellboy handed the money to "Jack" and left.

Takes Women with Him.

The bandit kept his part of the bargain by not taking the jewelry, but compelled Mrs. Olson and Mrs. Lebhart to put on their coats and hats. "I don't want you to telephone to the clerk while I'm going down the elevator, and I don't want to tie you up," he said. "So come along with me." The sisters went. With the bandit they walked through the lobby, past the clerk, Miss Monnie Farley, and into the street.

At Rush and Oak streets the bandit doffed his hat and dismissed his victims with an admonition to "keep on walking." When they turned around, half a block down the street, he was gone.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Feb. 4 (Thursday.)—(U. P.)—Soviet Ambassador Troyanowsky visited Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa today, calling his attention to forcible Japanese operation of trains on the Chinese Eastern railroad in Manchuria for transportation of Japanese troops after soviet officials of the road had refused to carry the troops.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4 [Thursday], 1 P. M.—Chinese and Japanese forces opened a new battle this morning. The Chinese began a bombardment of Japanese positions, using a six inch gun mounted on an armored car stationed on the tracks of the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

The car is about a block from the United States marine outpost on Markham road bridge, one of the chief roads connecting the international settlement with the native Chapei district.

The Chinese bombardment was intended to cover the advance of 4,000 Cantonese troops, reinforcements recently brought up, who attacked the Japanese positions in Hongkew park and at the municipal rifle range.

Report Japanese Pushed Back.

According to one report, the Chinese pushed back the Japanese lines and three Japanese destroyers anchored in the Whangpoo river opened fire. The Chinese are also using five inch guns. The entire Shanghai settlement is being shaken by the heavy artillery duel now going on.

Japanese shells are exploding in the vicinity of the Hongkew park area in northern Shanghai. The explosions are plainly visible from the buildings on the bund.

Yesterday the Japanese pushed their lines out into Chinese territory and occupied two positions beyond the railway tracks. This action was responsible for the Chinese bringing up reinforcements last night.

Warships Shell Railway.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4 [Thursday].—(AP)—After a distinct slackening during the night, hostilities between Chinese and Japanese forces broke out again this morning with the use of machine guns and field guns over a wide front. Several artillery shells fell in the residential sections of the international settlement.

The firing was distinctly audible in the northern sections of the city and it was believed to extend along the Shanghai-Woosung railway, in which area the major scene of operations has been transferred from the native city of Chapei.

Report Army Division on Way.

A dispatch from Tokio today said it was reliably reported a division of Japanese troops was on the way to Shanghai, but official confirmation was lacking.

In addition to the shore operations Japanese naval forces stretched along the Whangpoo river between Shanghai and Woosung were believed to have gone into action and to have started shelling Chinese positions along the railway, running parallel to the river as far as the forts.

In the Hongkew area of the foreign settlement, where Japanese machine guns raked streets and houses yesterday in an effort to hunt out Chinese snipers, the situation was quiet compared with the last few days. But rifle fire here and there and the rattle of an occasional machine gun could be heard as the bluejackets continued their hunt for sharpshooters.

City Swept by Storm.

A driving storm of snow and rain enveloped the city today and strong winds were kicking up lashing seas off the China coast.

Five American destroyers on the way here from Manila were expected to arrive this morning, but were delayed and the time of their arrival is now indefinite.

A force of United States marines,

WE WANT FRIENDS BUT JAPAN COMES FIRST, SAYS TOKIO

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, Feb. 4 [Thursday].—Japan will inform the great powers today that she is unable to accept their proposals to settle the conflict at Shanghai.

Foreign Minister Yoshizawa said this morning that Japan could not agree to the powers' suggestions in their present form and that he was making counter proposals.

The particular cause of the difficulty is the fifth item of the plan. This item provides for settlement of all outstanding controversies between China and Japan in the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war and the league of nations resolution of Dec. 9, which set up a commission of five neutrals to investigate the conflict.

The foreign minister declared that Japan never could agree to outside intervention in Sino-Japanese negotiations over the Shanghai and Manchurian questions.

This was in line with his statement yesterday that "refusal to permit any third party to take part in the settlement of the Manchurian situation is a fundamental principle of this government's policy, as it has been of former governments."

Yoshizawa said he would invite the ambassadors of the United States, Great Britain and France later today to consider a modified proposal from the Japanese government.

Foreign Minister Yoshizawa conferred at Okutsi with the octogenarian Prince Saionji, sole survivor of Japan's famous elder statesmen, before he decided what policy to follow in regard to the peace program submitted by the powers.

"We are eager to retain the friendship of the other great powers," Yoshizawa said when he returned to the foreign office, "but at the same time we must protect the rights and interests of Japanese citizens in China."

Unofficially the Japanese attitude toward the proposal of the powers was summed up as follows:

1. Cessation of acts of violence is aceptable, provided the Chinese also agree.

2. A pledge to refrain from preparations for further hostilities may be made when Japan is convinced of China's sincerity in making a similar pledge.

3. Withdrawal of Japanese bluejackets from points where there is a considerable Japanese population is impossible unless the Chinese withdraw to a safe distance.

4. Establishment of a neutral zone is acceptable and perhaps Japan may accept a permanent agreement that no Chinese troops be allowed within a stipulated distance of Shanghai's international settlement. Such an agreement would be similar to the Tientsin Boxer protocol.

5. It is impossible for Japan to agree under any circumstances to the participation of any third power in negotiations with China so far as the Manchurian controversy is concerned.

Dispatches from Manchuria indicated that Gen. Jiro Tamon would be able to take Harbin without bloodshed. Soviet Russia, with 40,000 nationals in Harbin and a half share in the Chinese Eastern railway, which has headquarters there, thus far has accepted the prospect of Japanese domination with only the mildest objections.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3.—The Chinese government has accepted the American-British proposal for settlement of the Sino-Japanese complications.

which arrived yesterday on the cruiser Houston, was landed this morning on the customs jetty in the middle of the bund in the international settlement. The force, numbering eight officers and 326 men, was taken in motor trucks to marine headquarters in the northwest part of the settlement. After a two days' "shakedown" they will enter the settlement defense lines already manned by marines.

Japanese Marines Move Out.

United States marines later replaced Japanese forces guarding the Japanese cotton mill area, within the American sector of the settlement, in order to consolidate their positions along Soochow creek, facing Chinese barricades on the opposite banks. The Japanese had turned the cotton mill section into a veritable arsenal and took hundreds of machine guns with them as they departed to take up new stands.

This shift was the result of an arrangement between the municipal council and the Japanese naval command, providing that the municipal police should gradually resume control in the northern section of the settlement where the Japanese had been strongly entrenched. With their departure there were no troops in this sector other than Americans, British and Italians on the south side of Soochow creek.

Admiral Taylor Goes Ashore.

Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, came ashore today from his flagship, the Houston, and inspected American marine headquarters and defenses.

Meanwhile a battle of words between Chinese and Japanese authorities as to the outcome of the fighting at Woosung ran parallel with the firing.

Chinese exultingly announced that the guns of the forts had sent a Japanese destroyer to the bottom and disabled two others. They also said that a Japanese airplane had been shot down and the pilot killed.

Japanese naval officials denied there had been any Japanese losses and entered their own claims of victory by asserting that projectiles from their destroyers and bombs from their airplanes had turned the fortress into a mass of scrap iron.

Report 120 Planes Mass.

Official reports that 120 Japanese airplanes were concentrated on aircraft carriers lying off the Saddle islands and Hangchow bay heightened apprehension of further bombardment from the air.

Chinese bankers and business men today decided to reopen banks and all stores essential to the community's welfare in an effort to bring Shanghai's paralyzed business back to normal. Conservative estimates said at least 75 per cent of the city's commercial operations were at a standstill.

Chinese bankers for several days have been doing a "bootleg" business with trusted customers through half opened back doors. Today, however, they promised a full resumption of business immediately.

Rice merchants also were understood to have agreed to lower their skyrocketing prices, which jumped 50 per cent with the outbreak of hostilities.

Seek to Encircle Chinese.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4 [Thursday].—[U. P.]—Japanese marines, repulsed in an aerial and artillery attack on Chinese defenders of Shanghai yesterday, renewed the assault with greater vigor today in an offensive against the Chapei district.

The heaviest guns yet used in the battle of Shanghai were brought into action, and at 9:45 a. m. the fighting was intensified. The Japanese concentrated an attack on the North station, where Chinese have held out for a week against violent assaults and also engaged a Chinese armored car west of the station.

The Japanese apparently were attempting an encircling movement to isolate the Chinese, but United States marine officers said the fire indicated that the Chinese were holding their positions.

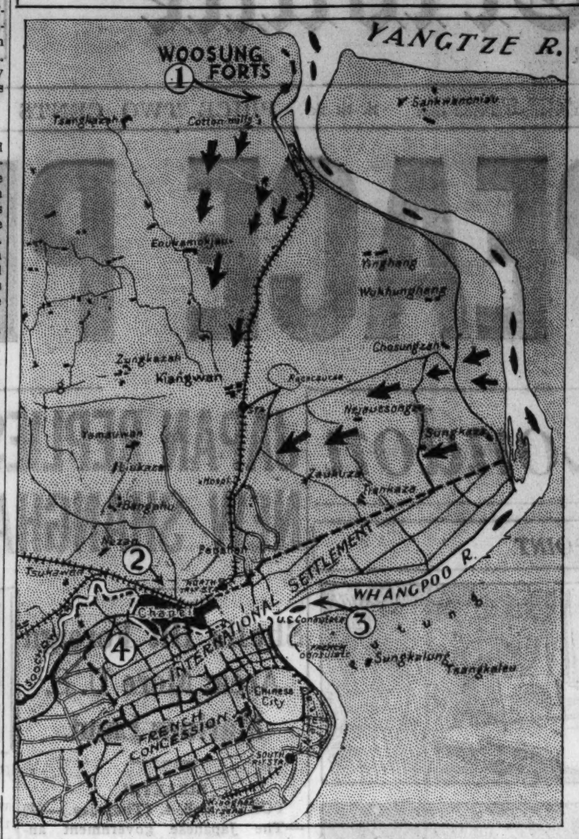
Fear Foreign Area in Peril.

Foreign military observers feared the Japenese were attempting to seize the Shanghai-Nanking railroad behind the north station, thus isolating the Chinese troops, who could flee only into the foreign settlement, with the threat of grave developments.

Throughout yesterday the blackened ruins of the native district of Chapei were again the target of 15 Japanese bombing planes and field artillery, but the Chinese held on. New fires broke out and shells battered the district along the settlement border.

Meanwhile, Chinese reinforcements continued to arrive in Shanghai. Four thousand troops came in from Chenju to aid defenders of the north station in the Chapei district. Eight fighting planes of the Third Canton air force were reported en route to Shanghai and Nanking under command of Col. Chen Yu-shing.

JAPAN MOVES TO ATTACK CHINESE LINES FROM THE REAR

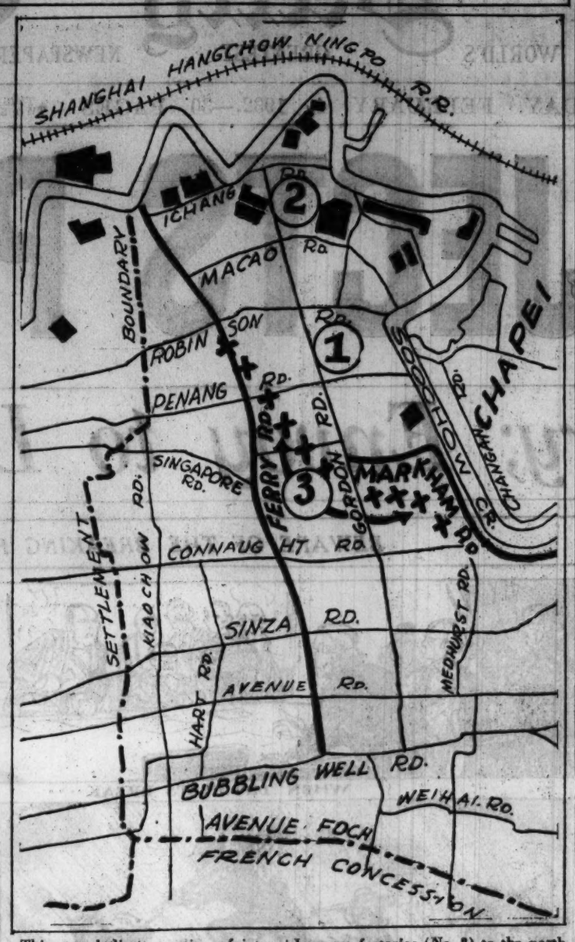


Japanese marines are reported to have been landed at Woosung (1) 12 miles from Shanghai following the bombardment of the Chinese forts there by Japanese warships. Fighting is reported to have broken out in the Woosung district and it is believed the Japanese are moving down the railway toward Shanghai, with the intention of attacking the Chinese lines at North station (2) from the rear. The Japanese have been unable in a week of fighting to dislodge the Chinese from their North station positions.

Japanese warships are also reported to be shelling Chinese positions along the railway south of Woosung (indicated by horizontal arrows).

Three hundred additional United States marines were landed in Shanghai today. The cruiser Houston (3) is anchored off the city near the American consulate.

American marines have taken over a section of international settlement (4) seized by Japanese bluejackets when the invasion of Shanghai began. The Japanese moved out. (See map alongside for greater details of this area.)



This map indicates section of international settlement taken over by American marines and evacuated by Japanese. No. 1 indicates where Japanese marines were sationed to protect Japanese factories (No. 2) to the north. No. 3 and crosses indicate present American defense line from Markham road northwest to Ferry road.

THE POWERS VS. JAPAN

INVADES FRONT LINES

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3.—I saw conditions reminiscent of war-strafed Belgium around the Shanghai Central railway station today when I succeeded in penetrating that area, accompanied by an American marine officer.

The trip was hazardous. Japanese planes had just completed another bombing expedition and the entire district was under constant artillery, rifle and machine gun fire.

In order to reach this section of the city, which ordinarily is densely populated with the laboring classes, it was necessary to make a wide detour of both the Chinese and Japanese lines to get behind the Chinese army, which is still defending the sector.

Block of Buildings Wrecked.

The first evidence of the terror to which the Chinese had been subjected was the wreckage of almost a solid block of brick two and three story houses formerly occupied by Chinese laborers. Some of the former occupants had managed to escape the destruction that was wrought on Jan. 29, when three Japanese air bombs, apparently intended for the railway yards, fell wide of the mark into the residential area. Hundreds of Chinese are still wondering about the wreckage of their homes, digging among the piles of brick for their belongings.

With a Chinese petty officer as my guide, I walked behind the remains of shattered freight and passenger cars and reached the sheds where the trains formerly loaded and unloaded passengers to and from Nanking. Two Japanese bombs had landed on the tracks adjacent to the concrete platform and caused craters six feet deep and fifteen feet across.

Finds Chinese Blown Apart.

One rail was ripped up and bent over the top of a wrecked passenger coach, while alongside one crater was the torso of a Chinese, all his clothing blown away, his legs and arms missing, and only a part of his skull remaining.

I counted some ten bomb craters in the railway yards, which now are a mass of twisted rails and splintered ties. A long row of freight sheds, with a freight train standing alongside, was still smoking from the conflagration, which destroyed millions of dollars' worth of property, including much foreign owned merchandise. It is estimated that the loss from the Japanese bombing now totals at least $160,000,000.

The large central station now consists only of blackened walls and the baggage room is filled with the charred fragments of trunks and luggage, some containing well known American trademarks.

Within a one story brick shed in front of the station, less than a block from the Japanese lines, I found a company of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's national guards still holding their position, although they have been subjected to Japanese airplane and artillery fire almost constantly in the six days since the original Japanese attack.

Chinese Reassure Foreigners.

The Chinese troops in Shanghai neither desire nor intend to attack parts of the international settlement occupied or patrolled by Americans or other neutrals, Brig. Gen. Chao Yi-chien, acting chief of staff of the 19th Chinese army, declared emphatically today in an interview in his headquarters at Chenju, about twelve miles inland from Shanghai.

When asked regarding the Chinese intentions regarding the Hongkew section of the settlement, now used by the Japanese as a military base, Gen. Chao was noncomittal. He said the Chinese do not intend to attack, but that they are determined to resist Japanese aggression. The Chinese are not discouraged by the superior equipment of the Japanese and intend to hold out to the best of their ability, the 35 year old Chinese commander, a native of Canton, continued.

The Chinese today decided to retaliate for the burning of Chinese property in the hands of the Japanese military. They set fire to a large lumber yard in Chinese territory several miles from the foreign settlement. The mill was burning fiercely last night and early today.

Italy Sends 200 Troops.

POLA, Italy, Feb. 4.—[Thursday]—(AP)—A force of Italy's crack landing troops, numbering 200, entrained today for Gaeta, where they will sail on the cruiser Trento Friday for Shanghai. Crowds cheered as the troops, part of the San Marco battalion, one of the country's best, departed.

Chinese Seek More Funds to Send to Shanghai Zone

Chinatown will celebrate the Chinese new year, which began Saturday at midnight, by inaugurating a two weeks' campaign to raise funds for China. Chicago's Chinese merchants already have raised $10,000 which has been sent to Shanghai to provide munitions and supplies. Members of the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent association have appointed Ko Ling Yih, Chinese consul; L. P. Jin, and Fong Kuk Wah as a committee to raise further funds, it was announced yesterday. A door to door canvass will be conducted.

ARMY AND NAVY CHIEFS ARRIVE IN HAWAII FOR 'WAR'

Camouflage Artists Get Busy on Defenses.

BY CLIFFORD GESSLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Feb. 3.—Guns boomed a salute today as the United States battleship Pennsylvania arrived at Pearl Harbor bringing Rear Admiral Frank Schofield, who will be the chief umpire for America's military and naval maneuvers, Maj. Gen. Malin Craig, who organized the expeditionary attacking force for these exercises, and other officers who will be assistant umpires. The mimic war, in which Hawaii will be defended from a "hostile" invasion, will begin on Saturday.

Camouflage artists spent the morning painting airplanes of Hawaii's defending forces to resemble a pineapple field and guava bushes to conceal them on the ground from enemy bombers.

The photographic section has been making aerial photographs of defense positions to test this camouflage. Travelers anywhere on Oahu, island and in many places on other islands are likely at any time now to meet defense outposts, for they are scattered over all parts of Oahu, and there are outlying aerial bases on Molokai, Maui, Hawaii, and Lanai islands.

"Blue" Fleet Advances.

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Steaming on through the trackless waters of the Pacific ocean is a fortified and mobile city of tremendous destructive prowess.

It is the "blue" fleet, bulk of American naval power, which is engaged in annual army-navy maneuvers, on a mission to "recapture the Hawaiian islands."

2 NICARAGUANS SLAIN IN BATTLE; U. S. MARINE SHOT

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Two members of the national guard were killed and a United States marine, Sergt. C. T. Brannon, was slightly wounded in the face in two skirmishes near Matagalpa City yesterday.

The clashes occurred on the Tuma river and involved a national guard patrol of 45 men under Sergt. C. T. Brannon and Second Lieutenant M. A. Cramer. A group of Sandino followers was encountered. They left four dead and two wounded on the battlefield.

National guard headquarters reported that the patrol made contact with a group of 100 Sandinistas, fighting for two and a half hours before the enemy retreated. There was another skirmish of thirty minutes in the afternoon, after which the Sandinistas were dispersed. Sergt. Brannon's wound was superficial.

GOLD DISCOVERY REVIVES SOUTH AFRICAN FARMERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Feb. 3.—The flickering optimism of the South African farmer during the present depression was revived today by the report of a new gold discovery. It was stated to be a gold bearing quartz found on the surface in the Fraserburg district in Karroo mountain pass.

Stories of how gold nuggets weighing nearly two ounces are being picked up are heard. It is understood that the department of mines was notified and that samples were brought to Cape Town.

The presence of gold in payable quantites in Karroo has been long suspected.

WAR INSURANCE RATES ON COTTON TAKE A BIG JUMP

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—War insurance rates on cotton shipments from United States ports to Shanghai took a sudden jump today to 75 cents per 100 pounds, against the former rate of 15 cents.

On top of this advance insurance companies were reported to have given notice that effective midnight Thursday rates on cotton from the United States to China and Japan would be withdrawn.

Cotton shippers expressed the opinion that these developments in the rate situation might bring business with the orient to a standstill.

EUROPE INJECTS WAR DEBTS INTO DISARM PARLEY

See Move to Put Pressure on United States.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—The first attempt to drag the reparations and war debts issue into the disarmament conference was frustrated here today but, it appears, only for the moment.

The little entente, it is learned, agreed at their conference at Montreux over last week-end that with the United States sitting in on the disarmament conference it would be exceptionally opportune to point out the relation between war debts and the general armament situation. Reparations, of course, would be included.

This point of view was manifested here today when representatives of the little entente suggested a finance commission as one of the various organisms which the conference should appoint to envisage its massive problems.

France Brings Up Security.

A variety of commissions was suggested, among them, of course, a security commission by the French to elaborate the bearing of security upon disarmament.

Because this procedure seemed to steer the conference directly toward the most obvious shoals, it was agreed that only two permanent commissions should be appointed, a steering committee and another called the "conference committee," which will include the chief delegates of all the countries represented.

In this way, at the outset, the dangers inherent in reports full of dynamite being presented to the conference itself seem to be avoided. However, a number of proposals bound to cause a tremendous stir are sure to come up.

Russia Persists in Its Plan.

The little entente persists in airing its feelings about debts. The Russians, although overruled in the preparatory sessions, are set on bringing up their total disarmament proposal.

Naotake Sato, Japanese delegate to the league of nations council, tonight in a speech broadcast to the United States said that the Japanese delegation is set on disarmament and that it solicits the support of the American delegation at the conference.

The Japanese delegate today called upon the league to advise it of Tokio's response to the four-power proposal for a peace pact in Shanghai. Inasmuch as the league now feels very much like the tail of a kite, difficulties inherent in the Japanese response will evidently be left to the powers. Presumably when they decide as to the acceptability of the Japanese response, the council will follow suit.

Await Shanghai Report Today.

Tomorrow the council expects some kind of a report from its commission at Shanghai, appointed under Article XV. of the league covenant. League circles this afternoon expressed considerable disillusionment over the information from Shanghai that the commission members, when they first got together, stated that they had not received instructions from their governments.

The Japanese here have made it plain to the league that although China considers her invocation of Article XV. was for Manchuria as well as Shanghai, Tokio has a different idea. Shanghai has nothing to do with Manchuria, the Japanese viewpoint being that the latter is being taken care of under the Article XI. machinery, which is already in action.

Hear Pacifists Saturday.

The Japanese feel that the Manchurian commission, headed by Lord Lytton, which sailed today, will take about a year to report. Meantime it is becoming apparent here that Japan will use Shanghai as a bargaining point.

The disarmament conference has set aside Saturday for the debut of pacifist commissions from all over the world. They will be given a stated period in which to express themselves. The churches will get two hours and a half. Momentous discussions between these groups over their share of the limelight are going on tonight.

Soviet Editor Admitted.

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Russian delegation to the disarmament conference today won a victory over the Swiss government in forcing a reversal of the Swiss decision to bar Karl Radek, foreign editor of the soviet newspaper Isvestia, from attending the conference.

The soviet delegation is closely guarded by a half dozen plain clothes men and uniformed gendames are on duty night and day at their headquarters.

Fifteen local communists were arrested last night because they staged a demonstration in a downtown square.

JAPAN CHARGES U. S. CHURCHMEN INCITE DISORDERS

Says Propaganda Is Stirring Up Chinese.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4 [Thursday].—A strong attack on British and American Christian educational institutions in the Shanghai district was made in the Japanese official press communique last night.

The report said the Japanese have seized and confiscated a "huge amount of anti-Japanese literature which is being circulated by students belonging to the so-called Chinese National Salvation association and the Student Volunteer corps."

"Kill All Japanese."

The Japanese statement made no reference to the law school operated under the auspices of the Southern Methodist mission, the raid on which by Japanese in civilian clothes recently caused a strong American protest.

The documents seized, according to the communique, included letterheads, circulars and pamphlets which urged that Christian Chinese students resist the Japanese by all means. Some of the leaflets were alleged to have urged Chinese students to "kill all Japanese in order to enhance the glory of the Chinese nation."

Charges Secret Instructions.

The communique also claimed that literature was seized from the Chinese Christian Educational association which contained secret instructions and communications pertaining to plans to boycott Japanese goods and that many circulars contained pictures of Chinese generals.

The Japanese declared that the literature seized indicates that the anti-Japanese movement in China is widespread and well organized and that it is responsible for the massmeetings, parades and demonstrations which caused violent outbursts against Japanese nationals residing in foreign settlements.

"It should be noted that the Christian institutions which should teach the gospel of the brotherhood of man have been turned into secret bodies to carry anti-Japanese agitations and plots," the report concluded. "It should be especially noted that the Chinese Y. M. C. A. has been used as a meeting place for anti-Japanese agitators since the beginning of incidents in Manchuria last September."

WIFE'S ARRIVAL IN COURT HALTS AN ANNULMENT

Hyman Kaufman, 18 years old, 4157 Ellis avenue, appeared before Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday in the Superior court to seek an annulment of his marriage which followed an elopement March 28 to Crown Point, Ind. He asserted that he and his bride went along only as prospective witnesses for another couple, but that he was intoxicated and got married when the other couple backed out of the ceremony.

A decree was about to be granted by default when his wife, Ethel Naylor Kaufman, 944 East 44th street, appeared in court. She is also 18. She presented an answer to her husband's bill, denying that there had been any mistake about the marriage, and asserting that Kaufman had proposed to her before they started for Crown Point.

She also filed a cross bill for divorce, charging him with cruelty during the week following their marriage. It was charged that Kaufman left her after his mother, said to be a wealthy widow, gave him an automobile.

Taylor Hands U. S. Protest to Japanese Commander

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The critical situation in Shanghai was again emphasized today by the receipt of confidential dispatches from American officials there stating that new protests had been made against Japanese use of the international settlement as a base for military operations, directed against the Chinese in the native city.

ADM. TAYLOR.

The protest was handed to the Japanese admiral in command following conferences between Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, chief of the Asiatic fleet, and Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general and senior diplomatic officer in the foreign settlement.

Immediately after the receipt of the confidential dispatches from Admiral Taylor and Consul General Cunningham, telling of the protests, and the dangerous situation precipitated at Shanghai by the persistent disregard of international treaty rights by the Japanese troops, Secretary Stimson summoned Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, and conferred with them for more than an hour on the next step to be taken by this government.

New Tokio Protest.

Following this conference it was indicated the state department would send another protest direct from Washington to Tokio urging that Japan take steps at once to remove unnecessary troops from the international settlement and discontinue using the settlement as a base of military operations. The sending of new protests to Tokio was recommended in the communication received from Shanghai.

The apprehension of American officials was due to the receipt of the Taylor-Cunningham report indicating that conditions were constantly becoming worse in the international settlement.

Coöperation Ordered.

Late today Admiral Pratt directed Admiral Taylor to inform the naval and military authorities of other nations at Shanghai that the United States will coöperate 100 per cent with them in preserving the neutrality and safety of the international settlement.

This action following receipt of Admiral Taylor's confidential report and dispatches telling of American ships endangered by Japanese shells was interpreted as indicating that the American military authorities there would take a stiffer attitude against Japanese invasion of the settlement as its forces were increased.

New Occupation Rumored.

The apprehension with which state department officials have viewed the Shanghai situation was heightened late in the day by the circulation of what appeared to be authentic reports that an army division was to be sent at once from Tokio to Shanghai and that Japan contemplated the occupation of Tientsin, Nanking, Hankow, and other strategic positions.

President Hoover was informed during the day that while China had accepted the concurrent peace proposals submitted yesterday by Great Britain and the United States, Japan's reply had not received. Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, conferred with Undersecretary of State William R. Castle and expressed confidence that Japan would accept the first four points of the proposals calling for a cessation of hostilities, no more warlike preparations, separation of the Japanese and Chinese combatants at Shanghai and the establishment of neutral zones around the international settlement to be policed by neutrals.

The fifth point, arranging for the settlement of all outstanding difficulties in the spirit of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, apparently has proved a stumbling block, dispatches from Tokio stating it could not be accepted. Whether this will cause the collapse of the peace efforts was a matter of speculation, although officials declined to comment pending receipt of the formal Japanese reply, expected tomorrow.

Consul General Cunningham stated in his latest dispatch that there were about 60,000 refugees in the international settlement, that increases in charges by hotels and lodging houses have jumped 100 per cent and that the American St. Luke's hospital in the Hongkew district was given considerable trouble by Japanese patrols yesterday.

Await Peace Answer.

State department officials today anxiously awaited the results of peace proposals of yesterday. China's acceptance was considered assured tonight, but doubt existed as to just what the Japanese government would state in its reply, expected tomorrow. Dispatches from Tokio were to the effect that Japan would not agree to neutral participation in negotiations regarding Manchuria, one of the terms of the British-American peace proposals.

Washington officials consider the present situation at Shanghai extremely critical. Fear that some untoward incident might occur which would make the situation even more serious has led the government, it was explained, to send a constant succession of protests to Japan against Japanese use of the international settlement as a base of operation.

AMERICANS FLEE NANKING ABOARD BRITISH STEAMER

Refugees Jam Vessel to Get Away.

NANKING, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Thirty-six American women and children were evacuated from Nanking today aboard the British river steamer Woosung to be taken to Shanghai. A number of British women and children also were aboard.

Other members of the American colony will be taken from Nanking by the United States destroyer Simpson, now anchored in the Yangtze off the Nanking docks.

Foreign business men and missionaries decided to remain in the city for the present. The American consulate did not advise its nationals to get out of the city but offered assistance to all who desired to do so. The British consular authorities warned that British women and children should be taken to places of safety.

"No Reason for Alarm."

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, Chinese minister of war, said there is no reason for foreigners to feel anxious, "for I guarantee adequate protection."

Sir Miles Lampson, British minister to China, is expected imminently in Nanking. His return from Tientsin was delayed by heavy troop movements on the Tientsin-Pukow railway. It is understood that urgent instructions for him to go to Shanghai await him here.

Among those evacuated on the steamer Woosung were the families of employés of the American International Export company, the Texaco Oil company, and the British-American Tobacco company. These refugees spent the night at the International Export plant on the Hsiakwan waterfront. The Woosung was jammed to capacity when it sailed.

China Accepts Proposals.

China announced complete acceptance of the international peace proposals to deal with the Shanghai situation. The foreign office said steps are being taken to avoid further fighting.

This announcement was made after a group of Chinese airmen made their wills, sat for photographs, and declared they were ready to give up their lives in the defense of their country.

An agreement was reached between Chinese and Japanese officials under which each side promised not to resort to further hostilities at Nanking "unless provoked."

Nanking was under martial law and the Chinese authorities directed troops and police to make special efforts to protect foreigners. Chinese and Japanese ships of war in the Yangtze changed their positions so that there is a distance of eight miles between them. British and American naval ships are anchored in the intervening space.

Former N. Y. Mayor's Son and Girl Victims of Gas

Westport, Conn., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Rufus Gaynor, son of the late John Gaynor, former mayor of New York City, and Miss Aileen Mork of Iowa City, Ia., were overcome by coal gas today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kellie. Miss Mork came here to coach a play to be staged by the American Legion.

SAFE IN CHINA

MARGERY SMITH.

Mrs. Mary A. Borneman, 2354 Cleveland avenue, received a cablegram from Shanghai yesterday which said: "Safe; do not worry." It was signed by her daughter, Margery Smith, who is employed in Shanghai. Her daughter was born in Chicago and attended the Horace Greeley High school, Mrs. Borneman said, after which she worked at the Harris Trust and Savings bank. She then became a secretary in the employ of the Honolulu Sugar Planters' association and five years ago went to Shanghai.

REPORT THREE INDICTED FOR JAIL ESCAPE

Indictments were reported to have been voted by the grand jury yesterday after it had heard testimony on the escape of Cornelius Montague from the county jail last Sunday. Those accused are Montague's wife, Ethel, and his two brothers, Frank, who left the jail with Cornelius, and Stanley, who impersonated his brother, allowing the latter to escape. The wife and two brothers of the prisoner visited him in the jail, and it was then that the switch of identities was effected. Stanley Montague is still held. The three are accused of conspiring to help a prisoner escape.

The jury questioned Warden David Moneypenny, who was not on duty Sunday, and Assistant Warden George Gibson, who was in charge at the time. Moneypenny was reported to have stated that if, as was stated in an investigation conducted by Chief Justice Fisher of the Criminal court, the pass which permitted visitors to see Montague in the jail was used twice, it was due to "more than carelessness." The jurors today will question Assistant Sheriff Frank Wright, who issued the pass, and Joe Casey, a political worker, at whose request the pass was issued.

Cornelius Montague was held without bail on a charge of kidnaping for ransom, for which the maximum penalty is death.

Seize Husband When Wife Dies in Still Explosion

A still explosion which resulted in the death of Mrs. Agnes Graskis, 48 years old, 2457 Rice street, led to the arrest of her husband, Constance, last night on a charge of violating the state dry law. The still exploded in the basement of their home, setting fire to Mrs. Graskis' clothes. She died shortly afterward in St. Mary's hospital. Police investigated the cause of the accident, then seized Graskis. He will be arraigned in Shakespeare avenue court today.

PRIEST HAS DREAM LIKE ABRAHAM'S; KILLS FIRST BORN

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The London Times published today a story from Madras, India, recalling Abraham's dream. At Udamalpet in Madras a priest dreamed that Kandiamman, goddess of disease in the local temple, angered at the failure of the temple authorities to observe her festival for the last two years, appeared before him and demanded the blood of his first-born in expiation.

The dream preyed upon the priest's mind until Sunday, when he beheaded his son, 12 years old, and poured his blood as a libation before the idol. Subsequently he showed the body to the police. He was arrested for murder.

DEFACED PISTOL OWNER SENT TO JAIL FOR YEAR

Second Conviction Secured in Two Days.

John Davies, alleged beer runner, 4111 North Long avenue, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to a year in the Bridewell on a charge of possessing a revolver with defaced serial numbers by Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green yesterday. He was found guilty after he had waived a jury trial.

Davies was also fined $5 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct and another $5 on a charge of attempting to bribe Sergt. Michael Naughton, who arrested him.

Cops in Case Suspended.

Davies and Michael Kosar, also said to be a beer runner, were arrested Nov. 9 after they had wrecked their automobile and engaged in a pistol duel with Policemen James J. Duffy and Burton E. McInerney of the West North avenue station.

The policemen were suspended at the order of Police Commissioner Allman when they failed to identify the pair in court several days later.

In the investigation ordered by the civil service commission in the cases of Duffy and McInerney, Sergt. Naughton went to Davies' home. Davies appeared at the door with a revolver and ordered the sergeant to leave, Naughton testified. Later he was admitted, Naughton said, and found the revolver hidden beneath a bed. He said Davies offered him $25 to forget about it."

Third Conviction in Two Days.

The conviction on possession of defaced numbers was the third in two days. On Tuesday a jury found Louis Scaramuzzo, a gunsmith at 604 Blue Island avenue, guilty of possessing revolvers with obliterated serial numbers. He is to be sentenced tomorrow.

The third conviction was that of Frank McCambridge, 27 years old, 1622 North La Salle street, who was fined $100 and costs and sentenced earlier in the day to serve six months in the Bridewell on charges of possessing a revolver with defaced serial numbers and carrying a concealed weapon. McCambridge was arrested Jan. 11 in a pool room at 22d street and Indiana avenue. He also waived a jury trial before Judge Green.

BUILDING WORK PAY CUT VOTED BY EMPLOYERS

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—A wage cut of from 25 to 30 per cent, affecting 115,000 workers throughout the building trades and effective April 30, was decided upon this afternoon by the Building Trades Employers' association.

The date set marks the expiration of the Builders' association's present contract with union labor.

It is estimated members of the organization employ about 115,000 men throughout the greater city and in Long Island.

The afternoon's action was scarcely more than a formality. A vote to put such a wage cut into effect had already been taken last Thursday by the board of governors of the association, and this afternoon the organization merely confirmed its former action.

STRESS SAFETY ON STREETS, IS SPEAKER'S PLEA

J. T. Davis, attorney of St. Louis and former president of the St. Louis safety council, last night urged members of the Chicago safety council at their annual dinner in the La Salle hotel to stress public safety on the streets and highways as much as they stress safety for their employés in industrial plants. He declared that every accident affects business, and that an economic loss of $7,000,000,000 resulted from accidents last year.

Charles L. Rice, president of the Chicago council, presided at the meeting. In introducing Mr. Davis, the principal speaker, he said that St. Louis attained an enviable record of reducing automobile accidents during Mr. Davis' two years as president of the St. Louis council.

Watchman Fails to Pull Signals and Is Found Dead

Failure of Philip Rodemayer, 65 years old, of 7351 North Paulina street, a watchman, to send in his hourly signal from the Eddy Foundry company at 368 West Grand avenue at midnight last night brought a squad of private police to the place. They found Rodemayer dead at the foot of a flight of stairs. He had accidentally fallen.

Prophetstown Teachers' Pay Delayed a Month

Prophetstown, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Teachers of Prophetstown will not receive their salaries for January, due this week, for at least thirty days unless money is obtained from some source other than the school treasury, H. C. Hull of the board of education announced. Tax receipts expected in March may enable the board to pay.

"GENERAL CHAN" OF CHINA JUST AMERICAN CHIN

Mystery Veils Actions of Lieut. Hall.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—They call him Gen. Chan in China and he is chief of the air forces of the Nationalist army—or was chief. His name is not Chan at all and he is not a Chinese. He is Lieut. Bert Hall, veteran of the Lafayette escadrille, chum of Guynemer and Lufberry, and aviation's first great soldier of fortune.

Stories published today in weekly news magazines and in newspapers place the Higginsville, Mo., veteran in the thick of the Chinese-Japanese fighting—but neither "Gen. Chan" nor Lieut. Hall has been mentioned in the dispatches from China.

Story Brings Doubts.

An effort to verify the latest D'Artagnan-like adventures of the flying man who crossed tracer bullets with the German aces to bring down five enemy planes brought some doubt as to whether he is connected with the Chinese forces in their present fighting.

The latest authentic report—last December—had Lieut. Hall in California endeavoring to iron out financial difficulties brought about by an unfinished mission to buy five fighting planes for the South China revolutionary government. Since then his friends have lost touch with him.

A New York banking firm, interested to the extent of $100,000 in the Chinese plane deal, expressed the belief that Lieut. Hall was still in California and at odds with the Chinese. The spokesman declined to be drawn into the controversy and was reluctant to speak definitely of the flying man's war or financial adventures.

Reached China in 1929.

Lieut. Hall became Gen. Chan of China in 1929. Since then, his friends here say, he has jumped from command to command as various Chinese factions came into power. His full Chinese name is Chan Hui-chang.

When he first went to China his job was to see that the Chinese got airplanes as well as to make flyers out of them. He found the planes and parts already in China out of date and made several trips to Paris and New York to buy aircraft.

CHINESE WOMEN GO INTO TRENCHES TO FIGHT JAPAN

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4.—[Thursday.]—[U. P.]—While shrapnel fell nearby, Chinese women stood in the war trenches today to bar the advance of Japanese marines on Shanghai's native city.

Attempting to follow the river road to Woosung, sixteen miles below Shanghai, reporters encountered a dozen women in a camouflaged trench across the road. The women were equipped with ancient rifles. They wore blue coolie cloth, sewed into make-shift uniforms. They held their posts in the trench with a determined and confident air.

There were no male soldiers in the vicinity. The women said they were guarding the road to prevent a possible Japanese advance on Chapel, in Shanghai, from Woosung, where the Chinese forts were bombarded and Japanese marines landed.

Talks to Club

Theodore Roosevelt Jr., newly appointed governor-general of the Philippine islands, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to take over the duties of his new post. He spoke at a luncheon at the Press club of Chicago, 30 North Dearborn street. He urged sensible economy in all branches of government as the surest means of returning to prosperity, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker also spoke.

FIND SUBMARINE ON OCEAN FLOOR AFTER 8 DAYS

61 Men Trapped in M-2's Hulk.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The admiralty announced tonight that the British submarine M-2, missing since it dived a week ago yesterday with 61 men aboard, has been located at the bottom of the English channel nearly six miles off Portland Bill.

The vessel, virtually given up as lost after a desperate search for days failed to show a trace of it, was located by the destroyer Torrid with powerful apparatus which detected tell-tale sounds.

One More for Dead Man's Bay.

Reports received here indicated that the sunken ship was located sometime after 10:30 o'clock tonight at a spot 5.8 miles west of Portland Bill, rocky promontory off which it went down in the treacherous tides of Dead Man's bay.

The spot is near the place where two flags in a canvas bag were picked up earlier in the search and where the captain of a coastwise vessel reported he saw a submarine dive stern first.

Use Special Devices.

Special finding apparatus on the Torrid during the day registered sounds indicating that a newly sunk submarine was in the depths. The mine sweepers Pangborne and Dunoon caught the vessel in their draglines.

Divers descended, but they were unable to reach bottom because of the strong tide. Four diving lanterns were sent out to aid them in their work below the surface of the sea. Efforts are being made to determine the cause of the accident which sank the submarine.

Woman Wounded in Bandit Chase in Evanston Street

Miss Ollie Hansen, 35 years old, 908 Main street, Evanston, was wounded by a stray bullet during a bandit chase in the suburb last night. The robber, a Negro, held up Milan Kulyan, owner of the Classic barber shop at 1717 Sherman avenue. Lloyd Worthley, watchman for the Sterling Cleaners, 1713 Sherman avenue, heard Kulyan's cry for help and pursued the robber. At Sherman avenue and Church street Miss Hansen was hit by one of three shots he fired at the bandit. She was taken to the Evanston hospital in a serious condition from an abdominal wound. The robber escaped.

ENGINEER PUTS UP A NEW RAIL TERMINAL PLAN

D'Esposito Asks Station South of Loop.

A new plan aiming at solution of Chicago's railway terminal problem, without excessive cost to the roads concerned, was announced yesterday by Joshua D'Esposito, consulting engineer, who designed the Chicago Union station. He submitted the plan at the annual meeting of the West Central association.

Mr. D'Esposito proposes that the fourteen railroads now using either the La Salle, Grand Central, or Dearborn stations transfer all their passenger and freight facilities to an area south of the loop and bounded by State street, Roosevelt road, Archer avenue, and the Chicago river.

He proposes the construction by all the roads of a South Central terminal, costing between 50 and 60 million dollars, between Clark and State streets, facing north in Roosevelt road. The station would be served by the proposed State street subway and by a diagonal highway running northwest from the station to Van Buren street, there to connect with the proposed south extension of Wacker drive.

Would Scrap Commission Plan.

A pedestrian and vehicular subway would link the South Central station with the proposed new Central station, which the Illinois Central is obligated to build on the site of its present Park Row station. The D'Esposito plan, of course, would scrap the Chicago Plan commission's project for a new Randolph Street terminal, embodying development of air rights and providing facilities for all south side roads excepting those entering the Union station.

"The plan is financially feasible, will solve problems concerning both freight and passenger facilities, provide a logical and normal, not a lopsided city development, and make all forms of urban transportation accessible to the new station," said Mr. D'Esposito.

In the passenger terminal plan provision is made for twenty-six lines of track. In the freight terminal, which would adjoin the passenger terminal on the west, extending from Clark to Franklin streets, there would be room for almost double that number of tracks.

"No Financial Burden."

"The project would put no financial burden on the railroads," Mr. D'Esposito asserted. "These companies now own approximately 3,000,000 square feet of ground in or close to the loop and valued at $20 a square foot. The site for the new freight and passenger terminals could be acquired for $4 a square foot."

Under the D'Esposito plan the roads would sell all their holdings north of Roosevelt road to a banking syndicate, free of liens or other encumbrances, to be developed over a period of 15 or 20 years for commercial use. Streets would be at ground level, excepting Franklin street.

Mr. D'Esposito estimates that the land sale to the syndicate would provide 70 per cent of the cost of the new project. He proposes formation of a terminal company to raise the additional 30 per cent upon the security of the acquired land and improvements plus the collective guarantee of the railroads.

LOUISIANA TOWN IS ISOLATED BY RAGING WATER

New Orleans, La., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The town of Colfax, in north Louisiana, tonight is cut off from the rest of the world and many of its residents are without food, while others have fled their homes and are in refuge camps. A raging sea of flood water is still hammering at the town and threatening to rise even higher in its streets and homes.

J. W. Duncan, Red Cross director, said the situation was critical.

Two hundred refugee families are assembled in high points of the town, Mr. Duncan said, and many of them are without proper food and clothing.

Other sections in flood stricken Louisiana are in better condition now than at any time within recent weeks, for the water in most places is at a standstill. Some 10,000 refugees, however, still look to the Red Cross for aid.

A break in the Atchafalaya levee below Alexandria relieved the strain at that point somewhat.

Flood Forces Schools to Shut.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—High waters of the Ohio river, which is nearing the forty-one foot stage here, have caused two schools to close in Union township, Vanderburgh county. In Knight township boats and skiffs are carrying children from their homes to where they may enter school buses.

Sell 400 Acres

of Subdivided Farm Lands

Coleman Brothers, realtors of 160 N. La Salle Street, have good reasons to be proud of their record for selling small farms this year.

What Coleman Brothers have accomplished, and how Tribune Want Ads have helped them is told in a letter received recently from Leslie P. Coleman. He says:

"We are writing of the excellent results obtained through the use of your classified section, which we have depended upon almost entirely in the sale of farm lands near Elgin and St. Charles.

"Although the market has been irregular, we have, by daily advertising in the Tribune Want Ad Section, been able to average 20 replies daily, and have subdivided and sold approximately 400 acres of farm lands to 35 satisfied customers.

"We wish especially to commend your want ad operators for their courteous service and accuracy over the telephone.

"(Signed) Leslie P. Coleman."

This letter indicates that farm lands can be sold. Consistent, day-to-day advertising in the Tribune Want Ad Section can do the job. An advertiser who uses the Tribune Want Ad Section in this way can expect satisfactory results, whether he is selling farm lands, city vacant, suburban homes or business properties, because the Tribune reaches more families in Chicago and suburbs than any other newspaper.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles no matter how stubborn the case?

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

QUAKE SHATTERS SANTIAGO, CUBA; FEW LIVES LOST

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Santiago was virtually a deserted city tonight in consequence of a series of disastrous earthquake shocks, which left eight known dead and created damage officially estimated in excess of $10,000,000.

Mayor Desidierio Arnaz was authority for the death list, and he estimated that at least 350 had been injured. Gov. Jose Varselo of Oriente province set the damage figure and his estimate was termed conservative by other officials.

Hysteria gripped the populace as homes and big buildings collapsed and the first reports flashed from the city and harbor by wireless estimated the death toll as high as 2,000. The city was plunged in darkness and investigators had difficulty searching the ruins. After several hours the death toll estimate shrank to 1,500 and then dwindled rapidly after daylight.

As tiny groups of residents, still stunned from the panic of the early morning, discussed the disaster in hushed tones, Harry F. Guggenheim, United States ambassador to Cuba, arrived by airplane to promise assistance to the stricken city.

Population Leaves City.

Hospitals continued their care of the wounded while about 75 per cent of the 130,000 population streamed into the outlying country away from stricken, wrenched homes. Some 150 major operations were performed on victims during the day.

In the harbor floated the United States destroyer Hopkins with navy doctors, medical corps men, and surgical supplies. Offshore was the U. S. S. cruiser Augusta, ready to lend aid, which so far was not needed because of excellent relief organizations within the town.

A further survey showed extensive damage to the Swift & Co. building, the custom house, the third floor of the Woolworth store, the San Carlos club, the two buildings of the Hotel Venus, and the Hotel Casa Granda.

Other Towns Damaged.

The buildings of the Bacardi distillery and brewery were slightly damaged, and the company lost 755,000 quarts of beer when vat pipes were broken.

Reports from outlying districts were that the town of Palma Soriano was slightly damaged, but that El Cobre, where the image of Cuba's patron saint stands, was unhurt. It previously had been reported damaged.

The swift series of tremors left hardly a building in the city untouched, and a few were destroyed. Any estimate of the damage was only tentative until the task of bringing order out of chaos had been completed.

Santiago was asleep when the first tremor shook the city shortly after midnight. This shock was followed by a more destructive one, and then came panic. It was not lessened in the quick succession of lighter shocks that followed.

City Jail Collapses.

Destruction continued to a certain extent throughout the day. The walls of the city jail fell in. Most of the prisoners who escaped uninjured went to work side by side with police and soldiers. They even stood guard to prevent looting.

The Cathedral of Santiago, one of the show places of this historical seaport, and several of the important structures in the business district were damaged to some extent, and some of them seriously so.

At the city hospital, where prospective mothers waited through the night in expectation of giving new life, the roof of the maternity ward fell in, bringing death to helpless inmates of the place dedicated to continuing life.

CHICAGOAN SENDS NEWS.

Another radio bulletin from Kenneth G. Smith of 11 Indian Hill road, Winnetka, president of the Pepsodent company, aboard his yacht Kenkora II., which is off Santiago, Cuba, assured officials of his concern yesterday that the party had passed through the earthquake without injury. The first news of the earthquake was flashed from the yacht to Havana early yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left Palm Beach two weeks ago for a cruise among the West Indies. They are accompanied by Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clements of Chicago and Miami Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klotz of Winnetka and Palm Beach.

The first quake in the Cuban city was registered on the University of Chicago seismograph at 21 minutes and 13 seconds after midnight and a second disturbance at 2:30 a. m.

BARRICADES HIMSELF IN ROOM.

Four squads of police went to 558 Taylor street yesterday on a report that a man, heavily armed, was barricaded in his room after a quarrel over a $15 rent bill. The man, Joseph Sasso, 40 years old, dropped a hatchet and surrendered when the police arrived.

PIPE LINE STOCK INQUIRY PUT UP TO WASHINGTON

Postal Inspectors' Report Completed Last Fall.

Investigation of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company's stock selling activities has been completed by federal postal inspectors and the United States attorney's office, it was authoritatively stated yesterday, is awaiting approval by the attorney general to present the case to the grand jury.

This concern, known as a $67,000,000 company, is headed by Frank P. Parish, "the boy wizard of finance," formerly of Kansas City and Chicago but more recently of New York. The company, through one of its subsidiaries, the Panhandle and Eastern Pipe Line company, promoted the $50,000,000 natural gas pipe line from the Texas panhandle to Indianapolis.

Inquiry Begun a Year Ago.

Its affairs have been under investigation by the postal inspectors since a petition asking a receiver and charging fraud was filed against the officers and directors a year ago.

The report of the postal inspectors, it was learned yesterday, was forwarded to Washington last October with the recommendation of the district attorney's office that action be authorized, but this authorization has not been received.

Approval of grand jury action by the attorney general's office was said to have been delayed by the request of the law firm of Winston, Strawn and Shaw for permission to file an answer to the government's report, which was done.

U. S. Charges Huge Stock Sale.

According to the federal investigators, the company, through Frank P. Parish & Co., sole distributor of its stock, sold $50,000,000 worth of the stock between January and June of 1930, at prices ranging up to $40 a share. The stock closed on the New York curb yesterday at $1⅛.

It is alleged by the government men that Parish and his associates maintained a market for the shares by purchasing them at rising prices, buying back all except about $16,000,000 of the issue in this manner.

The subsidiary, Frank P. Parish & Co., is alleged to have entered into underwriting agreements with the parent concern to purchase huge blocks of stock at $28 a share, whereupon, the government charges, these anticipated receipts were listed as assets in the financial statements of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company. The directorates of the two concerns are interlocking.

$20,000,000 Bond Issue.

In September, 1930, the company sold a half interest in its Panhandle and Eastern properties to the Columbia Oil and Gasoline corporation for a reputed nine million dollars, and conveyed eighteen million of its assets to Panhandle and Eastern as collateral for a twenty million dollar bond issue, underwritten by the National City bank of New York.

It is alleged that under the agreement between Missouri-Kansas and Columbia Oil and Gasoline each was to put up five million dollars for completion of the pipe line, and that when called upon to do this Missouri-Kansas was obliged to mortgage all its assets to obtain a loan in that amount. The pipe line is now in operation.

The petition for a receiver, which was later dismissed for want of jurisdiction by Federal Judge Woodward, charged that the company added the name of Francis L. du Pont to its directorate for the sole purpose of broadcasting circulars inferring that the famous capitalists of that name were back of it. Du Pont is a relative of the Delaware du Ponts.

Other Officials Named.

Other officers and directors under federal investigation with Parish are Burt R. Bay, Samuel J. Maddin, W. J. Hinchley, William T. Stevenson, Walter H. Scholp, Ralph B. Mayo, C. Stuart Shippey, and Edgar H. Stapper. The company has headquarters at 10 South La Salle street and maintains offices at 40 Wall street, New York, and in Kansas City.

Assistant United States Attorneys Joseph A. Struett and Francis J. Kennedy, who handle mail fraud cases, would make no comment on the Missouri-Kansas case except that the company was under investigation. Members of the firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, who have been interested in the case, were out of the city yesterday.

Husband Turns Robber; Alimony Debt Is Blamed

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday heard the story of a husband who was driven to crime in an effort to pay his wife temporary alimony, pending the trial of her divorce suit. The husband, Louis Fialkoff, is now in a Newark, N. J., hospital with a policeman's bullet in his hip. He was shot when he held up a women's bridge game there and tried to flee with $283. The story was told by Fialkoff's attorney, David Shipman, who appeared to oppose a citation of his client for being $200 in arrears in alimony payments to his wife, Sylvia, who lives at 4901 Drexel boulevard. The judge continued the hearing until Feb. 11, when the husband may be brought to Chicago.

WARNS POLICE TO AVOID BARS EXCEPT IN DUTY

Board Ousts Cop for Drinking.

Richard J. Collins, president of the city civil service commission, issued a warning to members of the police department yesterday to stay away from speakeasies and beer flats except in the performance of duty.

Mr. Collins' remarks, concurred in by his colleagues, Prof. Leonard D. White and Joseph P. Geary, were delivered after the commission had ordered the discharge of Policeman Emil J. Heuermann of the Summerdale station. Heuermann, who pleaded guilty to intoxication, was the eighty-sixth policeman to be discharged for drunkenness since the commission took office in April.

Warning to Policemen.

"I want to impress upon every policeman," said Mr. Collins, "that this commission does not believe that they should frequent speakeasies or beer flats whether they are off duty or not, and that any proved evidence of drunkenness submitted to the commission will be cause for immediate discharge.

"The commission believes that this policy will serve a twofold purpose. It will tend to make better policemen of those who are inclined toward intoxication when they realize that drunkenness will cause them to lose their jobs, and it should better their relations with associates and their families.

No Rehearing for Offenders.

"The commission attempts to give every one coming before it a fair and impartial trial, but when a decision is given it is permanent. No changes are made through rehearings. The commission serves notice to all policemen that it will not tolerate infractions of the police rules, and that no influence of any kind will obtain any relief for violators."

Policeman Charles P. Gartland of the Brighton Park district also was discharged yesterday. He was charged with being absent from duty several times without permission and failed to appear at his trial.

EMERGENCY TARIFFS HELP BRITISH TRADE, U. S. AGENT REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—A slight improvement in British trade during January was reported today to the commerce department by W. L. Cooper, United States commercial attaché in London. Reductions in imports, attributed partly to emergency tariff duties, and a slight increase in exports, "probably as a result of a better competitive position since the departure from the gold standard," were given as reasons for the upturn in British trade in Mr. Cooper's cable.

According to the American commercial attaché, the British government is expected to propose a 10 per cent general tariff on imports in the near future in an effort to improve the adverse trade balance, stimulate domestic production, and provide revenue which may possibly be applied to reducing the income tax. Improvement has been noticed, Mr. Cooper reported, in those commodity lines affected by the recent tariff protection.

"Improvement in the financial position is indicated and confidence has been inspired by the Bank of England's announcement respecting repayment of French and American credits without recourse to gold reserves," the cable stated, "but income tax collections exceeding expectations and by the restoration of normal stock exchange dealings. The stock market and sterling exchange are stronger. The new capital market is quiet, but recent colonial issues have been well received."

Mr. Cooper said wholesale and retail prices in Great Britain show a tendency to advance and that living costs have not materially advanced. Employment was practically unchanged, he said, with the shipbuilding and shipping industries extremely depressed.

Her figure ...stunning

But her skin, Tragic!

By Julia Foster★

Every movement, every posture, a delight to watch! I advanced to meet her. And stopped short, shocked! All illusion of beauty destroyed, utterly, unmercifully, by her skin. Yet a few words of advice might have made her one of the most glamorous creatures alive!

Yes, "tragic" is the word for it! Not all of us can have truly perfect figures. We all can keep lovely, youthful complexions. Only do as beauty experts tell you:

With your hands, work well into the pores of your face and throat a generous lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Then a thorough rinse with warm water to wash it away, followed by a cold rinse. Hot water should never touch your face. After this, in the morning, your make-up. At night, if your skin is dry, follow with oil or tissue cream.

There is a very definite reason why more than 20,000 beauty experts prefer Palmolive to all other soaps for this foundation cleansing. It is fully explained in the panel to the right, headed: "Beauty In a Test Tube". Please read it.

Beauty, relaxation, in your bath!

Weary nerves need soothing? Experts have told me about this form of relaxation that's a beauty treatment, too.

Shave up a whole bar of Palmolive. Melt it by boiling in 4 cups of water and pour the solution into your tub. Palmolive's so inexpensive, you can easily afford this. Step in, and relax for a minute or two. Then massage every inch of your body, every pore, with rich lather from another cake of Palmolive. When you get out, you'll find fatigue, nervousness, gone. Your skin will be soft and smooth, thanks to this olive and palm oil care. Some evening, soon, when you're so tired you feel tempted to cancel an engagement, try this!

And, by all means, start at once giving yourself that twice-a-day facial treatment with Palmolive Soap. Try it for ten days, at least. What other treatment can give your skin such luxurious, youthful softness?

BEAUTY IN A TEST TUBE

But can you get enough olive oil in soap? How much, actually, goes into Palmolive? Here is the exact amount of olive oil that goes into every ten-cent cake of Palmolive—in this test tube at the right. To this generous olive oil content can be directly traced Palmolive's great complexion benefits. It is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively. The only one using olive oil as a base. Other ingredients are simply oils from palm trees necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather. The color is the natural green of olive and palm oils—no artificial coloring.

More than 20,000 of the world's beauty experts have for years urged Palmolive Soap in preference to all others. Heed their advice!

ALLEN IS STOICAL AS SISTER TELLS OF DEATH THREAT

Witness Describes Fight on Fatal Night.

Norristown, Pa., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Rose Allen, 18 year old debutante, faced her brother, Edward Allen, on trial for the murder of her fiancé, Francis A. Donaldson, in a thronged courtroom today and told of his threat to kill her sweetheart. She took the stand as a commonwealth witness in the third day of the trial.

The threat was made, she testified, during a quarrel with her brother over her relations with Donaldson, shortly before Donaldson dropped under the fatal shotgun charge. After telling of her acquaintance with Donaldson in June and their engagement a month later, the girl came to the night of the slaying last November.

During her testimony the girl avoided her brother's eyes. She gazed steadily at the counsel table. Frequently she was asked to raise her voice. The crowded courtroom was hushed. She bit her lips uneasily as she spoke and clenched the folds of her black dress.

Turns Against Brother.

"Edward told me that Francis was not to come into our apartment again," she said. "I could meet him downstairs in the lobby, but he was not to come upstairs. If he did, he would blow his head off. Edward said, 'From now on I'm running things around here, and if you don't like it you can get out.'

"I told him I didn't like it and I was going to get out and I asked him who he thought he was that he was running things around there. He said he thought he was God right at that moment. I think he said he had a gun in the locker room downstairs in the hotel."

Miss Allen said she ate dinner and then went to the lobby of the apartment and waited for Donaldson. She had telephoned, she said, and he came in about five minutes. They went to the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, where they were joined by Albert Gallatin H. Lucas, a friend of Donaldson.

They discussed the quarrel with her brother, she said. It was decided that Donaldson and Lucas should go to the Allen apartment and attempt to smooth over the difficulty.

"And that was the last time that you saw Francis alive?" she was asked.

"Yes," she replied, almost in a whisper.

Brother Remains Stoical.

The brother sat immobile while his sister told her story. He gazed steadily at her. On her way to the witness chair she said, "Hello, Eddie," as she passed him. He was not heard to make a reply.

Miss Allen was recalled to the stand at the opening of the afternoon session. She said her father was in the apartment during her quarrel with her brother. She denied that her brother had told her that their father had said Donaldson was in her room the night before the shooting and that she slapped her father's face when he remonstrated. Pressed by counsel for the defense, she said she did not remember the incident.

She testified she knew there was ill feeling between her fiancé and her brother and that she made no effort to stop Donaldson's visits to her home.

She was cross-examined for an hour. When she was excused she again spoke to her brother on her way to her seat. She smiled for the first time during the day in court as she said, "Hello, Eddie." She continued to her chair without looking at any one.

Witness Describes Row.

Miss Allen was followed on the stand by Lucas, an employé of her father and the only eyewitness to the shooting. He told of the meeting at the hotel and going with Donaldson to the Allen apartment. As they entered the apartment, Lucas said, Edward leaped to his feet and shouted at Donaldson to get out. The father was in the room, Lucas said.

"Edward lunged at Donaldson," he continued. "I tried to stop him, but he hit Francis on the shoulder. Francis hit back and they grappled. Mr. Allen got out of his chair. I went to him and pinned his arms down and yelled at Donaldson and Eddie to stop. They stopped and I let go of Mr. Allen.

"Eddie called Francis a vile name and said he was going to get somebody to put him out. He then left the room. He came back with the doorman of the apartment and asked Donaldson to leave. Donaldson refused. The doorman left and Eddie said he would get a policeman. I said that was the best thing to do."

Lucas said he and Donaldson talked with the father about a half hour. They then said good-night and walked into the foyer of the apartment.

"As I swung to open the door," Lucas testified, "I saw Eddie standing there with a shotgun. As Donaldson turned to follow me out, Allen brought his gun up. Donaldson turned. Eddie pointed the gun directly at him. He fired and Donaldson dropped."

RESUME HEARING TODAY ON OUSTED PASTOR'S PLEA

Seeks Restoration to Ministry.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A council of the Congregational church will resume its deliberations today on the plea of the Rev. Dr. Frank Dyer for reinstatement in the Congregational ministry. Dr. Dyer was ousted while he was pastor of the Wilshire church in Los Angeles. The council hearing his case represents 47 churches in various parts of the country. Its sessions are secret and are being held in the Ravenswood Congregation church.

The moderator of the council, which began its session yesterday, is Dr. Donald J. Cowling, president of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn. It was learned that even if the findings of this meeting should be favorable to Dr. Dyer, the final decision to restore his ministerial standing would have to be made by the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Ministers and Congregations. The council in session here is only an advisory body.

Charges Against Pastor.

Dr. Dyer was deprived of his ministerial standing by the Los Angeles association in 1928 as a result of charges that he had made an arrangement with Jack Dempsey for a church benefit bout. Padded church membership rolls also were charged. Since that time Dr. Dyer has fought both in civil and ecclesiastical courts for redress and for restroration to the ministry. He recently appealed the second time before the Supreme court of California in his suit for $155,000 damages.

It was learned after the session of the council last night that the discussion may take up the question of Dr. Dyer's present church membership, which is Episcopal. This was believed by some of the members of the council to have important bearing on the council's final decision and its recommendation to the Los Angeles association.

Question on Membership.

The question raised is whether Dr. Dyer, who is now a member of another church can be restored to ministerial fellowship in the Congregational denomination. In answer to this question it was pointed out that Congregational pastors frequently are found who are confirmed members of the Episcopal church and maintain their Episcopal communicant standing. It was also noted that Episcopal-Congregational "comity" was established a few years ago whereby Congregational ministers might be ordained by Episcopal bishops and retain standing in both communions. This arrangement was recently invoked by the bishop of Massachusetts.

VICTIM WON'T HELP SO OFFICIALS DROP HUNT FOR KIDNAPERS

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The kidnaping last week of Howard A. Woolverton, wealthy manufacturer, is regarded as a closed incident because of inability to get coöperation from the Woolverton family, authorities said today.

Prosecutor Sam P. Schwartz, who attempted to start a grand jury investigation, and Police Chief John B. Kuespert both said that Woolverton had given them no clews on which to work. The manufacturer was held prisoner for 24 hours while his family made frantic efforts to raise the $50,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapers.

Woolverton walked into his home unescorted at the end of that period, and refused to state whether a ransom had been paid for his release. He told the prosecutor and police chief that he could be of no assistance to them because he was blindfolded during the entire period of his captivity.

The family is taking no part in any effort to find the kidnapers, the officials said. Woolverton and his wife are still fearful that their lives are in danger, and do not leave their home except when accompanied by several other persons, it was said.

Chief Kuespert said that he suspected several South Bend police characters in the crime, but had been unable to get any evidence against them.

LAWYER ASSAILS LEGISLATORS IN PLEA FOR CROWE

Asks Acquittal of Graft Trial Defendants.

Attorney Albert Fink, in making his plea yesterday for the acquittal of Timothy J. Crowe and six other defendants in the sanitary district graft conspiracy trial, admitted that the prosecution had produced some damning evidence during the trial, especially in so far as it referred to members of the legislature in 1927-'28, but he said that the defendants could not be held guilty of conspiracy.

The defense attorney characterized the legislative testimony as showing a "disgraceful and disgusting piece of blackmail," but he then argued that Crowe, as president of the board, and the late George E. Brennan, Democratic leader, were the only men concerned in this situation and that they were forced to submit to save the sanitary district and its treasury from being seized by downstaters.

Windup Is Due Today.

Attorney Fink had not finished his argument when court adjourned last evening. He probably will talk most of this morning, and then Prosecutor John E. Northup will wind up the case, which has required nine weeks for trial.

The session yesterday was attended by a capacity crowd because it had been reported that the trial would be concluded and that Chief Justice Harry Fisher and his associates, Judge James J. Kelly and Judge John Prystalski, would give an immediate decision. All of the defendants were in court as were many of their women folk. Some of the defendants showed the strain of the long trial and their nervousness indicated that they expected an immediate decision.

Defense Assails Legislators.

"I will now take up the testimony regarding the members of the legislature who appeared on the pay rolls," said Attorney Fink toward the end of the day of defense argument. "I believe that the legislature has a membership of about 200 and about 90 per cent of them were either on the pay rolls in their own names or had relatives or friends on the pay rolls.

"I am willing to agree with the prosecutor that a more disgraceful or disgusting piece of blackmail never existed at any time or place in the past. And I hope that it will never exist again in the future.

"In regard to this testimony, if any offense existed at all it would have been of bribery and we have no bribery count in this indictment. I doubt that any conspiracy to bribe count would stand, because there is no evidence of any corrupt agreement or concert of action. It was pure blackmail by the legislators.

The defense attorney then explained why Crowe and Brennan found it necessary to allow the legislators to dip their hands in the Chicago treasury. It was to prevent a former state administration, he said, from seizing control of the district by legislative action.

Discusses Dummy Concerns.

The only other evidence other than the legislative pay roll issue which Attorney Fink discussed at length was that of overcharges by dummy concerns formed to do business with the district during the Crowe régime.

The defense attorney linked up the overcharges with the subject of the "Beardstown buccaneers," as they were named by Prosecutor Northup. The buccaneers were political leaders who put in fake expense accounts for trips to Beardstown for more than $200,000.

"This evidence [referring to the overcharges and 'buccaneers'] is one of the most outrageous things I have ever heard of," said Attorney Fink.

"But this evidence shows no guilt as to these defendants—not even negligence. The trustees had a right to assume that the law department, operated by a distinguished former state's attorney [Maclay Hoyne], was being properly handled and that if he was too busy, by his assistants. The same was true of the purchasing department."

At the outset of his speech Attorney Fink said he was not going to waste any time talking about Defendants John J. Touhy, August Miller and James M. Whalen. He said they were in no way involved. He devoted his time to defending Crowe, John T. Miller, Frank J. Link, and Martin Edelstein.

U. S. DRY AGENT IS ACCUSED AS RUM RING BOSS

National and District Chiefs Order Quiz.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The United States district attorney's office is considering accusations made against Prohibition Agent Edward Evans today by John Wilder, 4010 29th avenue, Kenosha, defendant in a liquor case.

At a preliminary hearing on the liquor charge in Commissioner Floyd Jenkins' office, Wilder created a furore when he said under oath that Evans had supervised installation of a still in his home and that he had been given the impression Evans, whom he said he knew as "Tony," was "boss" over several stills.

Evans denied the charges in court, declaring he had never seen Wilder before the night of the raid, did not know or have contact with a man named Cruso, said to be operator of the still, and had made only one visit to the 29th avenue address and that when he raided it with other agents.

Prosecutor Gets Data.

The district attorney's office has asked for a transcript of the testimony taken by a prohibition department stenographer at the hearing and statements made by both Evans and Wilder when they were questioned afterward by E. J. Koelzer and Gilbert Vander Cook, assistant federal district attorneys.

Levi Bancroft, district attorney, would make no statement as to probable further action or investigation. He was not at the hearing and wants to read the testimony, he said.

"Wilder's statements are uncorroborated, I understand, and as such would furnish no basis for action," he said. "But I want to study them carefully."

W. Frank Cunningham, deputy prohibition administrator, dismissed the accusations as "ridiculous" and "insignificant." "If we ran down all these reports we'd have nothing else to do," he declared in the commissioner's court.

However, Col. John F. J. Herbert, prohibition administrator for the states of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, announced tonight that he will investigate the charges against Evans, and Amos W. W. Woodcock, national prohibition director, when advised of the charges, said that he would "expect a report from Cunningham on the matter."

Prisoner Called Police.

Wilder was arrested a week ago by prohibition agents, who were called in by Kenosha police after Wilder had complained a tenant was moving out without paying back rent. The police and dry agents say they found a partially dismantled still in the house.

At the hearing today Wilder admitted he had rented the house to a Jimmy Cruso of Chicago for $100 a month and knew a still was to be installed. He said he didn't know it was a crime to rent a building for such a purpose.

"I don't see why I'm being prosecuted anyway," he continued. "I know an agent who is in the whisky business."

Vandercook and the commissioner ordered the five agents who participated in the raid brought into the court. Evans was the last to enter. Wilder pointed him out.

Told "Tony Is Boss."

Wilder said Evans, giving the name of "Tony," visited the plant early in December and asked for Cruso, with whom he held a conversation. On Dec. 22 Evans was present in the place while a new still boiler was being installed, Wilder said, and helped supervise the work.

Cruso told him, Wilder said, that "Tony" was the big boss and supervised several stills in the vicinity.

The defendant pondered when asked Evans' attitude on the trip to Milwaukee after the raid. He dismissed "indifferent" and "antagonistic" as suggested attitudes by the questioners and finally said, "Now I've got it. 'Gloating' is the word that describes it. He told me it would cost a lot more than $50 before I was through." The amount of rent Wilder claimed due was $50.

"Why didn't you say something to the other agents about seeing Evans before while you were on the trip to Milwaukee?" Wilder was asked.

"I thought he would murder me if I did," the defendant answered.

Wilder was bound over to the grand jury and was taken to jail when unable to furnish $1,000 bail.

TWO HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE.

George De Bilzan, 2717 North Clark street, and Milton Allen, 955 Cornelia avenue, were held to the grand jury on charges of robbery yesterday by Municipal Judge James F. Fardy.

SENATOR J. J. DAVIS FOR BEER AND WINE; SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's junior senator, James J. Davis, came out tonight in favor of modifying the Volstead act and a state's rights substitution for the 18th amendment.

Davis took this stand, which he said was a change from his original position on the question, in announcing his candidacy for reëlection.

Saying "the results hoped for under national prohibition had not materialized," he held up the repeal plan advocated by the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey as his model.

Until the constitution can be changed, he said, he would favor modifying the Volstead act so as to permit the "regulated use of beer and light wines not intoxicating in fact."

WINNIE R. JUDD INSANITY FAKER, DOCTOR CHARGES

Murder Case May Extend Into Next Week.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Winnie Ruth Judd today heard herself characterized as an insanity faker seeking by simulating paranoic symptoms to escape punishment for her "trunk murders" of Hedvig Samuelson and Agnes Anne Le Roi.

Dr. Paul Bowers, prosecution alienist, made the flat charge of malingering during his cross-examination by Defense Attorney Paul Schenck, which required the entire eleventh day of Mrs. Judd's murder trial.

It was Dr. Bowers who had angered Mrs. Judd to the point of personal reprisal yesterday, by revealing her confession to him of a secret love life involving J. J. Halloran, Phoenix lumberman and mystery figure in the prelude to the double tragedy.

Questioning Extended.

Schenck's cross-questioning of the Los Angeles phychiatrist, who testified Mrs. Judd is entirely sane and completely lacking in any symptoms or indications of dementia praecox, was the most searching of the trial.

"Neither history nor evidence has come to my attention," Dr. Bowers testified, "that would in any way indicate insanity in this defendant."

Referring frequently to Dr. Bowers' own textbook on psychiatry, Schenck spent labored hours with him over involved blackboard work and in the darker by-paths of obscure scientific research.

As major points he finally won the admission that the taint of insanity under the Mendelian hypothesis might be transmittable without being evident.

Defense Points to Ancestors.

The defense contends that Mrs. Judd's paternal great-grandmother would not have become insane, a fact already testified to, had not she the taint of dementia praecox, and the fact her insanity came after the birth of her offspring in nowise altered the fact the inherent taint was transmittable to succeeding generations.

Schenck failed, however, to obtain from the assured, crisply speaking psychiatrist the slightest admission that Mrs. Judd indicated any symptoms of glandular disturbances.

Schenck yesterday, through the testimony of Drs. Edward Huntington Williams and Clifford Wright, had advanced for the first time in American jurisprudence the plea that disfunction of endocrine glands was a causative factor in insanity.

Judge Howard C. Speakman, County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews, and Schenck, however, were conferring tonight in an effort to complete the case some time before midnight tomorrow.

Ozark Beauty Spot Wins $350,000 Damages Award

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 3.—(AP)—An award of $350,000 for alleged damage to the scenic value of Hahatonka, famous Ozark beauty spot, by the waters of the new artificial "Lake of the Ozarks" was made by a federal jury here today to the Snyder estate of Kansas City.

Gutzon Borglum, famous sculptor, was one of the witnesses for the Snyder estate.

REVEAL MOVE BY HITLER TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Adolf Hitler, Austrian born leader of Germany's National Socialist party [Fascists], has taken the first steps to try to become the next German president, it transpired today.

By his appointment—never revealed until today—as police commissioner in Hildburghausen, a small town in Thuringia, in July, 1930, he became a German official and so, automatically, a German citizen eligible for the presidency. It also became known today that he has warned President von Hindenburg to oust Chancellor Heinrich Bruening or else the National Socialists will refuse to back Von Hindenburg for president.

Hitler tonight made light of the day's revelation. Declaring that he had never accepted the appointment, he said that "these are not the means by which I expect to become a German citizen." The government is planning a thorough investigation of the appointment which was made known by two officials in the office of Wilhelm Frick of Thuringia, former minister of the interior.

MELLON IS NEW AMBASSADOR TO GREAT BRITAIN

Retires as Secretary of Treasury Today.

lon had been slipping physically for some time the prevalent opinion is that the vacancy in the London mission offered Mr. Hoover the first good opportunity for putting his aged treasury secretary on the shelf.

Seventy-seven Years of Age.

Mr. Mellon is 77 years old next month, if you believe his biography in the Congressional Directory, or 80 if you believe Who's Who of 1919. For months he has been virtually a figurehead, Mr. Mills doing the work and even answering for the secretary when the latter was called before committees of congress.

Mr. Mellon has served nearly eleven years and has been ambitious to exceed the thirteen year record of Albert Gallatin, who served longest as secretary of the treasury. Gallatin, also a Pennsylvanian, was exceeded in length of service by only one other cabinet officer, James Wilson of "Tama Jim" fame, who was secretary of agriculture from 1897 to 1913.

Mr. Mellon was appointed by Mr. Harding in pursuance of a deal whereby Senators Boies Penrose and Philander Knox of Pennsylvania withdrew opposition to the appointment of Mr. Hoover to the commerce department in consideration of the appointment of Mr. Mellon, then unknown to the country.

Britain Believed Cordial.

Great Britain will be asked tomorrow whether Mr. Mellon will be acceptable as American ambassador. That he will be warmly welcomed is not doubted. He recently urged reopening of the world war debt settlement in order to lighten the burden of payments to the United States borne by British taxpayers. Mr. Mellon said that the abandonment of the gold standard by Britain had increased by 47 per cent the pounds sterling necessary to raise to meet these payments. As a result, he added, "the British taxpayer is asked to meet, not the obligations as established by our debt commission but an amount considerably in excess of such obligations."

Mr. Mellon is not exactly a neophyte in diplomacy. He had a leading part in negotiating the war debt settlement and last summer he represented Mr. Hoover in the negotiations of the moratorium agreement with France.

Sketch of Mellon's Career.

Mr. Mellon was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 26, 1855. He was the son of Judge Thomas Mellon, who retired from the bench in Allegheny county, Pa., in 1869, to found the banking house of T. Mellon & Sons.

Andrew Mellon was educated in the Pittsburgh public schools and the University of Pittsburgh, from which he was graduated in 1873. Entering his father's bank he later became a partner and in July, 1902, assumed the presidency of the newly formed Mellon National bank. In 1889 he had organized and headed the Union Trust company and the Union Savings bank.

President Harding selected him for the treasury post in his cabinet in 1921 when Mr. Mellon was 66 years old. In order to accept the position Mr. Mellon resigned as an officer or director of 160 corporations, his interests including a predominating position in the Aluminum Company of America and his influence extending to bridge building, coal, oil, shipping, and other corporations.

Mr. Mellon has been attacked on several occasions on the ground that his private financial interests make it illegal for him to hold the secretaryship.

LUGGAGE DEALERS ELECT.

Julius R. Liebermann, Saginaw, Mich., was elected president of the National Luggage Dealers' association at the final session of their annual conference at the Palmer house yesterday. He will succeed J. D. Rosenberger of Birmingham, Ala., who was elected a director.

SEIZE BANKER IN SICKBED ON U. S. INDICTMENT

Associate of Malloy Is Under Guard.

Federal authorities yesterday arrested Herman Elenbogen, former president of the defunct Lawrence Avenue National bank, 3222 Lawrence avenue, and placed a guard beside his sickbed in his home at 745 South East avenue, Oak Park. The warrant for his arrest was based on an indictment voted Sept. 22 by the federal grand jury, but suppressed because Elenbogen was then on a European trip from which he returned only recently.

The indictment charges the banker and John E. Malloy, who was assistant cashier of the bank and is now serving a four year sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary, with making false entries on the books of the bank and conspiracy to violate the national banking act. The false entries covered defalcations of $75,000, it is charged.

The Lawrence Avenue National was closed a year ago, after Malloy had appeared in Milwaukee with a tale of having been kidnaped by robbers who looted the bank vault. Malloy was indicted for embezzling $100,000 and convicted. That transaction was separate from the one in which he is alleged to have engaged with Elenbogen, Assistant District Attorney Owen A. West said yesterday. Malloy will probably be brought back from prison to testify against Elenbogen.

Elenbogen was displaced as president of the Lawrence Avenue National nine months before it closed. In 1923 he was president of the Sixteenth Street State bank, resigning a few days before that bank closed.

Foil Attempt to Rob Home of British Cabinet Member

PRESIDENT ACTS TO 'FREE' BILLION IN HOARDED CASH

Calls Conference to Get Citizens to Spend.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—President Hoover today called upon the American citizens to return upward of a billion dollars hoarded money into circulation. The President announced he had summoned the heads of the leading civic organizations of the nation to Washington for a conference Saturday at which efforts would be made to create a national organization to "campaign against depression" and bring out hoarded money.

According to figures given by the President today, a total of more than one billion, three hundred millions of American money has been hoarded during the last year and is still out of circulation on a nonworking basis. This withdrawal of money from the channels of industry, Mr. Hoover said, has diminished credit facilities by billions. The hoarder, according to the Hoover announcement, is acting "contrary to the common good."

Call Conference for Saturday.

The heads of the chamber of commerce, labor and agricultural associations, men's and women's service clubs, veterans and patriotic organizations and trade associations have been invited to Washington for the Saturday meeting.

Mr. Hoover said the reconstruction finance corporation, under the leadership of Charles G. Dawes, Chairman Eugene Meyer of the board and its directors was initiating a "definite campaign for reconstruction and recovery."

The text of the President's statement follows:

"There is now a patriotic opportunity for our citizens unitedly to join in this campaign against depression. Given such patriotic coöperation, we can secure a definite upward movement and increase employment. That service is to secure the return of hoarded money back into the channels of industry.

Injures Nation, He Says.

"During the past year and with an accelerated rate during the last few months a total of over a billion three hundred millions of money has been hoarded. That sum is still outstanding. I am convinced that citizens hoarding currency or money do not realize its serious effect on our country. It diminished the credit facilities by many billions. Every dollar hoarded means a destruction of from five to ten dollars of credit. Credit is the blood stream of our economic life.

"Restriction or destruction of credit cripples the revival and expansion of agriculture, industry, commerce, and employment. Every dollar returned from hoarding to circulation means putting men to work. It means help to agriculture and to business. Every one hoarding currency injures not only his own prospects and those of his family but is acting contrary to the common good. It is to their own interest that they should return it to circulation, as well as a patriotic service to the country as a whole.

"A prime need today is the extension and liberalization of credit facilities to farmers and small business men. The credit institutions are greatly crippled in furnishing these needed credits unless the hoarded money is returned. Therefore, I urge all those persons to put their dollars to work—either by conservative investment, or by deposit in sound institutions in order that it may thus return into the channels of economic life.

Urges Citizens to Help.

"During the great war our people gave their undivided energies to the national purpose. Today we are engaged in a war against depression. If our people will give now the same service and the same confidence to our government and our institutions, the same unity and solidarity of courageous action which they gave during the great war, we can overcome this situation.

"I, therefore, request our citizens to enlist with us in the fight we are making on their behalf. I call upon our civic associations to organize in every state and town to make clear the problem and to effect our purpose. That it can be done successfully and that our citizens will respond to this patriotic service and that hoarded money will be returned when they understand its effect upon their own town life has been demonstrated by such movement in several communities already.

"In order that we may have definite organization for this service, I am today calling upon the heads of the leading civil organizations to meet with me on Saturday, next, for the creation of a national organization to further this campaign. In the meantime, I request that the heads of such civic organizations in each state and in each community organize without waiting for the national action. I have so far invited the heads of the chamber of commerce, the labor and agricultural associations, the church and school organizations, the men and women's service clubs, the veterans' and patriotic associations, and the trade associations."

REVEALS GROUND UNDER THE PAPAL PALACE SLIPPING

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The ancient papal palace, with its priceless treasures, was pictured today by the former chief engineer of Pope Pius to be moving slowly westward under the impact of an earthslide in Vatican City.

Federico Mannucci, who for many years was chief of the vatican's technical and engineering staff, in a private report to the pontiff blamed this earth movement for the collapse of a part of the library last month with the loss of five lives.

Fadio De Rossi, who succeeded Mannucci, has been suspended from his post, but no charge has been placed against him. His friends said the pope was so impressed with the latest report that he declined to order the arrest of De Rossi, who according to vatican law would have been guilty of negligence until proven innocent.

The papal palace was built 400 years ago and houses valuable books, jewels, and tapestries. It is nearly a thousand feet long and covers 13 acres. The pope lives in an adjoining building built on solid rock and not affected by earth movement.

BESSE IS PLACED ON PROBATION IN RUM CONSPIRACY

Former State's Attorney Robert W. Besse of Whiteside county, last of the 43 defendants in the $12,000,000 midwest booze conspiracy case to face sentence, was given his choice of probation yesterday or a fine with the privilege of appeal by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. After deliberation Besse chose probation and he was put on probation for two years.

ROBT. W. BESSE.

When Besse was brought before the bar Judge Lindley declared he was not inclined to send the defendant to prison, holding the evidence was not of such a character as to warrant imprisonment. Besse was charged with aiding and abetting the installation of a still on a Whiteside county farm.

"If I had tried the case without a jury I probably would have found him not guilty," the judge said. "There was no evidence to show that he participated in the gigantic traffic. He has already been punished."

LAYMEN SEEK CHICAGOAN IN GOVERNOR RACE

Sound Brundage; Raise Campaign Fund.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Passage by the downstate squires of the state income tax bill served yesterday to stimulate the movement to bring out a Chicago candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor who might derive some organization support in the April primaries.

A group of party laymen, business and professional men, not politicians, held a quite meeting at which it was decided to seek to raise a campaign fund, say of $75,000. In recent weeks, lack of campaign resources and the difficulty of financing a battle has been a chief deterrent in getting a Chicago leader into the ring.

Organizers of the revived Cook county movement hold that downstate passage of the income tax hits Chicago smack in the eyes with a practical lesson in "taxation without representation."

Want Brundage to Run.

In scouting for candidate, Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general, has been approached with a request that he run for governor as a Chicago candidate. Mr. Brundage's avowed position is that he is not at all keen on entering, but if it can be shown him that an adequate campaign can be financed and if the demand is strong enough, then he will consider the proposal.

Mr. Brundage has always headed a group which has kept its unity pretty well through the political vicissitudes of the last five or six years, and it has always been stronger in public influence than on the county committee. He is not tied up with the various slate making ententes, and as a candidate, his proposers say, he is one leader least likely to be rated as a candidate of a factional group.

Deneen Camp Is Busy.

The Deneen camp is still busy on its county slate. It is to take up the question of state offices Monday, and overtures are to be made by the organizers of "A Chicago man for governor" move, to get the Deneen group behind the Brundage candidacy, should he decide to run. Politicians are arguing that the April primaries will be a battle for survival by old groups, and that the Deneen and Brundage groups are in the same boat—if they are beaten the ex-city hall machine may be in control of the party machinery. For years the Deneen and Brundage camps have not harmonized, but this time leaders argue common pressures to get together are stronger than ever.

With proper effort, the situation is regarded as almost a set-up for a strong Chicago candidate not too much encumbered with a factional label. William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission, is a Cook county entry, but has little if any support from the elected party organization. He boasts none of the leaders are with him, and, as an indication of the public trend, this goes big with his audiences.

Malone Draws Crowds.

Without organization support Malone has been drawing crowded houses. The politicians, somewhat worried, have cheered themselves with a reflection that in primaries it is generally organization that counts—unless there is an upheaval.

The other three candidates are all from downstate. They are Omer N. Custer of Galesburg, Gov. Emmerson's pick; Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, and Len Small. With the downstate vote split three ways between them, the opportunities for Brundage to roll up a winning vote as an out and out Chicago candidate are rated high if a proper campaign can be organized.

Custer and Carlstrom are for limitation of Cook county in the legislature to control of one house. The "Cook county man for governor" adherents say the chance is wide open to stir up a revolution on reapportionment, city versus country domination, and anti-Volsteadism.

Among suggestions yesterday were that full slates of candidates for ward committeemen and for delegates to the Republican national convention should be put in the field by the Chicago movement. At the bottom of the primary contest is the battle over who is going to control the party organization. As it looks just now, if the Crowe-Harding-Nelson delegate slate should win Cook county would be represented in the national convention by delegates, a majority of whom would be hand picked by ex-city hall machinists who were turned out by the voters last April.

Republicans Meet Today.

The Republican county committee meets today to slate a candidate for the vacancy on the county board caused by the resignation of Mayor Cermak. Louis Nettelhorst, a former Brundage man now lined up with Emmerson, was spoken of yesterday for the place.

The west side revolt and mutiny led by W. R. James, president of the West Parks, last week against the "raspberry slate" as it is being termed in some political circles, seemed to have vanished yesterday. The 6th district Republican organization slated Mr. James and William M. Garrison for national delegates.

Petitions were circulated yesterday for C. Wayland Brooks, assistant state's attorney, for state treasurer in the Republican primaries.

Joseph I. France, former Maryland senator, was put forth for the presidential preferential primaries in petitions put into circulation. Members of the old city hall machine were among the circulators. Mr. France is entered in the North Dakota primaries.

Bandit So Young He Takes Holdup as a Joke; Is Shot

Anthony McGoldrick, 37 years old, 1523 West 66th street, a street car conductor, was shot and critically wounded last night when he resisted a holdup by a bandit, who appeared to be about 16 years old, at Marquette road and Laflin street. Because of the gunmen's apparent youth, McGoldrick, who was on his way home from work, refused to take seriously the command to raise his arms and playfully reached for the boy. The bandit fired and fled. McGoldrick was shot through the right lung. He was taken to the Auburn Park hospital. The boy, who wore a leather jacket, held up two other victims last night.

CHICAGO DOCTOR, AS DRY WITNESS, AIDS WET CAUSE

Calls Rum Prescriptions 90% Bootleg.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, Chicago surgeon and former president of the American Medical association, came before a senate subcommittee this morning, to testify against any prohibition modification that would bring back the four per cent [by volume] beer demanded by the bill of Senator Bingham [Rep., Conn.].

WILLIAM E. HULL.
[Acme Photo.]

The drys, led by Bishop James Cannon Jr., applauded the surgeon frequently. But when he asserted that "ninety per cent of the doctors' prescriptions for liquor written in this country today are bootleg prescriptions," the wets pounced upon it as ammunition of their side. Representative William Hull, former Peoria distiller and present modificationist, sitting on the sidelines, fairly shouted across the table:

"Why, doctor, you've made a good witness against this 18th amendment."

But the doctor didn't believe he had.

Means $1,200 Extra.

"Of the 160,000 medical men in the United States," he explained, "the lower half, or at least 80,000, have an annual income of $2,500, or considerably less. Now, a doctor is allowed 400 prescriptions at $3 apiece. It is, you see, a terrific temptation for a man making $2,000 a year to have an opportunity to make $1,200 extra."

Solemnly, then, Dr. Bevan looked at the senators, most of whom hold law degrees, as he said:

"The medical group is a fine one, as fine as any group in the country. Law, submitted to the same temptation, would have fallen just as much."

Of prescription books, for real or bootleg illness, the Chicago surgeon knows little himself. For he declared that the Presbyterian hospital, with which he is affiliated, has not used a single pint of liquor in the last ten years. And only very few of the men on its staff, he maintained, have ever bothered to avail themselves of their prescription prerogatives.

Analyzes Chicago Situation.

Here is the way he analyzed the Chicago situation:

"Any rich man in Chicago today can buy a case—that is, twenty-four pints—of whisky at the corner drug store for from $150 to $165 a case. That is made possible by three factors—the bootlegging druggist, the bootlegging doctor, and the bootlegger.

"The druggist buys it at about $40 a case. One doctor, or several doctors, furnish the prescriptions at $3 apiece, or a total of $72. That makes $112. The bootlegger and the druggist split the rest, up to $150 or $165."

Representative Hull interrupted to argue that pre-prohibition liquor cost only $9 a case, and that now illegel syndicates controlled the price.

Defends Profession.

"That has nothing to do with the $72 per case that goes to the medical profession in a very unethical way," Dr. Bevan persisted. Senator Metcalf [Rep., R. I.], chairman of the committee and a modificationist, suggested that:

"We'd better educate the doctors to be more lawful."

Waukegan Merchant Hangs Himself; Ill Health Cause

Henry Karjala, 53 years old, 612 Helmholz avenue, Waukegan, hanged himself in his dry goods store at 657 McAllister avenue, Waukegan, yesterday. $20,000,000 AID APPROPRIATION VOTED BY HOUSE

All Five Measures Carry Emergency Clause.

stand that the raise in the tax rate is to be covered by state bonds and that, in turn, the bonds are to be retired by the counties which share in the relief fund, the money coming from those counties' one cent share in the present gasoline tax.

It was Speaker Shanahan who, in his quiet way, first brought up the danger of extensive disturbances in Chicago unless the jobless and their dependents are fed and housed.

"There is grave danger now," he said. "The federal government has already issued the orders necessary to curb disorder if it arises. The mayor of Chicago is on the rostrum here and he is undecided whether he should agree to calling out the troops tomorrow morning. The armories are under guard now.

"The press has been justified in refusing to publish some of these facts. They have been asked to do so for the public welfare. But the facts should be recognized by the house."

Dixon Changes Position.

By early afternoon John Devine of Dixon, former minority leader, who had opposed all proposals to use the name and the credit of the state for a Cook county emergency, had changed his position. He said he felt convinced that the state must do whatever was necessary to meet the crisis. It was Devine's analysis of the situation that helped change the attitude of the rest of the downstaters who swung to the bill.

But other downstaters helped materially. Among them were Arthur Roe of Vandalia, another former minority leader, Truman A. Snell of Carlinville, William M. Carroll of Woodstock, and J. E. McMackin of Salem.

"There isn't going to be any blood on my hands tonight," said Snell. "I'm going to vote for this bill and sleep with a clear conscience. This is war. This is hell."

Carroll spoke of "a great city stricken by war," and McMackin spoke of the political danger in the bill.

Urges "the Right Thing."

"But if I am facing political death," he said, "let me die doing the right thing."

"Let us take a broad Christian view," said Thomas P. Sinnett, a Rock Island Democrat.

Then, as one of the longest roll calls in the history of the house—more than three hours, it took—was wound up, Minority Leader Igoe expressed on behalf of Chicago the appreciation of the city for the consideration its needs had received from downstate.

"Without you," he said, "we were helpless. This has been an expression of your devotion to your state. You have proved the sincerity of your citizenship. From the bottom of my heart I say to you in the name of Chicago that we are truly grateful to you."

PUTS OVER TAX

INCOME TAX UP TO EMMERSON FOR SIGNATURE

Senate Concurs in House Changes, 28 to 15.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Prompt concurrence in the house amendments to the income tax bill was given in the senate today and the impost, which is bitterly opposed by Chicago assemblymen, was on its way to Gov. Emmerson's desk tonight. The vote was 28 to 15. It passed the house yesterday 78-59.

The bill may not be given immediate consideration for the governor is confined to his bed with influenza and may not be able to return to his duties for a few days. It is believed certain, however, that he will sign it.

The house passed companion measures to the tax bill proper during the morning with few dissenting votes. In the senate, Minority Leader Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago rose when his name was called on the concurrence roll call to say that he realized the futility of opposing concurrence, "but I insist upon telling you downstate people that, summoned here to give Chicago relief, you have actually imposed another tax upon us.

Adds to Chicago's Burdens.

"And I don't want to be reminded of the help you gave us in passing the Kelly plan," said Courtney. "That was a bill which had no effect whatever upon you, whereas when you had the opportunity to help us, you had the poor grace to vote us additional taxation."

Courtney voted against concurrence.

A downstate senator from one of the larger municipalities, Victor P. Michel of Peoria, predicted that the income tax would never be put into effect in the state but would be knocked out by the courts before the first collection date, Aug. 15, 1933.

Unusual interest was evoked in the senate by a new plan for Chicago's financial salvation brought forward by Roy C. Woods, Republican, from the Hyde Park district. He outlined it from the rostrum with a foreword in which he said he had spent many hours upon it and believed it foolproof.

"If it isn't and you members can show me the loopholes, I'll junk it immediately," he said.

No loopholes were found in the first hasty consideration; to the contrary many members hailed it as a solution. Involving, as it does, the funding of the 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes, it won immediate support from Senator Courtney, an ardent believer in the "funding" plans.

Woods claimed these salient points for his plan:

1. It would not raise taxes.
2. It would reduce taxes upon real estate, perhaps cutting them in half.
3. It would not involve substantial sales of bonds to banks.

Twenty year bonds would be issued for the total amount of the 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes, between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000, which would be repaid, one-twentieth of the bonds and carrying charges each year.

How It Would Operate.

With these bonds the following steps would be taken:

1. All tax anticipation warrants issued against these three years would be retired.
2. Tax certificates outstanding on forfeited real estate sales would be retired. This in turn, Woods said, would return homes to those who lost them in tax sales.
3. Pay with bonds all other obligations of Cook county and its subsidiary taxing bodies upon which no security has been given.
4. Give bonds to property owners on all taxes paid upon the 1928 and 1929 levies.
5. With the new Kelly plan machinery start a new assessment roll for 1931, placing personal property on the rolls.
6. Organize committees to sell tax anticipation warrants to the public when necessary.

Sees Credit Restored.

"These warrants can be sold," Woods told the senate, "because the county and its subdivisions will have their credit restored by the bond issue and the new 1931 assessment roll, made under the Kelly plan. The bonds will be excellent collateral.

"It would be necessary to withdraw all tax suits pending against the 1928 and 1929 assessment rolls inasmuch as the taxpayers protesting would have been repaid for the taxes they had advanced."

Woods was named chairman of a committee of five which has the job of drafting bills to fit the program, and their work will start immediately, the chairman said.

Bills from the joint senate and house committee considering reductions in the cost of government were presented in both houses today. They call for a reduction of assemblymen's salaries from $3,500 to $3,000 for the biennium and a scaling down of the pay of elective and appointive state officers of about 11 per cent.

The bills came in after deliberations in the committee, during which a plea was made by three members—Senators Richard J. Barr of Joliet and Harold C. Kessinger of Aurora and Representative Sol Handy of Marshall,, for a cut from $3,500 to $2,900 in legislators' pay. This was voted down.

THREE HELD AS COUNTERFEITERS.

Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday held Joseph Patumis in bonds of $15,000 and two brothers, James and Alex Kuhnis, in bonds of $5,000 each on a charge of counterfeiting. They were seized by secret service agents Tuesday in a raid on a counterfeiting plant at 6124 South Kedvale avenue.

DEMOCRATS ASK 750 MILLION FOR RELIEF IN SENATE

Radicals Drive Robinson to Cover by Attack.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—A 750 million dollar federal relief bill was agreed upon and introduced today by the Democratic leadership in the senate.

JOSEPH T. ROBINSON. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

One-half the amount would go to the states for highway construction, but free of the normal requirement that the states match the sums contributed by the federal treasury. The other half would be allocated to the states according to population and would be distributed as "loans" upon a governor's statment of need for outside help. One-third of the total sum would be available immediately for use before June 30; the remaining two-thirds would be for use in the fiscal year 1933.

Avoids "Dole" Feature.

This was the Democratic answer to the threat of the Costigan-La Follette bill which would distribute federal funds outright. The Democrats avoided the "dole" feature of the radical measure, but doubled its 375 million dollar appropriation.

Sponsored by Senators Black of Alabama, Walsh of Montana, and Bulkley of Ohio and supported by the Democratic leader, Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, the substitute bill was introduced while Senator Costigan, radical Democrat of Colorado, was arguing in the third day's debate on the lesser but more far-reaching measure introduced by himself and Senator La Follette, radical Republican of Wisconsin.

This move by the "conservative" wing of the senate Democrats immediately brought upon them a stormy attack by Senator Costigan and other radicals, who drove Senator Robinson from the chamber with hints that he was playing with the administration.

Huey Long Speaks Up.

Later he came back ready to resent the insinuation that he had been dickering with the White House and to demand whether Senator Costigan's bill had White House approval.

"Well, this bill," said the irrepressible Huey Long of Louisiana, coming to the rescue of and referring to the new measure Senator Robinson was championing, "will get a lot closer to the White House than the Costigan-La Follette bill."

Conservatives Not Satisfied.

More than one conservative senator was not at all satisfied with the "conservative" compromise evolved by the Democrats. The repayment of the federal money loaned to the states would depend solely on a governor's promise to recommend to his state legislature and people suitable methods for making good.

And it was pointed out that the present inequality attendant on federal grants to the states for road building would be carried out and expanded. In the fiscal year 1931, for example, Illinois paid in $190,799,403 in internal revenues and received only $5,337,535 in federal highway aid, while North Dakota paid in only $365,232 in internal revenues and received $1,580,470 in federal highway aid.

BOARD PONDERS MORE TRIMS IN SCHOOL BUDGET

Proposed Minor Savings Occupy Trustees.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The school trustees indicated yesterday that they would make some minor savings in 1932 expenditures, in addition to those prescribed in the budget. The board received the draft of the budget yesterday. It authorizes aggregate expenditures for this year of $93,800,000, as well as makes appropriations for more than $125,000,000 of current debts.

One means considered by the board of reducing the appropriations is a reduction in rents which it now pays for its space in the Steuben building and the Foreman Bank building. The board adopted a resolution serving a ninety day notice of its intention to end these leases. No estimate of the amount of the expected saving was made public.

Would Defer Action on Sites.

The buildings and grounds committee, headed by Trustee Carter Blatchford, recommended that action be deferred indefinitely on 11 out of 18 sites for buildings and playgrounds, now under various stages of condemnation. It was announced that this would reduce the expenditures about $600,000. A quorum of the committee was not present, and the recommendations were not presented to the board.

A third point of attack was the rejection of bids for 3,000 gross of colored chalk crayons on which seven bidders submitted the same price—$3,750.

"I move that the bids be rejected and the bidders notified that if identical bids are submitted again they will be thrown out again," said President Lewis E. Myers.

"But that is probably a standard price," interposed Trustee James A. Hemingway.

"There are no standard prices in these times," retorted Myers. "I think this is a matter which should be called to the attention of the United States district attorney."

Delay Buying Typewriters.

Action was deferred on the purchase of $89,208 worth of typewriters. Bidders have offered to supply 1,629 typewriters for that sum. These bids were received last November.

At the request of Trustee Hemingway the board adopted a resolution asking Mayor Cermak and City Controller Sszymczak to sign about $12,000,000 worth of 1931 school anticipation warrants. The board decided last December to offer these warrants to teachers, other employés and contractors in payment of salaries and bills.

"I can't understand why the mayor and the city council do not approve the necessary order to get the warrants signed," said Hemingway. "They ought to be willing to bury the ax and give relief. Do they want the depression to continue? If the teachers and other employés have any complaint it is against the city hall, not the school authorities."

HIGH COSTS ASSAILED

A letter has been received at the school board offices addressed to President Myers and to Joseph P. Savage and Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, trustees. It said:

"Why not save some money by getting rid of the absolutely useless janitresses and janitors? In my school the hardest work they do is in hiding themselves in toilets, gyms, and bathrooms. I have positively seen one sitting in a bathroom four and five hours out of the eight."

Last summer the school board paid more than $6,000 for an investigation by the Cleveland Audit company. The company reported that the cost of operating Chicago school buildings is the highest in the country.

Kelly Emphasizes the Point.

The citizens' tax warrant sale committee headed by D. F. Kelly gave the same information to the school trustees last week. The committee estimated that $1,000,000 or more could be saved in operation of the school plant.

Several politicians have stated privately—and they know where the soft jobs are in public offices—that there is large waste in the school plant jobs.

It is considered certain that the report of the survey of the Chicago schools by the staff of Columbia university will direct attention to the high cost of plant operation. That report will probably be made June 1.

The only suggested from a board member for reducing the $8,000,000 annual cost of plant operation, other than having the employés work a day a month without pay, came yesterday from Mrs. Hefferan.

Referring to the engineer-custodians, Mrs. Hefferan said: "They work two months while the schools are not open and they claim to make many repairs." Later she added: "I do not understand why we employ a staff to operate a plant for the two months when the plant is closed. It looks like a waste of money. It has never been justified."

Mrs. Hefferan's comment followed the appearance before the board of Martin Durkin of the steam fitters' union and William Curran of the plumbers' union, who made a plea that their men be given work in the schools now performed by the engineer-custodians.

View of Janitors' Head.

William L. McFetridge, head of the janitors' union, has sent a letter to President Myers replying to the criticisms of the high cost of operating the schools. One of his summarizing paragraphs says:

"There is not one specific case outlined in these suggestions, nothing but ambiguous generalities. The sources of information used are all from the educational side, and they are all antagonistic, hostile and prejudicial to the operation of the schools. The suggestions as made are unfair, unreliable and discriminatory and the figures, prepared by a prejudiced, biased interested person or persons, are directed to destroy civil service and organized labor, taking advantage of the economic conditions at this time to force un-American conditions and starvation wages on workers in the public schools."

NEW DRY CHIEF

Col. John F. J. Herbert, prohibition administrator for the Chicago district, was ordered transferred to the Hawaiian islands, it was reported yesterday, as a result of conditions revealed by the justice department's investigation there following the recent murder of a native who was accused of criminally attacking the wife of an American naval officer.

Col. Herbert said he did not know the reason for his transfer, but it was learned that the order issued by Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock called for "a more vigorous enforcement" of the dry law in the islands.

The new administrator for the 7th district, which includes Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, will be M. L. Harney, now in charge at Minneapolis of the 8th district—Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, and Nebraska. Col. Herbert is expected to leave about the last of the month, when Mr. Harney will take charge.

COUNTY BOARD'S BUDGETING GOES AT SNAIL'S PACE

Thousands of Words, but Little Action.

The county commissioners worked until a late hour last night in an effort to make some progress in the preparation of a 1932 budget. Some thousands of words were spoken, but the commissioners admitted at the end of the session that not much had been done.

County Clerk Sweitzer's requests for appropriations for his office were before the board and some downward revisions, as compared with the 1931 budget, were made. Sprightly comment enlivened the meeting when Mr. Sweitzer revealed the sad state of the marriage license business.

"Rquests for marriage licenses are off 15 per cent at least," said Mr. Sweitzer, sighing. "But I don't think you ought to cut the number of marriage license clerks. There has been an increase in the number of requests for certified copies of licenses issued some time ago."

Offer to Help Only a Jest.

"Maybe I ought to help out your marriage license business," said Miss Mary McEnerney, commissioner, who hastened to explain that she was only jesting.

The commissioners listened to a number of representatives of private charitable agencies who urged that the children's home placing fund be increased by $100,000. Last year $345,000 was spent in this fund. No definite action was taken by the board, but some of the commissioners pointed out that the county must slash appropriations this year, not increase them.

Cermak Resigns Place.

Mayor Cermak resigned as a county commissioner in a message sent to the board at the afternoon session. A resolution commending him for his nine years' service as commissioner and president of the board was presented by Commissioner Daniel Ryan and unanimously adopted. A special election is to be held to fill this vacancy.

A delegation from the Izaak Walton league, headed by Dr. P. R. Blodgett, appeared before a forest preserve committee and requested that the water level of the McGinnis Slough, consisting of 287 acres in the Orland Park area, be raised and that the slough be set aside as a refuge and breeding place for aquatic life. The request was referred to the forest preserve advisory committee.

SENATE APPROVES $1,000,000 FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The senate today concurred in the house amendment cutting the authorization for federal participation in the Chicago Century of Progress exposition from $1,725,000 to $1,000,000. Previously the bill's supporters had hoped that a compromise sum might be reached in conference. It was agreed, however, to accept the lower figure and Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Chicago made the motion to concur.

INHERITS MILLION

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Frances Tauchar, who came to the United States in 1914 as a 14 year old bride, is going back to Italy within a few days to claim a $1,000,000 inheritance, her attorneys, Ben Aronin and Magistrate John H. Ehardt of Berwyn, disclosed yesterday.

The inheritance is her share of the $5,000,000 estate of her great-uncle, Anton Klemench, owner of a number of macaroni factories in Trieste and Milan. He died Oct. 1 and an Italian attorney has sent notice that he left the major portion of his fortune to Mrs. Tauchar, who lives at 5733 West 21st street, Cicero, and her brother and sister, John and Alice Justin, who now live in Jugo-Slavia.

Mrs. Tauchar was divorced several years ago. She has a son, 14 years old, and a daughter, 16. She left last night for Rock Springs, Wyo., to bring the daughter, Sally, back to Chicago. Attorney Aronin cabled to Italy asking $10,000 to pay the expenses of Mrs. Tauchar, her children, and himself, that she may go there to claim her money.

In addition to the macaroni factories, her uncle owned a railroad, real estate, and a considerable fortune in stocks and bonds, she said.

CITY PAY ORDER FOR 2 OFFICES STARTS RUMPUS

Other Employes Fail to Share in Cash.

Dissatisfaction was expressed by city employés yesterday when they learned that City Controller Szymczak had again given preference to the employés in his office and that of City Treasurer Kearns in the payment of salaries. Szymczak ordered yesterday that employés in the two offices be paid for the first half of January.

No other city employés have been paid for that period. Last week Mayor Cermak intervened to give city employés their pay up to Jan. 1. Szymczak's and Kearns' workers, however, got their pay checks for the last half of December before Christmas, and the payment excited unfavorable comment in other departments at that time. A half monthly pay roll in the controller's office totals $10,874, and that in the treasurer's office, $2,915.

Drop in Expert Fees.

The list of vouchers with which expert fees for December were met was reported to the council yesterday by the controller, and showed that total payments of expert fees in that month were only $10,195, as compared to the $174,316 disbursed by the former city administration for December, 1930.

Only three large fees were paid. They were $2,455 to the Institute of Public Administration for the work of its police expert, Bruce Smith, who is working on a reorganization plan for the Chicago police; $2,200 to Frazer and Trobet for an audit of city accounts, and $1,500 to Dr. Miller McClintock, traffic engineer from Harvard university, for traffic research.

Limit Firemen's Pensions.

Trustees of the firemen's pension fund, who have only $45,000 with which to meet roll of $109,000 due Saturday, announced yesterday that they would limit their payments to widows and orphans on the pension rolls. They took the same action a month ago, but later got funds to pay other pensioners.

Herbert C. Heller, head of a New York investment house, who took part in negotiations last year for the sale of Chicago tax warrants, visited the city controller yesterday. He said he had no proposition for the purchase of warrants, but was looking the situation over and obtaining figures on the tax warrant issues now outstanding.

WOMAN SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Mrs. Jennie Jones, 35 years old, 1035 West Adams street, was sentenced to two years in the women's reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday on a charge of attempting to smuggle drugs into the county jail to her husband, who is held there on a federal narcotic charge.

NEW YORK BORROWS 15 MILLIONS TO BE REPAID FROM TAXES

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The city administration, it was announced this afternoon, has arranged for a $15,000,000 loan, in anticipation of tax collections, from the revolving credit of 151 million dollars recently set up by a group of bankers.

This loan, the first to be made from the fund, will be secured by revenue bills bearing 5½ per cent interest and maturing June 3. City tax collections start May 1, and the revenue bills will be redeemed from the tax money.

The revolving credit was one feature of the financing plan worked out by bankers and city officials last month. In addition, the banks underwrote an issue of 100 million dollars in 6 per cent special corporate stock notes maturing in three, four and five years. The offering was well oversubscribed in a few hours.

The revolving credit, it has been explained by Controller Berry, will actually permit the city to borrow during the year in anticipation of taxes a total of 302 millions, if that much is needed.

British Vessel Seized by U. S. Coast Guard Patrol

Boston, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The British vessel Pronto was seized during the night off Cape Cod by the coast guard patrol boat Jackson, allegedly within the 12 mile limit. The Pronto was brought to Boston for examination by customs officers who declined to say prior to the inspection why the seizure was made.

WOMAN ROBBED IN HOME.

Three bandits yesterday forced their way into the home of Mrs. Mary Hadlik, 1840 South Sawyer avenue, bound the woman with rope, and escaped with $65 in cash, a $50 watch, and a $40 ring.

JOBLESS PLEAS ALSO EXPENSIVE, CONGRESS TOLD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—It cost the taxpayers $7,500 to have Senator La Follette, Republican radical of Wisconsin, plead for his pending bill to donate federal funds for unemployment relief, Representative Stevenson [Dem., S. C.] reminded congress today.

"It cost more than that and it cost the country's postmen an extra bit of backache," corrected Representative Underhill [Rep., Mass.].

He referred to the 165 pages in yesterday's congressional record taken up by the Wisconsin's senator's argument and the letters from the officials of some 800 cities and towns which he had inserted at a cost of more than $40 a page.

"That's darn foolishness," said Representative Stevenson. "Nobody's going to read it."

And carrying the Record through the mails, put in Mr. Underhill, added just so much to the weight which the postoffice department must transport at a loss every year.

Representative La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] came to Senator La Follette's defense.

"I'm not in conflict with the subject matter, but why print it over again? It had previously been printed in the committee hearings," replied Mr. Stevenson.

Said Mr. La Guardia, "Committee hearings aren't generally available to the house."

"But income tax blanks are," murmured a gallery occupant.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE STATE INCOME TAX.

The lower house at Springfield has approved the senate's income tax bill with minor amendments which, it is assumed, will be accepted by the senate. The vote in the house was 78 for the income tax to 59 against. The bill was passed with only one vote to spare, 77 votes being required.

The bill was drafted and passed at the behest of the organized farmers. It found its support downstate. Of the 78 votes for the bill, downstate Republicans contributed 44 and downstate Democrats 33. Only one vote in favor of the bill came from Cook county. Except for that one vote, the Cook county delegation to a man voted against the bill or refrained from voting.

The bill is aimed at Chicago. Its purpose is to add to the tax burdens of Chicagoans. What the members of the legislature seem not to have realized is that the urban populations of the metropolitan counties, Lake, Du Page, McHenry, and Kane, will be penalized precisely as is Chicago. And the resentment will not stop there. Citizens of Waukegan, Rockford, Peoria, Kankakee, Moline, Rock Island, and East St. Louis, to mention only a few of the more substantial cities in the state, will be obliged to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars in additional taxation for the presumed advantage of the farming communities.

The representatives of some of these cities were taken into camp by the argument that their constituents would not be touched. The presumed dislike of Chicago on the part of downstate residents, whether rural or urban, was also played upon. Whether that dislike exists or not, the fact remains that it served to blind the representatives of downstate cities to the certainty that the new tax is going to be resented by the more influential citizens in their communities. In order to hook Chicago, the legislature has had to hook the more successful business men, mechanics, manufacturers, bankers, and professional men downstate as well.

The new tax is expected to increase the total revenues of government while decreasing the burden placed upon real estate. The supporters of the bill are going to be disappointed in both particulars. It will not relieve the owners of real estate. The income tax has not done so in New York, Wisconsin, and other states where real estate taxes have mounted after the income tax was imposed. Moreover, the income tax is certain to drive many substantial fortunes out of the jurisdiction of the Illinois income tax. Men and women of wealth will be advised by their lawyers to take up residence in other states where there is no tax on incomes.

Of course the new tax is in the interest of the politicians and pay rollers. Its collection will provide some hundreds and eventually some thousands of new political jobs. A considerable proportion of the revenues will be devoted to paying for their collection.

It need scarcely be pointed out that the tax was enacted only because the legislature has refused to reapportion its membership as required by the state constitution. The downstate members have violated their oaths to support the constitution for the purpose of getting at the pocketbooks of the salary and wage earners of Chicago and other cities. It remains to be seen if the courts will sustain this assault.

MR. GLENN LEADS THE WAY.

A nation whose credit is strained to the breaking point is a weakened nation, Senator Glenn reminded his colleagues the other day. It was a reminder which may not have been well received in Washington, and its value derives directly from that fact.

The great majority of congressmen may be expected to give lip service to the principle of a reduction of federal expenditure, but for the most part they will be found voting for each other's pet schemes to be paid for by the taxpayers. Mr. Glenn rose in congress to denounce such hypocrisy. He wisely chose to set the precedent for economy in the appropriations for the national defense. He felt, as the great majority of his constituents and fellow countrymen must feel, that if the government is warranted in being liberal to any of its departments it is warranted in liberality toward the army and navy. It was largely to create a national defense that the United States came into being. It is no exaggeration to say that the maintenance of the national defense is the first duty of the federal government and that all its other functions are secondary.

When that much has been said it follows that insistence upon economy in army and navy appropriations is insistence upon a far greater measure of economy in all other departments.

"Mr. President," said Senator Glenn, "of course I am impressed with the necessity for maintaining the national defense. . . . I am also impressed with the idea that a nation which is unsound and bankrupt financially is not in a very good position to wage a successful war in defense of its territory. . . . We will take the soundest step we can in the interest of national defense if we reduce these expenditures."

The first duty of congress in 1932 is to balance its budget, to put an end to borrowing at the earliest possible moment, and to curtail or abolish the departments, bureaus, and commissions which are gorged at a time when the productive forces of the country are starving. Mr. Glenn believes that the federal government has an opportunity to relieve the overburdened taxpayers directly by economies in the federal government and indirectly by setting an example for the states and municipalities.

There is no doubt that Mr. Glenn is voicing the opinion of most of his constituents. It remains to be seen if other senators and representatives are as closely in touch with the desires of the American people as he is.

A GENTLE REFORMER.

Five and Ten Jones, the senator from Washington and fang of the Volstead law, has introduced a resolution in the senate which he proposes shall have the effect of a force bill. It provides that the navy may not send a vessel into any port in a state which has no prohibition enforcement act. No government ship shall be built within any such state nor shall any government training camps be held in one which has not enacted or which has repealed a prohibition law.

Mr. Jones' moderation is astonishing. He is a mild bigot who will be accused of lukewarmness in the cause, a backslider and a turncoat giving comfort to the enemy. With all the noble examples available from experience with other noble experiments which have ravished lands and drabooned peoples, he produces measures of coercion which will satisfy the vengeance of no good prohibitionists.

He should familiarize himself with other enterprises against nonconformists such as the crusades against the Albigenses, the operations against the Covenanters and the undertakings under the Clarendon code, particularly the item visiting death upon the nonconformist clergyman who came within five miles of an English town.

The record of such persecutions as Senator Jones has in mind is so rich that he can find a dozen suggestions in a half hour's reading and he will be able to reëstablish his reputation for moral ferocity. He should be about it immediately. Although something may be gained for the cause by keeping the navy out of ports, more undoubtedly could be achieved by sending the army into the states which do not put prohibition laws on their books. Let him consider what could be done if Bishop Cannon, Dr. Wilson, Dr. Bowlby and Dr. Cherrington were commissioned as major generals in charge of recalcitrant districts. If the obstinacy continued he could order that the cities be razed and the fields plowed and sowed with salt.

Mr. Jones has been feeding his zeal too much milk and honey. Nothing worthy will come from such a diet. Brimstone is what this noble experimenter needs, brimstone and vitriol, barbed wire and brass tacks.

WOMEN AND RETRENCHMENT.

An interesting aspect of our present local effort to reduce expenditures is that the most persistent objection comes from women in the county board and board of education. If a retrenchment proposed touches any special service having a plausible appeal to sentiment or to ideal standards of social or individual benefit, no consideration of the critical need for reduction of expenditures seems to have any force.

In most instances we are disposed to grant good intention, but the practical results are deplorable in our present tax situation. Looking for an explanation of this attitude we suspect it may be explainable by the fact that woman generally is not the provider of means but the disburser. Husbands and fathers get the funds, if possible. Wives and daughters disburse them. This gives a rather one sided view of both the private and the public problem and obscures the fact, which at this time is conspicuously controlling, that one must cut the coat to fit the cloth. It is not pleasant at any time to cut off anything which seems to be beneficial, yet not only the local governments but the national are now confronted with the imperative question of bare solvency and must concentrate their depleted resource upon the bare necessities of government.

ABUSE AS REPAYMENT.

Francis Powell, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in London, told a gathering of London business men that the attitude of Europe toward the debts owed America was startling and that the attacks upon the United States in the English press were having a very bad effect upon Americans, who could not understand why they should be slandered simply because money had been borrowed of them and because the debtors did not want to pay it back.

Uncle Sam often seems to be too truly Uncle Sap rather than Uncle Shylock and when he can be so often the world's softest boiled egg it is exasperating to have his very weaknesses redistilled by covetous critics into the opposite qualities of greed and brutality. This manner of paying a debt has run without a moratorium.

Europeans who are trying to make slander legal tender for the payment of international debts would do better to consider what effect such a course will have upon the world's credit structure. They are telling the world's banker that he makes loans at his own risk and without security or good faith.

Editorial of the Day

JAPAN.

[New York Evening Post.]

Japan's attack on Shanghai is the most sheerly conscienceless spectacle that mankind has set eyes upon since Germany crossed the Belgian border on Aug. 4, 1914. It may be even more so, because, after all, Germany's assault found a Europe with plenty of "fat" on which to fight, whereas Japan's war is forced upon a world worn to the bone by the long lean years of bad times. Japan is killing the peace hopes of the post-war generation. Yet there is little to do about it, unless the nations are willing to fight. And who is? We devoutly hope that Mr. Stimson will accept this reality. Our people have become reconciled to Japan's course in Manchuria, but even though they may consider the Shanghai raid a raid upon the world's decency, they do not want to go to war about it. Our government and that of Great Britain have joined in a protest in behalf of their nationals in the International Settlement. This is as far as we can go. It may be hoped that the protest will shake Japan out of her berserker rage, bring her back to her senses and restore her to the family of civilized nations.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

By Thy Taxes, Gently Growing—

And now Illinois is going to income tax us. Well, well, that's fine! The government income taxes us and now the state is going to jump in. The interesting thing will be after both income tax bureaus are in full cry after us which one will get the money. It looks to us that the first income tax bureau that gets us down and frisks us for our roll won't leave much for the next income tax office to get. If we pay the U. S. A., how's there going to be anything left for the Illinois incomers to get? And if the Illinois tax collectors have the first crack at our money (if any) it looks as though it was going to be mighty slim pickings for the government. We will now all stand and sing our inspiring state song, "By thy rivers gently flowing, Illinois, Illinois." And let us put special feeling into that part—"On the record of the years, Abraham Lincoln's name appears, Grant and Logan and our tears, Illinois." We've got to work some reference to the state income tax into that song. Then there'll be more tears than ever.

ULTIMATE MATING.

I am not a mystic.
I cannot go,
With the cool of face,
Where the high winds blow.
For once on a hill,
Snow-chilled, snow-white,
My lips pressed hard
On the earth one night.
The cold snow melted
Beneath my kiss,
And lips to lips,
The earth told me this:
"You are part of me—
And follow you must
Your face to the sun,
Your feet in the dust!
Until I shall call you
When winds grow shrill,
When songs are hushed

ROSA ZAGNONI MARINONI.

IN SPITE OF THE RAVINGS of some of our American tourists, who spend fifteen or twenty minutes looking Red Russia over, we felt a trifle unenthusiastic on the beauties of practical communism when we read yesterday that butter costs $1.14 a pound in Moscow and a pair of shoes $50. However much we may yearn for the coming of the brotherhood of man, we absolutely refuse to pay a dollar and fourteen cents a pound for butter and fifty bucks for a pair of shoes.

JAPAN ASSURES the League of Nations she will stop at Shanghai. The league will accordingly send a note to Japan immediately saying: "We order you forthwith to stop at Shanghai." And if Japan changes her mind and says she will not stop until she gets to the western boundary of China the league can say, "or the western boundary of China."

ONCE AGAIN AJAX is defying the lightning We are aghast to read that a District Supreme court down in Washington has thrown out the libel suit for five hundred thousand dollars brought by Bishop James Cannon Jr. against Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts for things Mr. Tinkham said on the floor of congress. The courts had better be careful. Some of the Italian courts tried bucking Mussolini, and look what happened to 'em. A dictator is all powerful, and if Bishop Cannon gets real mad about having his libel suit thrown out he may close 'em up. That District court in Washington is just monkeying with the buzz saw, that's all.

AL SMITH said yesterday he pinned victory hopes next November on accomplishments of Democrats under Raskob since spring of 1929. We'll bite. What are the accomplishments of Democrats under Raskob since spring of 1929?

THE SACRED EIGHTEENTH is going to get it right in the neck at the election next fall, according to a farmer out in Idaho, who discovered an egg in a hen's nest on which was plainly outlined the letters DD, which the farmer says can mean nothing but DRY DEFEAT. The hen that laid that egg undoubtedly knew her business, but the farmer has the meaning of the DD all wrong. Bet a nickel the DD means DRAFT DAWES.

DEPRESSION.

Perhaps the Father said: "They have too much;
With all this plenitude they lose their sense
Of values and they cannot tell the true
Abundance from the false. My lenience
Shall be withdrawn that they may learn anew."

And so, deprived of much, we come to place
Full worth where worth is due; we strive to keep Essentials undervalued for so long;
We learn what things are priceless and what cheap
And find how far our standards have been wrong.

And out of all the dearth, we still acquire
This rarer wealth—a deeper love of men
For men, unselfishness and sympathy
Toward those whom we must succor till again
Shall spread a wiser, new prosperity.

We turn once more to simpler, wholesome ways
That make for real, for stable happiness,
We shall emerge at length from this distress
With saner souls and higher visionings.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

THE SANTIAGO EARTHQUAKE must have extended as far north as Washington. Uncle Andy Mellon was shaken out of his job as secretary of the treasury. It must have been the earthquake; nothing short of an earthquake could have done it.

AND WE ARE SURPRISED that the administration offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain to Uncle Andy. Minister to Siam is a pretty job. And Siam is much farther away. R. H. L.

ACIDOSIS TREATMENTS.

THE habitual treatment of acidosis is the internal administration of bicarbonate of soda. This treatment has proved far from satisfactory. In most cases acidosis ends spontaneously, or is cured by the processes of nature, and taking soda as a remedy does no good. In some it does harm and in a third is possibly of service.

Dr. V. E. Levine of Omaha thinks the basic reason for the lack of success with the bicarbonate treatment is that it is based on chemistry rather than physiology. A blood analysis may show that the blood reaction is low in alkali, but that state may not mean that the system is not in good condition. Often the lessened alkalinity is an effect and not a cause. These and other points make the routine use of soda in the treatment of what may be called acidosis inadvisable.

Dr. Levine tells us what to do in some dozen or more emergencies in which acidosis is a marked feature of the symptom picture:

In the coma which develops so frequently in the course of diabetes the best treatment by far is insulin. Given promptly and properly it is a veritable lifeline. So very efficient is it that some propose to use insulin in meeting other emergencies.

At the other extreme from diabetes is the coma, and sometimes convulsions, caused by acidosis by reason of too little sugar in the blood. The emergency treatment for that is to inject some sugar solution and to give the patient some sirup to drink.

Akin to the acidosis just mentioned, and at the opposite pole to acidosis of diabetes, is the acidosis of hunger and starvation. The treatment for that is food in some easily absorbed form. Sirup, candy, sugar, and a sweetened fruit juice stand toward the head of the list of such foods.

Newly born babies sometimes have difficulty in getting the first breath of life. The customary way to meet this condition is to slap the baby's body, to throw cold water on him, or to hang him by the heels. These methods are useless and inefficient and they may be even worse. Science has proved that even an older method—one approved by some religious rites as well as by folklore—is the right one. It consists in clearing the baby's mouth and nose of mucus and then having some person blow his breath into the baby's mouth and lungs.

The best way to overcome the acidosis of a dead drunk is to have the unconscious man breathe a mixture of 95 parts oxygen and 5 parts carbonic acid gas. A few minutes of this and the drunken man begins to breathe deeply, his blood alcohol drops rapidly, and consciousness returns.

OPEN UP THE WINDOWS.

J. J. S. writes: I am a man just past 40 years old, live a good life, have good health outside of catching cold very easily. I live in a heated apartment and avoid having windows open to try to prevent myself from having colds. But it is impossible. Just as soon as the cold weather sets in and we have heat in our apartment I catch colds that last all winter. Is there any remedy to prevent me from having colds all the time?

REPLY.

If you lived more in the sunlight and open air and better ventilated rooms you would have fewer colds.

HAVE PHYSICIAN DECIDE.

F. P. writes: I am 25 years old and very nervous. It is impossible for me to do anything without my hands shaking. How can I remedy this? It has prevented my advancing myself in business.

REPLY.

Your handwriting indicates that nervousness is not your only trouble. Probably you have paralysis agitans. It may be Huntington's chorea, but you are young for either, especially the latter. Have your physician decide what your trouble is.

BURIAL AT SEA.

M. H. G. writes:

1. Why is it that when a person dies on a ship the body is thrown overboard?
2. Why do the bodies of persons come back from Europe?

REPLY.

1. It is because the ship has no facilities for embalming or for chilling the body.
2. Many trans-Atlantic passenger ships are equipped to keep bodies for a few days.

WATER TAX BILL.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—Mr. A has a hose on his property. Mr. B has property next door and has no hose. Mr. B has tenants on his property. When water inspector inquired as to hose, the tenants told him they used Mr. A's hose, the hose being connected to Mr. A's faucet. Mr. B's property is from six to eight inches lower than property on either side, so a hose is not really necessary. Has the city a right to charge Mr. B with a hose? M. F. C.

An examination made on Aug. 11, 1931, reveals that at the premises referred to a 50 foot black hose was found on the basement floor and it is reported that the lawn is thirty feet wide. If water is used through a hose from one of the premises to another, both premises are charged for the use of water through a hose under the ordinances. H. L. MEITES,
Superintendent Bureau of Water.

INCOME TAX RETURNS.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I have paid income tax since the law went into effect, but for the last year my income has dwindled below the assessment requirement. Please inform me if I have to file a schedule or return. 2. Also, please tell me if a man who deserted his family 35 years ago, when his children were small, has any claim on them at this time for support. J. B. R.

1. Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $1,500, or over, if single [even though he may be the head of a family], or if married and not living with husband or wife, must make a return. In the case of a married person, living with husband or wife, a return is required if the net income for the taxable year is $3,500 or over. However, if an individual has a gross income of $5,000 or over, he must make a return regardless of the amount of his net income. In the case of a husband and wife living together, no return need be made unless their aggregate gross income for the taxable year is at least $5,000, or their aggregate net income is at least $3,500.
2. The statute makes no exception for such facts. Our pauper act requires near relatives to contribute according to their means to the support of destitute persons, except that married women are not required to contribute unless they have independent means. Apply to the bureau of public welfare in the county building.

DEPORTATION.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About five years ago I entered this country from Germany, complying with all the immigration laws. At that time I was a farmer by profession, and for that reason was given the privilege of entering the U. S. A. before immigration applicants of other professions. Upon receiving my immigration papers in Germany I was told that if I was found working in any other line I would be deported. I have been employed as a farmer until a year ago. I am now married to an American girl and intend taking out my citizenship papers. 1. Is it possible that I can be deported because I am no longer working as a farmer? 2. Has my wife lost her citizenship? 3. How can she regain it? H. M.

TOKIO.—The Japanese are eager to meet Russia in a test of arms. The war spirit pervades all classes in Tokio and the country is ready for whatever may come. Red Cross nurses are well organized and the hospital and medical service of Japan is the envy of military experts of other powers.

PORT ARTHUR.—The Russian fleet has left Port Arthur and four regiments and three batteries are leaving for the neighborhood of the Yalu river. Two trains leave daily filled with troops and stores. High officers say the Yalu expedition is merely a precautionary measure. It is rumored that Gen. Ma, marshaling an army north of Shan Hai Kwan, really is a menace to the Russian flank, although ostensibly he is to repress bandits. Russian officers deny this, saying China is a negligible quantity and that two Russian regiments are sufficient to defend Manchuria against invasion from the south. Landing of Japanese in Corea is daily expected, but the Russians are confident they can prevent the landing of a large force.

TOKIO.—A specially summoned conference of the cabinet, elder statesmen, and military and naval chiefs was held at the residence of Premier Katsura. The meeting is believed to have been of much importance in connection with the Russo-Japanese imbroglio, but no details were made public.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 4, 1916.

OTTAWA, Ont.—Most of the historic Canadian parliament building is in ruins, the result of a fire which is unofficially declared to have been caused by the explosion of a gas bomb or an infernal machine. At least six lives are known to have been lost. The bodies of two women were found in the burned apartment of the speaker of the commons. Four men, two of them police officers, were killed by falling walls. The blaze, which started at 8 o'clock last night, is still burning. The commons and senate chambers have been destroyed and the famous clock tower fell at 1:30 this morning. The loss cannot be estimated in money. The building was valued at $5,000,000. But the contents are of inestimable value.

LONDON.—Thirty-five more deaths in British waters, resulting from the Zeppelin raid, are reported. Twenty-two of the victims were Germans, members of the crew of a dirigible, believed to have been the L-19, which fell into the North sea. Thirteen men of the crew of the collier Franz Fischer were drowned when the collier was sent to the bottom in two minutes by a bomb dropped by one of the Zeppelins returning from the raid made on England.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—Nineteen days of ceaseless vigil for the short handed German prize crew aboard the former British liner Appam ended late tonight when the last of more than 400 British prisoners climbed over the ship's side to liberty on American soil. And for the first time since Lieut. Berg and his twenty-two men boarded the liner from the raider which captured it on the night of Jan. 15, most of the Germans slept peacefully, with only a few of their number on watch.

FEBRUARY 4, 1902.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Justice Harlan in the Supreme court handed down a final decision in the Chicago lake front case, in which he upheld the right of the Illinois Central railroad to the shore property it now occupies north of Randolph street and between 12th and 16th streets. This is the termination of the long litigation between the city of Chicago and the state of Illinois on the one part and the Illinois Central on the other part. The litigation began in 1883 and had for its object the dispossession of the railroad company from everything except its mere right of way. By Justice Harlan's decision the court affirms the right of the railroad to its wharves, freight yards, piers and slips on the lake front, north of Randolph street, and to the similar property between 12th and 16th streets. The court, however, perpetually enjoins the railroad from filling in any more land on the water front on the ground that whatever rights it has were acquired by the celebrated lake front act of 1869, which was repealed by the act of 1873.

CHICAGO.—With only nine dissenting votes the city council took off the limit on the height of fireproof buildings in Chicago. The old limit of 100 feet for mill construction buildings and sixty feet for ordinary construction will remain, but the man who wants to put up an absolutely fireproof building can now go as high as he wishes.

CHICAGO.—Miss Blanche Coffman, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Coffman of 3942 Grand boulevard, and C. Harry Moore Jr. were married at the residence of the bride's mother, the Rev. Dr. Allen officiating.

AN HISTORIC GRAND JURY.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—I read with pleasure your editorial on Judge Fisher's handling of the grand jury.

In 1907 I sat on a grand jury in Essex county, N. J. Chief Justice Gummere attempted to discipline us and was challenged by our foreman, William Fellows Morgan of Short Hills, N. J., a Harvard man and an intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt. Afterward we learned that he had but followed the precedent of Uzal Ward in colonial days and that this historical incident had been made the subject of a painting which was subsequently hung in the grand jury room where we were sitting. Mr. Morgan did not know of this historic precedent, nor did any members of the grand jury until we received cards telling us about it.

Mr. Morgan's challenge of Chief Justice Gummere was made much of by the newspapers of Newark, New York, and Philadelphia.

Our jury also refused to have the county prosecuting attorney sit with us, and asked that the clerk of the grand jury retire from the room also.

A. A. DREW.

ADMIRATION.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—I want to express my admiration of your course in the present Loesch-Fisher episode.

WILLIAM ALLEN PUSEY.

R. O. T. C.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—The army appropriation bill, which is to be reported out to the house within a few days, makes no provision for the reserve officers' training corps. An omission of this kind would be nothing short of the sheerest folly.

In view of the present unrest in the orient, as well as the current involved condition in Europe, our government would commit a grave and serious mistake, resulting in fearful consequences, if they discontinue the reserve officers' training corps. The happenings in China within the last few days should serve as a warning to our legislators. Let us hope that they will heed it.

JOHN E. BENSON.

SCHOOL ECONOMIES.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Why does the board of education hesitate about cutting out the $8,000,000 for new buildings and $1,000,000 for janitors from its budget? It might be of interest to know there are about 165 vacant rooms in the elementary public schools. These schools have been decapitated to fill the junior highs, leaving from 3 to 6 empty rooms per building. Also cut out the expensive supplies and superb textbooks which are overflowing the bookcases. Let us encourage having a few private books in the home, instead of all in the school. The way to teach appreciation to this generation is through the pocketbook.

TAXPAYER.

PARAGRAPH FROM A LONG LETTER.

New York, Jan. 27.—Certainly a great progressive paper cannot seriously face backward and revive the word "undertaker," which some states are seriously thinking of outlawing by statute.

ROBERT N. SHOEMAKER,
Treasurer, American Selected Funeral Directors.

WHO WANTS THE TIGERS?

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Now that a campaign of economy is necessary in order to save us from dire results of past extravagance, it is suggested that we eliminate the huge and useless expense of maintaining the zoo at Lincoln park. Why should we be burdened with the upkeep of buildings and care of helpless animals and birds in capitivity? Our Field museum and other museums have fine natural history exhibits.

Publication of the cost of maintaining the Lincoln park zoo would be illuminating. C. F.

RAILROAD WAGES.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 29.—I don't see why railroad workers should be asked to accept a reduction in wages when hardly any effort is made to reduce the wages of government employés. Why should we be made the goats? RAILROADER.

FEDERAL INTERVENTION.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—I notice with great surprise the editorial of this morning headed "Federal Intervention in Hawaii." It had always been my opinion that THE TRIBUNE stood for abiding by the law. Some weeks ago there appeared several editorials and articles deploring the lynchings in the south. Yet when a similar case occurs outside of our boundaries THE TRIBUNE lauds, even justifies, the act.

Is THE TRIBUNE ignorant of the fact that constitutionally the laws of the republic apply to "the United States and territories and dependencies thereof"? Does THE TRIBUNE justify the act because the lyncher is one of our service aristocracy? CURIOUS.

EXCESSIVE COSTS.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Jan. 30.—As a reader of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for fifty years, I would wish to express, as an American citizen and a Republican, my appreciation of the work that your paper is doing towards enforcing national and local tax reductions through proper economies.

When I read such articles as that which appeared today relative to a private elevator and operator for Secretary Lamont the question comes into my mind how enlightening it would be to American citizens if you would care to prepare a series of charts of expenses of the various national government departments and commissions, say, for the years 1913, 1924, and 1931, for chart forms forcibly bring home the salient facts. HARRY E. GUNN.

A SUBSCRIBER LOST.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—This week I heard a woman tell an audience that she would rather see her three children die of starvation than have them take up arms in defense of the country! She added that she had canceled her subscription to THE TRIBUNE, which I should call a compliment to your paper.

I, merely as a patriotic American, told her that if this country was not worth defending she ought to leave it and remain away, and that it was a pity such scum should ever have to be saved, by unavoidable coincidence, by the bravery and courage of our defense forces, along with those who were not cowards and yellow traitors. F. E. G.

SECRECY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 29.—Tucked away in the smallest of type on page 7 of the Jan. 29 TRIBUNE, with reference to the two billion dollar Reconstruction Finance corporation bill, we read: "Due to the administration's insistence, there is to be no report even to congress on who applies for loans or on the amounts loaned to specific institutions." This should be a headliner and a demand made by every voter compelling the administration to make known where the money goes.

How about its going to Europe or maybe to finance some of Mellon's projects? H. VAN KEUREN.

METICULOUS.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 29.—Having reference to the letter signed "C. E. Jones" as to definitions of the word "meticulous" I quote three authorities:

I did not see the story to which Mr. Jones refers, but my prophetic soul tells me Mr. James O'Donnell Bennett was right. When is he otherwise? T. Q. S.

UNDERSECRETARY.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Can any one enlighten me why we address our assistant secretary of state "Undersecretary Castle," and assistant secretary of treasury "Undersecretary Mills"? Is not the word undersecretary a foreign word, or, if it is proper to use, why is it only confined to the two offices of the President's cabinet. F. R. WEISS.

SON OF GANDHI GIVES UP BRIDE FOR PRISON CELL

Chooses Between Love and Duty.

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Caught between love and duty, Devi Das, youngest son of Mahatma Gandhi, India's Nationalist leader, has chosen duty in preference to a charming 19 year old bride.

Devi Das, who was imprisoned yesterday in the government's drastic drive on Indian Nationalists, made a deliberate decision to court arrest for civil disobedience, it became known today. Simultaneously was revealed his romance with the daughter of C. R. Rajagopalachari, one of his father's closest friends, and one time president of the Indian National congress.

The marriage of the young couple was arranged a few hours before the mahatma was imprisoned at Poona. The wizened old leader gave Devi Das in marriage before he was whisked away to jail, and the ceremony was to have come about at the earliest possible moment.

Courts Arrest.

Faced with the knowledge that a warrant was out for his arrest, and knowing well that flight to the northwestern frontier trouble spots would mean immediate detention, young Gandhi attempted to make the flight. He was promptly seized and placed in jail, making the fourth member of the Nationalist's family who has suffered imprisonment since the renewal of the civil disobedience movement.

Declaring that he is deeply attached to his fiancée, the handsome, olive skinned young man argued it would not be right for him to covet happiness in marriage while others in his family were suffering for the ideal of independence.

Campaign Goes On.

Meanwhile the government's campaign progressed apace, orders going out to Bombay police to fire on any violent mob which refuses to disperse. Unofficial figures revealed today in Bombay that 20,000 Nationalists have been imprisoned in the new disobedience program throughout India.

The Nationalists themselves were not idle. A. Hoon, Indian member of the legislative assembly, introduced today a resolution demanding dissolution of that body. He charged that India is ruled by ordinances and that the legislature has ceased to function.

Asks Official Indian Inquiry.

MADRAS, India, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Declaring he had witnessed a "disgrace to British justice, law and order," Peter Freeman, former member of the British parliament, today telegraphed Prime Minister MacDonald in London asking an official inquiry into the campaign against civil disobedience.

His message said:

"Just personally witnessed merciless hitting of unaggressive, unarmed and defenseless citizen until unconscious in a public thoroughfare. It was encouraged by English officers. Without inquiry or trial such daily exhibitions in many towns disgrace British justice, law and order. Please arrange official inquiry."

SEIZED BY BRITISH

SPAIN BEGINS TO CONFISCATE ALL JESUIT PROPERTY

MADRID, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Authorities throughout Spain today began confiscating Jesuit schools, colleges, and residences, while 3,500 former inmates peacefully disappeared into towns and cities as private residents or embarked for other countries.

Jesuit superiors said the brotherhood would vacate completely without resistance. It was understood this gesture obeyed direct instructions from the Vatican.

It was indicated evacuation throughout Spain would be completed before tomorrow.

Girl Slugged by Bandits; Department Store Robbed

CRIMINAL COURT.

Edward Zelinski and Jack DuBois, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge George Fred Rush.

Four bandits armed with revolvers slugged a girl cashier and a clerk and escaped with $900 from the Jacobson department store at 2056 West Grand avenue yesterday. Miss Mary Stein, 20 years old, the cashier, started to run when the bandits arrived in front of her. She was caught and slugged on the head with the butt end of a revolver. Harry Rosenson, a clerk, ran to her aid and was beaten down by another bandit. After scooping up the money the gunmen forced Miss Stein, Rosenson and four customers into a back room.

INDIAN WOMAN LABELS GANDHI PARTY AS REDS

Feminine Lawyer Defends Great Britain.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Mme. Cornelia Sorabji, the first woman admitted to the practice of law in India, told an audience in the auditorium of the Chicago Woman's club yesterday that Mahatma Gandhi's political party "is tied up with the communist party." She charged further that Gandhi's party is using the emancipated women of India for exploitation, and that children are being trained by "red shirts" to insult the national emblem.

Mme. Sorabji, slender and tall, commanded the attention of all present as she hurled her charges against India's "holy man." She wore a native costume of orange material that swept the floor. Her graying hair bespoke the thirty-five or more years she has served India, more lately as adviser to the Court of Wards in four British provinces.

"Linked with Communists."

"You have guessed by what I have said that Gandhi's party is tied up with the communist party," Mme. Sorabji declared after a discussion of the position of women in changing India. "There are red shirts in India. Boys of 5 to 9 years old are taught to trample on the flag and say, 'Long live the revolution!' They wear the loin cloth in imitation of Gandhi.

"It is sad to have to tell you that the emancipated women who have been trying to serve India have been caught by the revolutionary movement. Mr. Gandhi appeals to immature girls whose judgment hasn't been trained. I knew two schoolgirls who last December shot an Englishman because they were obeying the commands of the congress of the revolutionary party.

"There are bombs, murder, arson, wrecking of trains in India. And for what? Freedom. But there is no need for freedom because it is already given them."

Defends Great Britain.

Mme. Sorabji defended Great Britain's motives in India, declaring that "what England has done is not only to open up the country, but to put it in commercial competition with other countries of the world."

Mme. Sorabji was educated at Oxford university.

Relief Shelter Watchman Held on Murder Charge

Bruno Ferfecki, watchman in the shelter for homeless men maintained at 1210 South Morgan street by the governor's relief commission, was arrested yesterday and charged with the murder of an unidentified man found unconscious in the street near the shelter on Saturday. The man died on Monday morning in a cell at the Maxwell street police station. Yesterday two inmates of the shelter went to the police station and told Capt. Philip Parodi that Ferfecki had struck the man with a club. An autopsy then disclosed that the man had a fractured skull.

ST. PETERSBURG BONDHOLDERS ASK THEIR MONEY

Allege Florida City Is "Diverting" Fund.

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Charging that the city officials of St. Petersburg, Fla., which has bonds aggregating approximately $23,500,000 in default, are diverting funds appropriated for debt to the operating fund, the bondholders' committee representing about $18,000,000 of obligations announced here today that it had obtained an alternate writ of mandamus requiring the city to show why taxes collected for payment of interest should not be so applied.

The committee also announced a memorandum plan for the payment of interest on the city's debt. The plan suggests sale of the city owned utilities; collection of special assessments in bonds or in cash by a trustee who may be the same trustee to whom will be assigned the delinquent taxes, and tax certificates to secure delinquent tax notes; use of collateral in the sinking fund other than the city's bonds, in exchanges for city bonds or by sale; and imposition of such additional taxes or revenues as the city may see fit to create for the purchase of city bonds from holders at the lowest prices tendered.

Thus far the efforts of the committee have resulted in the obtaining for the bondholders who had deposited their bonds by Aug. 20, 1931, the payment of two overdue coupons and one coupon for holders who deposited bonds subsequent to that date. The committee, which is headed by Kenneth M. Keefe and includes holders of the city's bonds or bankers who marketed the issues, was formally organized in March, 1931.

It was explained that the prompt action taken by this committee, and the action of other similar committees, was not only to protect bondholders but also to preserve the integrity of a municipal bond as such.

Issue Statement.

"During the last few weeks there has been considerable discussion among groups of taxpayers and officials regarding a possible refunding of St. Petersburg's indebtedness, with a view to arranging a 'permanent solution' of the bonded debt," the committee communication to the bondholders said today. "On Dec. 8, 1931, the mayor of St. Petersburg addressed a letter to your committee in which he commented on the 'serious spirit of unrest among our taxpayers' and asked us to submit proposals.

"Our views were submitted under date of Jan. 12, 1932, and, commenting, we said: 'Under this plan the tax levy is fixed at a reasonable rate, and a taxpayer who pays his taxes is relieved of any burden due to the failure of other taxpayers to pay theirs. Instead of requiring the willing taxpayer to shoulder the burden which should have been borne by the delinquent taxpayer, the bondholders undertake to relieve him of that burden and to rely upon the enforcement of the delinquent taxes for so much of the current interest as is not provided for by cash collections.'"

British Trade Conference to Open in Ottawa July 18

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 3.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett today announced the date of the British empire's imperial trade conference to be held in Ottawa this summer as July 18. It really will be a resumption of the 1930 conference in London, when Canada's prime minister startled the empire by suggesting an all round empire trade preference of 10 per cent. Canada's objective this summer will be to get a preference for her wheat in the United Kingdom.

The Mind of Business

No business rises higher than the mind of the organization behind it. Sound business principles and adequate financing are essential of course, but developing an institution of merit and achieving success depend in no small degree upon the Thinking Power of those who chart the course.

In our particular business of Shirtmaking and Haberdashery of the highest character, we do not endeavor to solicit trade among those who cannot afford the exceptional qualities we are constantly featuring. Men accustomed to wearing only the best compose our most logical clientele, and it is on the problem of fulfilling their exacting requirements that the mind of our organization is concentrated. Through constructive thinking on betterments we have built up a very exceptional business in our New York, Chicago, London and Paris Shops.

AUTO EXECUTIVES TALK OF ECONOMY IN GOOD STREETS

nd the Economic Waste of Poor Ones.

BY HAL FOUST.

Leaning back on a crunched pillow with his feet on the bed, Paul Hoffman drew on a cigaret and talked about the hazards of motoring as resistance to automobile sales.

On the other side of the hotel room, Roy Faulkner, with a leg thrown over an arm of an upholstered chair, criticized a public that is failing to enjoy "a big kick" out of depression.

They are typical pair of young men in the automobile industry, typical of the 15,000 who are in Chicago this week for the 32d national automobile show. And their conversation was typical of what the automobile industry is talking about in a new business year following two years of depression.

Two Young Business Leaders.

The man on the bed, Mr. Hoffman, is president of the Studebaker Sales corporation. The man lounging in the chair, Mr. Faulkner, is vice president of the corporation.

"The industry," said Mr. Hoffman, "can't close its eyes to the fact that a lot of folks are being killed in automobile accidents. The smartest thing for us to do is to make our vehicles as safe as possible and then give aggressive support to agencies such as certain newspapers that are trying to improve our streets and highways and to educate the public to drive carefully."

"Our big sales resistance," interjected Mr. Faulkner, "comes from the fact that it's fashionable to be parsimonious. We have to break that down.

A New Badge of Courage.

"Something must be done to make the public realize that ownership of a new car is a badge of courage, an evidence of confidence in the future of American institutions. Folks who haven't received any material cut in income ought to shop around and enjoy this depression.

"Shirts, rugs, suits, food, and automobiles are cheaper than they were two years ago. It's a great year for buyers and it's a shame we don't enjoy it more."

"Our automobiles," continued Mr. Hoffman, "are useless without streets and roads. The industry must continue to push the developments of better pavements so as to enhance the value of a motor car to its owner.

Points to Real Economic Loss.

"Here in Chicago, for example, a survey is being made which will prove definitely the economic worth of large investments in elevated highways. Thousands of owners are being deprived of a full utility from their cars because of inadequate streets. This loss is far greater than the cost of express highways."

"If the progressive newspapers will make the politicians build better streets and highways and if the public will stop being proud of being tight with money," Mr. Faulkner added, "then 1929 sales will look like a slim year."

A secretary motioned from the doorway to remind the executives of a luncheon engagement.

"Tell them we aren't eating lunch today," Mr. Hoffman replied. "Say, Roy, we aren't going to have any time to eat this noon. We've got to finish this job."

AUTO SHOW NOTES

Six hundred Chrysler distributors and dealers yesterday heard J. E. Fields, president of the company, give an address forecasting that the recent advancements in automobile engineering would awaken replacement buying.

J. T. Collins, general sales manager of the Olds Motor works, told a thousand Oldsmobile dealers and salesmen last night that the automobile industry is prepared to take advantage of every opportunity in 1932. D. S. Eddins, general manager of Olds., and R. H. Grant, vice president of General Motors, also spoke. The occasion was the annual banquet of Oldsmobile men, held in the Congress hotel.

L. A. Miller, president of Willys-Overland, last night said that price consideration will be the governing influence in 1932 sales. He spoke before 600 distributors and dealers at the company's annual dinner in the Palmer house.

Crowds attending the auto show at the Coliseum this week are being attracted to a "cut-away" model of an Auburn with "dual ratio." "Dual ratio" is a device operated from the driver's seat which changes the gear ratio of the rear axle. The transmission gear shift, with three speeds forward, by means of "dual ratio" has in effect five forward speeds, two seconds and two highs, for optional use under varying driving conditions.

INDICT SHERIFF AND EX-SHERIFF OF NEW YORK

Grand Larceny Is Charge; Both Tammany Men.

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Sheriff Thomas M. [Tinbox] Farley and former Sheriff Charles W. Culkin today were indicted for grand larceny on testimony, growing out of the Hofstadter legislative committee's hearings, that they appropriated to their own use interest money on funds in their custody.

Two indictments against each man, both prominent Tammany district leaders, were handed up by the grand jury in general sessions. And on each indictment there was an additional count charging violation of Section 1838 of the penal law, which provides that it is a felony for any administrative official to appropriate money in his care.

One of the indictments against Culkin, who recently applied for retirement on pension from the city service, is for grand larceny in the first degree, and the other indictment is for grand larceny in the second degree. Both indictments against Farley are for grand larceny in the second degree.

A conviction for first degree larceny may bring a sentence of from five to ten years. Second degree larceny is punishable with a penal term of from two and a half to five years. Violation of Section 1838 calls for a maximum sentence of seven years or a fine of $1,000, or both.

Today's action brings the recent indictments growing out of the city inquiry to three. James J. McCormick, deputy city clerk and Tammany leader, was indicted by the same grand jury ten days ago on a charge of accepting illegal fees.

REDUCES 16 POUNDS IN 8 DAYS—DOCTOR'S REPORT

World-Famous Carlsbad Treatment Brings Glorious Health

Dr. A. L. Toboldt made the following report before the Ninth International Medical Congress:

"The first case upon which I tried Carlsbad was so unique I was literally dumbfounded at the result. A woman weighing 190 pounds came to see me for treatment. I used the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. In 8 days she lost 16 pounds and was, in consequence, losing all the symptoms of which she had so much complained."

Every year thousands upon thousands of men and women are sent by their physicians to Carlsbad Springs in Europe—some to overcome stomach troubles, intestinal disorders, liver irregularities, constipation, neuritis and rheumatism—a large majority to banish surplus, unhealthy fat.

If you can't visit Carlsbad you can still derive the same wondrous, health-restoring and excess-fat reducing properties by taking Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (powder) dissolved in warm water every morning. It's a mighty refreshing and pleasant-tasting drink, too!

Carlsbad is a natural product—it can not be manufactured and is obtained only by a special process of evaporation (under the supervision of the City of Carlsbad) from the Carlsbad waters as they come gushing forth from the earth.

Many noted authorities claim faulty elimination of bile is one of the controlling factors in maintaining proper weight. And they agree Carlsbad as a reducing agent helps happily to solve the problem. What a comfort to know that while excess fat gives way to trim slenderness, Carlsbad so regulates and corrects system functioning that your general health is greatly improved! What a joy to see blemishes disappear as blood becomes purer—what a comfort to know no rigid diets are required with Carlsbad—just eat sensibly—don't stuff yourself—avoid fat meats and starches.

An original imported carton conatining 30 treatments is sold by druggists everywhere. The cost averages a few pennies a treatment. Start today and reduce this healthy way. Avoid imitations.

'Andrew Otway' Gives Picture of Trade Genius

"James Branch Cabell," by Carl Van Doren. [McBride.]

"A Woman Like Me," by Marjorie Damsey Wilson. [Farrar & Rinehart.]

NEIL BELL, author of that well received novel, "Precious Porcelain," says of his present book: "This book was already printing when it was pointed out to me that there were in the story certain resemblances to 'Tony Bungay,' by H. G. Wells. . . . The fact that so much of 'Andrew Otway' is autobiographical tended to lessen the anxiety with which I began my re-reading of the earlier tale, and when I had finished it was apparent that the two books differed as widely as the two men that wrote them, and that the chief similarities were governed by the choice of exactly the same theme."

NEIL BELL.

"Life and Andrew Otway" is in the Victorian tradition. It is a long novel written in the first person. The "I" is the foster son of the famous Andrew Otway and he chronicles his reactions to and impressions of his father from the time he is a small child until the family debacle. The son has almost as many trials and tribulations as the father. There appears a beautiful, trusting, and erring girl who gets mixed up in a tragedy that nearly ruins her life.

Andrew Otway, both a genius and a fool, with a blustering manner and fantastic and extravagant ideas that seem as incredible as the adventures in the Arabian Nights, hides beneath his coarse uncultured and undemonstrative nature, a pathetic tenderness and a heart of gold. These character types have appeared often in fiction, though not so much in late years, and the plot, with its affected [that may also be actual] versimilitude, its certain tricks seen in the presentation of almost insurmountable obstacles and in the ending, is reminiscent of the plots that were popular with the authors of a preceding generation.

The novel contains a panoramic view of the early 20th century, its social, moral, and economic development. Particularly does the author emphasize science's invasion of business. On this invasion rests the colossal fortune of Andrew Otway. First, dreaming his wild and absurd dreams that create contempt and pity and resentment wherever he goes, he conceives the idea of making unbreakable china and glassware. He then sponsors the gramophone business when it is in its infancy and finally the cinema. At the climax of his career he has millions of dollars at his disposal.

Andrew Otway is a brilliantly drawn characterization. Though oftentimes the monologues in which he indulges are long and excessively boring, the reader nevertheless receives the impression of his immense vitality, his almost childlike innocence and credulity, his wizardlike shrewdness in business, and his craving for action and fighting. He seems almost like the figment of the imagination, a mad extravaganza that could not exist in the cold light of the day. Yet the reader believes in his essential reality and looks around wonderingly at the men who have amassed great fortunes, searching for his prototype, convinced that such men must have lived and even live before his own eyes in his own time.

All other characters and the subplots in which they are placed are subordinated to the main picture of Andrew Otway. Consequently, since most of the author's attention is devoted to this roaring Gargantua of business, the other characterizations are not so successful. The narrator himself simply serves as the mirror in which the sensational activities and ideas of Andrew are reflected. The reader is therefore not very much concerned with the son's unhappy love affair. Septimus Cole, Andrew's partner, on the other hand is an intriguing character, carefully treated by the author.

The reader will be interested no doubt in trying to discover the not too closely veiled identity of Rawdon Bessington, who resembles a famous living English author. He does not appear often in the book, but when he does the reader is impressed with the reality of his portraiture.

The following important books are also published today:

"James Branch Cabell," by Carl Van Doren, places this contemporary American romancer among the great romancers of American literary history, Hawthorne and Melville, and finds reasons to acclaim Cabell's superiority to them all.

"A Woman Like Me" by Marjorie Damsey Wilson is a promising first novel which deals with a woman who has been brought up with the one thought of personal beauty and her resultant conflict with the world.

Helen Ashton, author of "Mackerel Sky," has written in "Bricks and Mortar" [Doubleday Doran] the story of a man's life from the time of his student days in Rome, where he studied architecture, to his baffled middle age, made interesting by a beautiful and wayward daughter.

"Browning: Background and Conflict" by F. R. G. Duckworth [Dutton] treats of the misunderstanding and misinterpretation to which Browning has been subjected since his death and which he also suffered during his life.

Aldous Huxley's new novel, "Brave New World" [Doubleday Doran], will be reviewed by Fanny Butcher on Feb. 8.

"Drums in the Dawn" by John T. McIntyre [Doubleday Doran] relates the adventures of a dashing young sea captain and a lovely girl, beginning in the year 1776.

LIFE EXPECTANCY UP TEN YEARS IN U. S., FIGURES SHOW

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Study of the cases of millions of insured workers in the United States and Canada today disclosed that the life expectancy of such workers and their dependents has been increased ten years since 1911, according to a survey of statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who found 1931 the most remarkable health year on record.

The 1931 death rate exceeded the previous low record by only 1 per cent, although the year was marked by a widespread influenza epidemic and great industrial depression.

Though low earnings enforce plain diet, the survey found no justification for the thesis that hard times and health go hand in hand, and warning is given that ill effects usually follow long periods of unemployment.

In 1931 cancer, deaths from diseases of the heart, diabetes, and automobile accidents increased, while deaths from tuberculosis, diphtheria, whooping cough, diarrheal complaints, and accidental burns declined.

Find Married Woman Can Hold Her Job; Give Survey Results

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Married women and middle aged women may have a hard time finding new jobs, but they have little trouble holding the old ones, a survey conducted by the American Woman's association among 2,000 business and professional women shows.

Miss Anne Morgan, president of the association, gave the results today. She reported that:

Two out of five women are supporting from one to three or more dependents.

The woman who stays with her job has a better guarantee against unemployment than one who moves about.

Fewer married women [among those usually employed] are now without work than single women.

Women who did not graduate from high school are earning a medium salary of $2,655. [In the group surveyed].

Women with post-graduate degrees earn a medium salary of $5,105.

Eleven per cent of the jobless were under 25; only 3 per cent were between 41 and 45.

'Hell Divers' Called Good in Big Letters

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"Hell Divers" is GOOD!!! With Wallace Beery, Clark Gable, and the United States navy it ought to be good!

You notice I mentioned Mr. Beery first. Deliberately. He comes mighty near running away with the picture. The audience goes wild over him. Isn't it remarkable the way these grizzled veterans . . . Beery, Dressler . . . are coming to the fore and brushing the pretty boys and girls into the background?

"Hell Divers" is one of the most pictorially exciting — perhaps THE most pictorially exciting aviation film that has ever winged its way across a silversheet. It is dedicated to the naval flyers, who, in times of peace, maintain the efficiency of the naval air forces.

Maneuvers contingent on the story are breath taking and some of them must have been perilous to the nth degree.

Recorded by marvelous photography, dirigibles skim through the clouds. Planes alone, in pairs, in threes, in all sorts of formations, go through the most daring acrobatics, that raise your hair and cause your heart to do some somersaulting on its own. Battleships, men, planes, the ocean and the skies combine in presenting a brilliant and galvanizing spectacle. A world of credit is due directors, photographers, and Uncle Sam's sea sons for their achievements in this film.

The story which serves as base for all the fireworks is not original as to idea but holds your interest and sympathy because of the touchingly convincing manner in which the tale is presented. The heroes are a couple of enlisted men, forever busy with a personal war, but, underneath the rough stuff, all set to lay down their lives for one another. The time comes when, if one is to live the other must die. The finale is moving and inspiring.

Young Mr. Gable, so popular at the moment, gives a sincere performance in a rôle that, really, belongs to a straight juvenile. The ladies are all agreed that they like Clark best when he's hard bitten and dangerous. Here, he has no opportunity for such hemanics as gangstering and biffing his sweetie on the jaw, but he is very alert and lovable and gives added proof, I thought, that he is a versatile and dependable actor.

Wallace Beery goes two fisted enow for ten pugilists and eight Little Cæsars, besides being rib ticklingly funny and unbelievably pathetic. Long will you remember him sitting at the piano in the apartment of his adored Mame Kelsey in Panama as he plays and sings:

O, th' monks in Sambo-Ango have no tails
O, th' monkeys in Sambo-Ango have no tails.
O, the monkeys have no tails;
They were bitten off by whales.
O, th' monkeys in Sambo-Ango have no tails."

And what a scene that is when, busied with setting Gable's broken leg, he leans forward suddenly and knocks the injured man unconscious.

"You was sufferin' so much I just had to put you to sleep," he explains later.

This film is just full of things that Wallace Beery says and does and all of them are rich.

John Miljan contributes a beautiful piece of work as the "skipper" and all other male rôles are splendidly handled.

The women of the cast haven't much to do but they are admirable so far as they go.

I can't take you to see "Hell Divers" because I haven't got time, but if all you need is a little shove to start you in the direction of McVicker's theater—consider this review as that. (In intention, at least.)

See you tomorrow!

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 3.—They don't like censorship applied to their product around the country, but the movie writers, executives, directors, and players who belong to the Hollywood Writers' club have slapped it on themselves and left a wake of argument pro and con to disturb that prominent Sunset boulevard club.

It arose because of the sketch named "So What?" which George Waggner, playwright and screen author, prepared for the Writers' club monthly program of original stage shorts. The skit concerned a high school biology teacher and a wise-cracking high school girl. After it was shown for one night Miss Madeleine Brandeis, chairman of the club's stage entertainments, informed Waggner that it could not be repeated the following night. A Mexican singer was put on the program instead.

"Maybe it was a bit risque," Waggner said, "but no worse than many other things that have been shown around Hollywood." Miss Brandeis said the club directors took the action which banned the skit.

Universal Film company has signed Nina Wilcox Putnam to a contract as screen author. She is this studio's thirty-fifth author on contract.

There's still some money floating around the film colony. Clarence Brown, the director, has just completed a $325,000 deal to buy a business corner on Wilshire boulevard, Beverly Hills.

Matt Moore is recovering from an operation for appendicitis at Santa Monica hospital.

If Greta Garbo attended her own premiere of "Mata Hari" at Chinese theater last week she did it incognito. Combined efforts of Sid Grauman, the theater operator; the publicity staff at her studio, some of the studio executives who sign Greta's pay checks and such personal acquaintances as could get a word into the secretive Swede's ear failed to move her to accept the invitation to attend. Miss Garbo has been more retiring than ever since her return here from New York, possibly due to the sickness of her maid, Alma, who has been her constant companion for years.

"The average movie player can consider himself or herself a star," says George Archainbaud, the veteran director, "when the director orders others in the cast to pitch their voices above or below theirs, and when the back of their head is never seen by the public."

Ralph Holmes, 16 year old brother of Phillips Holmes, and son of Taylor Holmes, has refused a couple of offers to make film tests here. Ralph rejected the studio advances because his big brother told him to wait a couple of years before attempting to buck the acting profession.

Concert Sets New Standard of Choir Work

Chicago A Capella Group Opens Season.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Quite the most interesting organization of its kind in theory and accomplishment, the Chicago A Cappella choir, sang its first program of the season last night at Orchestra hall under the direction of Noble Cain.

They are an astonishing band. About seventy in number, all apparently young, they are afraid of nothing put down in notes, and Mr. Cain plays upon these young voices as freely and flexibly as though they were a string orchestra. In fact, there were times when the first sopranos in high ranges distinctly suggested the tone of violins. Not that there is or should be any particular merit in getting human voices to imitate orchestral instruments. It is only that Mr. Cain and his singers seem to have discovered a few new means of expression within the powers of human voices.

For the A Cappella choir is well on the way to set new standards for choral singing. They are expressive no end, with a variety of tone color, volume, range, shading that transcends that of any other choral body within my memory. They turn a melodic phrase, they cross a complex harmonic modulation as easily and accurately as ever an orchestra was known to do. Consequently they are able to sing music of a kind that most other choirs prefer to lay aside.

They used some of the best on this program. There was Bach's motet for double choir, "Sing Ye to the Lord," a marvel of finely wrought accuracy in performance. There was a Christmas motet by Arnold Mendelssohn, a lovely piece of late romantic German writing. There were some tiny jewels of English traditional music. There were several compositions by Mr. Cain himself, who, understanding what his choir can do, was able to work in effects of which other composers might have fought shy. At the end there were some excerpts from the Russian liturgy. In all it was a stimulating concert which would be worth hearing all over again.

Margaret Grover Tagmose, soprano, pleased her audience at the Cordon club last night with a recital program that ran through the three traditional languages of the continent and English. The last group was made up of songs by Chicago composers, including one by herself. She was assisted by Estrid Miller in Isadora Duncan dances.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Sam Weisman last night denied a report published in the early editions of yesterday's TRIBUNE that his brother, Paul Weisman, was a friend of Paul Harrison, alleged hammer slayer. He also denied that his brother had committed suicide as reported. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death, he said.

Boston Professors Learn What Their Students Don't Know

Boston, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Professors at Boston university, correcting papers for recent midyear examinations, today were confronted with the following contributions of examined students:

"An optimist is an eye doctor.

"In 1658 the Pilgrims crossed the ocean. This is known as Pilgrim's Progress.

"A stereotype is an instrument with two peep holes and a slot between. Look through one hole with one eye and through the other hole with the other eye, you see something.

"The death of Socrates was caused by an overdose of wedlock."

New Fashions Hint Europe's War Hysteria

Well Dressed Girl Needs Military Bearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Big guns of the Paris dressmaking world have turned thumbs down on disarmament—or maybe they are just working up an advance market for any gold braid which may be scrapped at Geneva.

Virtually all the big houses which dictate the world styles are lavish in the use of military decorations in the models now showing of the summer fashions.

Worth, who opened tonight, hits the military angle particularly hard. His collection is replete with soldierly capes, gold braid, brass buttons, and even epaulettes and naval epaulettes on some models.

Mannequins strut about like rear admirals and do everything but salute. If this collection is a good indication, the main requirements of the well dressed girl will be a military bearing and a lot of brass buttons. Serious minded observers profess to see in the new fad a symptom of a growing war hysteria in Europe.

BY DIANA MERWIN.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Country straw now is being used for city clothes—not merely for hats, but in trimmings and woven into material for shoes.

Lucile Paray is showing several unusual types of shoes. Lace covered shoes are made up to match lace dresses. Printed silk day shoes are another new style.

Spring styles stress trimming, in varied materials and large amount. Starched white lace is used for collars and cuffs. Lucile Paray shows a number of bow-tied dresses, coats, and blouses. Silk dresses have fine pleatings, and are sometimes accompanied by wide suede belts. Large buttons and fancy buckles add to the decorative array.

Contrasting ribbon belts and sashes are popular, as well as suede belts. Rhinestone ornaments vie with nasturtium and other flower trims.

Jane Regny uses silver curb bits for trimming, as well as silver buttons. Another of her innovations is a large silver ring holding drapery. She sponsors a purple wool long evening coat, with a tie at neck and waist.

Black lace dresses have a double shoulder frill of starched lace. Net is used in the large coin spot and eyelet patterns.

Many short epaulet sleeves join the already large variety of sleeves. Lucile Paray uses an occasional suggestion of the muttonleg. Coat sleeves may be pleated. Cape sleeves also are shown on coats.

Molded lines are in vogue for both short jackets and coats. Several black marocain coats are on display.

Marocain is found also in day dresses. Other materials are diagonal cotton suiting and printed crepe.

Lelong shows one ensemble for evening with a dress of printed chiffon with green velvet décolleté and a matching green velvet coat. Two color evening dresses are featured at this house with contrasting coat and décolleté. A brown taffeta coat is worn over a white gown.

Velvet evening coats in three-quarter length are widely used by Lelong, to be worn with any costume as well as part of an ensemble. Printed chiffon and much lace adapt themselves to draped lines.

Five Mummies Clew to Powerful Race of Ancient Mexico

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—Five perfect mummies artificially embalmed an untold number of years ago by the Tarahumara Indians were found in a mountain village in the rugged Sierra Madre Occidental range in the state of Durango, it is reported by Dr. Wendell Bennett, who is now gathering unusual plants for the American Museum of Natural History of New York. Dr. Bennett reported that the mummies had been forwarded by express to the Mexican National museum here.

The reports read that the skeleton of one woman six feet eight inches tall, and two men of unusual proportions were found. The mummies were found in a very ancient ruined city and show that the Tarahumaras as they are now looked upon were not a cultural people, but one that were powerful and possessed of a comparatively high civilization.

All the skeletons were in a sitting position, which is characteristic of the other Tarahumara burials of more recent times.

Linguistically, the Tarahumaras are related to the Aztec.

From time to time have come from the Tarahumara country, stories of the great ruined cities and the vast caves that were once the homes of ancient races. The caves stretch for miles up the vast canyon.

Barney Barnes Can Now Eat Anything He Chooses

"I got so I couldn't eat anything without having trouble afterwards," says Mr. Barney Barnes, popular oil rig builder, of 221½ West Grand Avenue, Oklahoma City, Okla. "I would have heartburn, and indigestion pains after meals.

"Nothing seemed to help me. I tried everything I could hear of but my indigestion hung on four years.

"Then a friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had almost immediate relief with the first two tablets. Now that I have been taking them for some time, I find I can eat meats or most anything and have no trouble. I want to tell others about Diapepsin because it sure helped me."

Thousands like Mr. Barnes are finding quick, certain relief for sour stomach, or acidity, by using Pape's Diapepsin. Chew a tablet and that feeling of weight and discomfort after eating just disappears.

GULF COAST RUM RING IS SMASHED; SEIZE GRID STAR

Arsenal and Records of Gang Found.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—After weeks of dogged investigation by shrewdest special agents of the prohibition office in New Orleans, an alleged liquor syndicate operating extensively along the Louisiana coast and in the marshes and extending into Mississippi and Florida and extending as far as Chicago, stands crushed, with six of its suspected members under arrest, three more sought and evidence seized that, according to the agents, makes an "iron clad case" against all suspects.

Seize University Students.

Among those arrested are Charles Genard, early this season a brilliant football star at Loyola university, and his brother, Dominick Genard, president of the freshman class at Loyola. Arthur Masson, reputed king of bootleggers in the south who has figured in several sensational raids in the last several years, is charged along with the Genard brothers.

In the possession of the prohibition agents are stacks of guns, including Thompson machine guns, taken from the "arsenal" of the syndicate in the Genard home. Seized along with the guns were cases of fine champagnes, and imported liquor, and records that federal agents declare make their case complete.

Parents Assist Boys.

Agents said they were convinced members of the syndicate operated a large fleet of rum boats that made contact with "mother ships" in the Gulf of Mexico then scurried to shore with their rum cargoes. They also charged that the syndicate operated a big fleet of trucks out of New Orleans.

The father of the two Genard boys, Louis Genard, vehemently denied that either of his sons had any connection with the alleged rum ring. Both the sons and their mother also entered stout denials. Charles Genard, the father declared, stayed almost continuously on the Loyola campus, and only recently began coming to the family dwelling at nights to sleep, because of a leg injury suffered in football practice some weeks ago.

Professor to Aid Negro Ousted by Evanston Council

Prof. A. R. Hatton of Northwestern university yesterday called a public meeting for tomorrow night to protest the action of the Evanston city council in unseating its Negro member, Ald. Edwin B. Jourdain Jr. An effort is being made to get the use of the Evanston High school for the meeting. Ald. Jourdain's seat was declared vacant as a result of the protest of John P. Rush, whom he defeated last April by 385 votes. The council conducted an inquiry in which it found, after questioning 135 witnesses, that 37 fraudulent votes had been cast in the Fifth ward, which Ald. Jourdain represents.

Mrs. Dasch, Mother of Orchestra Leader, Dead

PLANE'S TARGET

Albert Johnson, miner, who killed one Canadian mounted policeman and wounded another and is holding out in wilderness fastness. A plane has been sent from Edmonton, Alta., to bomb him.

Orlando C. Brown, advertising representative of the Crowell Publishing company in Chicago, yesterday told of an acquaintanceship he had with Albert Johnson, crazed trapper whom the Royal Canadian Mounted police plan to bomb from an airplane. Johnson is said to have killed a Canadian mounted policeman who was seeking him for robbing Indians in the barren wastes north of the arctic circle where he has a cabin. Brown said he visited the country where Johnson lives about a year ago and got to know him well. He was called "Al Jolson" by his friends because of his sense of humor, and at no time seemed deranged, as he is thought to be now. Brown lives at 570 Jackson avenue, Glencoe.

BEER SELLER MUST PAY $1,500 FOR BOY'S DEATH IN ACCIDENT

Madison, Wis., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—A Circuit court jury here today assessed damages of $1,500 against a bootlegger on the ground that liquor sold Casper Gronli, 16, was responsible for an automobile accident in which the boy was killed.

Ted Helgeland must pay the damages under the court verdict. John Gronli, town of Blooming Grove, farmer, brought suit for $25,000, contending that liquor sold to his son was the cause of the accident that resulted in the boy's death a year ago.

Helgeland admitted selling beer to the boy and two companions but claimed that he sold them no hard liquor and that all were sober when they left his establishment.

The jury was out 10 hours. Two of the jurors dissented from the majority report, Wisconsin law requiring only 10 jurors to agree in civil cases.

STEADY DEFEAT FOR INSURGENTS IN MINERS' UNION

One Debater Falls and Breaks Arm.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Insurgent delegates, led by Illinois, continued a losing fight today for amendment of United Mine Workers of America legislation so as to include "home rule" provisions and curtail powers of the international officers. In every instance the resolution was voted down, the insurgents not mustering 200 of the one thousand votes.

During one fierce debate John Doherty of Royalton, Ill., fell and broke his hand when the chair on which he was standing folded.

In considering the report of the constitution committee scores of the insurgent resolutions designed to break the power of the Lewis administration were voted down.

A resolution asking all international officers to resign was beaten, as was another which would take away supreme judicial, executive and legislative powers of the officers.

The insurgents' best fight thus far in the convention was on a proposal that international organizers be elected instead of appointed. But the suggestion was defeated on a standing vote—185 of the approximately 360 necessary to obtain a roll call.

International trouble in district 11, one of the Indiana districts, was brought up in debate for the first time on the resolution proposing election of organizers. District 1, Pennsylvania, affairs also were aired.

AIR LINES HEAD AND NOTED FLYER DIES SUDDENLY

Walted F. Halley, 35 years old, of Omaha, Neb., and Rapid City, S. D., world war flyer and president of the Rapid Air Lines corporation, Omaha, was found dead early this morning in his room in the Hotel Sherman. Dr. F. H. Hicks, house physician, pronounced death due to heart disease.

Mr. Halley was prominent in western aviation. In 1929 he purchased the American Legion hangar at Omaha and leased the air field. The next year he launched the Omaha-Kansas City air service, and several months later completed the merger of seven Halley owned companies into the Rapid Air Lines corporation, with lines radiating from Omaha to many cities.

Surviving Mr. Halley are his widow and two brothers, Donald M. Halley, vice president, and S. R. Halley.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Eddie Gribbon, motion picture comedian, and his wife, Loretta Gribbon, were jailed on charges of intoxication and liquor possession last night after a stormy party at their home. Gribbon said that he and some friends "were just having some fun demonstrating the war in Shanghai." The couple were released on bail at noon to face hearings later.

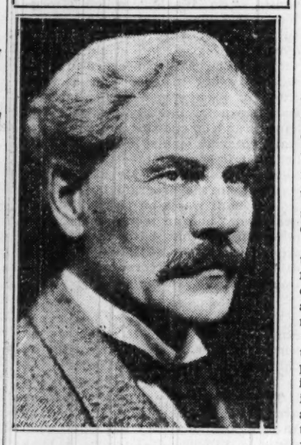
Operation Success



RAMSAY MACDONALD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Prime Minister MacDonald underwent a delicate eye operation at the Park Lane nursing home tonight. Soon afterwards a bulletin was issued from Downing street stating that the operation was successful. The prime minister was suffering in his left eye from glaucoma, a disease in which fluid collects in the back part of the eyeball.

He is expected to remain in the hospital for ten days, part of the time being spent in a darkened room. For some time after the operation he will be unable to attend to his official duties and will not be allowed to read, but he will be kept informed of far eastern developments.

The prime minister went directly to the nursing home from a cabinet meeting. Telegrams expressing sympathetic interest and good wishes were received from all parts of the world. A cablegram came from Secretary of State Stimson. King Gearge and Queen Mary also sent a message of sympathy. During the prime minister's absence Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, will preside over cabinet discussions and generally take charge of the government's work.

FOXES KILL IOWA POULTRY; SINGLE HUNTER SLAYS 9

McGregor, Ia., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The fox hunt is on here in northeastern Iowa. It is not a sporting event, however, for the foxes have taken such a heavy toll in poultry flocks in this section recently that the hunt becomes an economic necessity. The state has extended the open season a month, to Feb. 15.

Following a report by one farmer that he had lost 300 chickens to the foxes, A. C. Fritz of McGregor went out with his hounds a few days ago and bagged nine foxes within a few miles of town.

The gray fox, although smaller than the red, is a greater menace to poultry, Mr. Fritz explained, because it will come up to the henhouse for its prey, while the red fox seldom acts so boldly. Mr. Fritz said that the red fox destroys more quail and pheasants than the black.

Police Question Couple on Bandits' Gun Story

Harry C. Moir Jr., 26 years old, son of the head of the Morrison hotel, and Miss Weir Verda were taken from his apartment at 7805 Essex avenue to the detective bureau for questioning last night in connection with the stories of two robbers, which indicated they procured their holdup pistols from his flat. Moir denied the stories. The confessed bandits, Alfred Ferdinandsen, 23, of 4756 Drexel boulevard, and Wilfred Anderson, 20, Indiana Harbor, admitted fifteen recent robberies.

Society Owners Await Big Race of Sea Soldier

March 18 Exciting Day on Two Continents.

MARCH 18 is a red letter date on the calendars of at least ten members of Chicago society, for on that day Sea Soldier, which is owned by a syndicate of Chicagoans, will run in the Grand National at Aintree, England, and if high hopes and expectations insure success, which unfortunately they don't in all cases, but let us hope they will this time, Sea Soldier will "bring home the bacon."

We are told he has run in several races in England since he was taken over last June and, although he hasn't done anything very impressive, his owners feel that he has made a good start by having galloped on English turf and jumped the field on the Aintree course, he having run a short race—2¾ miles—there last fall, and finished fifth in a field of eighteen. But he wasn't being pushed, for the handicap weights weren't set until the first of January and Sea Soldier wasn't out to win before then.

For the information of those of our readers who are no more "horsey" than we, let us explain that the horses are given handicaps, weight to carry, which, judged by their past performances, would make it possible for a heat finish for all. Austin H. Niblack, one of the syndicate, says Sea Soldier, a son of the famous Man o' War, is a bit fat now but that he will have work poured into him for the next six weeks and that he should be perfectly fit and in fine fettle for the four and one-half mile race on March 18. Mr. Niblack does not expect to get to England for the race, unless, as he says, his "swimming improves by that time," but three of the owners, Noble B. Judah, Robert J. Thorne and Wolcott Blair and their wives do expect to see their horse run. The other owners, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Donald F. Ryerson, Benjamin L. Behr, Charles F. Glore, Edward A. Cudahy Jr. and Vaughan Spalding, will have to content themselves with hearing the race on the radio probably. Mr. Niblack says it is to be broadcast and of course he and the others of Sea Soldier's sponsors who aren't in England will be at their radios at 10 a. m. the morning of the race [it will be 4 p. m. in England] to get the thrills by long distance.

Engagement of Virginia Doering

An interesting engagement, which isn't a surprise to the young lady's friends, for they had guessed that a young man from the east had won her heart, is being announced formally this morning when Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering of 1344 Astor street announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Virginia Jeffery, to Robert Martin McCutcheon Stevenson of Philadelphia. Miss Doering attended the University School for Girls here, was graduated from the Wheeler school at Providence, and since has been a student at the Sarah Lawrence college. Mr. Stevenson is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and was assistant professor of architecture for two years. He took graduate work at Harvard and now is a naval architect in New York. The wedding will take place at Easter.

Another interesting engagement is announced by Lieut. Col. George A. Wildrick, U. S. A., assistant chief of staff of the Sixth corps area, and Mrs. Wildrick, of their daughter, Carolyn Newcomb, to Lieut. Church Myall Mathews, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Mathews of Maysville, Ky. Miss Wildrick was graduated from St. Mary's school at Peekskill, N. Y. She made her debut in Boston several seasons ago and is a member of the Boston Junior league. Lieut. Mathews attended the University of Kentucky and was graduated from West Point in 1928. He is a member of the Mayflower Society of New York and of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. The wedding will take place in the near future. Col. and Mrs. Wildrick are residing at 5014 Dorchester avenue.

Dinner Guests to Meet Mr. Churchill.

Mrs. Robert R. McCormick is not planning to entertain on a large scale at all during Winston Churchill's short visit with her and Col. McCormick the end of the week because Mr. Churchill does not feel up to much of a social nature. Mr. Churchill will return to Chicago—he left for Detroit after his lecture at the Union League club Tuesday night—Saturday morning and that afternoon he will go to Wheaton with the McCormicks to stay until he comes in for the Town Hall lecture in Orchestra hall at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mrs. McCormick will invite a few friends to dinner Saturday night to meet Mr. Churchill, but it will be a very small party. Mr. Churchill will leave Sunday evening soon after his lecture.

The Woman's National Republican club's luncheon for Mrs. Edward Everett Gann today at 12:30 o'clock in the gold room of the Congress will be the largest social-political affair of the day, for more than 600 reservations have been made for it. Meloy, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Miss Florence Higinbotham, Mrs. Bruce Strong, Miss Emily Ross, and Mrs. Stephen Wilson.

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters will hold the second of two study groups on taxation this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, 1130 Lake Shore drive.

The dining room of the Woman's Athletic club won't be so jammed today as it usually is after a Thursday morning program, because a good many of the members will leave after Winifred MacBride's piano recital to attend the luncheon for Mrs. Gann. Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, the club president, will have a party of luncheon guests including Miss MacBride and several of the officers and among the other luncheon hostesses will be Mrs. Alfred Tyler, the program chairman; Mrs. Roy D. Keehn, Mrs. Allan M. Clement, Mrs. Irving Rew, Mrs. B. C. Hardenbrook, Mrs. George Crogg, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener, Mrs. Marshall Sampsell, Mrs. Sanger Brown, Mrs. H. Newton Hudson, Mrs. Seymour Morris, and Mrs. Owen West.

Capt. and Mrs. Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thompson will come in from Libertyville to tell the members and guests some stories about the farm for underprivileged boys.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. Albion L. Headburg, Mrs. Franklin Miller, Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg, Mrs. Ralph T. Winston, and Mrs. Walter S. Carr will serve at the teatable after the American Opera society's program on Sunday afternoon at the Fortnightly.

Food Talk.

So much has been said about cooking vegetables, and we have been advised repeatedly how best to preserve color and flavor. "Cook green vegetables in an open kettle . . ." you know the story well by now. But how about best preserving the nutrients in vegetables? After all, at least one of our reasons for eating is to keep alive and healthy. And this brings us back to that old question of whether we live to eat, or eat to live. But we won't bother answering that problem today.

To get back to the preservation of nutrients. Take for example the three methods of cooking—baking, steaming, and boiling. Baking in the oven without the addition of water, of course, is obviously the best method. Steaming in a pressure cooker or steamer without the addition of water to the vegetables other than the little quantity which condenses from the steam is the next best. This leaves the process of boiling as the one to cause the greatest loss in nutrients.

The advantage of steaming over boiling lies in the fact that only a minute quantity of condensed steam comes in contact with the vegetables. And this quantity is too small to dissolve out an appreciable amount of these nutrients.

An extensive investigation and report by Peterson and Hoppert gives the following results on the losses incurred in cooking sixteen different vegetables. [There is no loss by baking.]

"The average loss was about 15 per cent by steaming and pressure cooking, 30 per cent by boiling in water to cover the vegetables and 40 per cent by boiling in double the quantity of water required to cover."

From these figures, if the method of boiling is being considered, it is apparent that the more water used in the process, the greater the loss of nutrients. Other factors which can affect these losses are the length of the cooking period, the size of the pieces into which the vegetables are cut, that is, the area of cut surface exposed to the water, and also by the reaction of the water itself and the various minerals in it.

We, then, in the preparation of our vegetables should consider, purely from the standpoint of the preservation of nutrients, that the greatest success will be achieved first by baking, second by steaming, and lastly by boiling. And in the last case, the losses will depend on the "proportion and reaction of the cooking water, the time of cooking and the area of cut surface exposed to the water."

STUFFED MUSHROOMS.

6 large mushrooms
2 tbsp. chopped mushrooms
2 tbsp. bread crumbs
2 tbsp. chopped lean ham
1 tbsp. finely minced onion
1 tsp. grated cheese
1 tsp. minced parsley
3 tbsp. butter
1-3 cup meat stock

Prepare the mushrooms by peeling, removing the stem and centers. [Use this for part of stuffing.] Combine all the other ingredients except the cheese, and cook together 5 minutes. Stuff the mixture into prepared mushrooms and sprinkle the top with crumbs and grated cheese. Arrange in a baking dish, pour a little stock around, then bake in a hot oven 20 minutes.

Coverlet Guild Sees Display of Old Glassware

Dishes of Early America Win Popularity.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

LADIES of the Colonial Coverlet guild did not talk coverlets yesterday. There was no time for that after they had made the rounds of an early American china and glass exhibit, posed for a silhouette artist, and contributed their silver coin for the benefit of young Kentuckians at the Pine Mountain Settlement school.

Miss Marie Grogan was hostess at her south side apartment and obtained and arranged the display of rare spoonholders, plates, and candlesticks without assistance. In fact, Miss Grogan went one step further with her interesting exhibit and proved to her guests that colonial pieces in combination with Chinese objets d'arts produce attractive settings.

In one corner of the living room the dash of a blue Chinese vase and a blue and rose table covering from the orient contrasted with glass plates pressed some time in the 1850s. There was a heavy iron bowl found in the early eighteenth century near Baltimore, filled with delicately wrought Chinese flowers of iron, and still another table setting had a severe white ironstone dish, with Chinese lilies for its centerpiece.

"Innumerable combinations may be worked out with effective result," Miss Grogan explained, "for the brilliance of oriental pieces lends just the necessary color to plain glassware. And we are only now coming into a real appreciation of the early American glass produced in the decades immediately preceding the civil war.

"A few years ago collectors of blown glass scoffed at the early commercial or pressed glassware," she continued. "But now it is a different story, and these same antique lovers are making every effort to match sets of plates, tumblers, and bowls in this ware. You see, its scarcity and age have made it valuable, while its decorative qualities have aroused appreciation."

Perhaps you know that the art of pressing glass into molds was known to the ancient Egyptians, but it was not until the late 1820s that Yankee ingenuity began to experiment successfully with machinery for this purpose. There were few articles manufactured at first, just as with the ancestral blown glass. All the specimens we have today, however, of drinking glasses for wine, rum, ale, and cordial indicate that a heavy demand for the ware from inn and tavern keepers as well as householders developed by 1850.

The "polar bear" tumbler Miss Grogan had in her display yesterday might well be any youngster's delight. It was made in celebration of the purchase of Alaska by the United States in 1867. Then there was a spoonholder that "takes in" a dozen spoons, and a "three face" lamp or, as Miss Grogan explained it, a "three grace" lamp.

Though the subjects discussed by the guild range from country auctions to early American prints, there isn't a member without at least one old coverlet. This, in fact, is the one important qualification for membership in the group organized back in 1924 as an affiliate of the Chicago Historical society.

This year the guild has the quaint blue and white plaid of a coverlet made by Robert McCormick about 1800 as the cover pattern for its year book. Mr. McCormick's granddaughter, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, who was one of the earliest members of the guild, has placed the quilt on display at the historical society. Mrs. Carl Medinus presides over the group. Mrs. Charles Bohasseck assisted Miss Hogan as hostess yesterday.

Hostess Pajamas Take to Most Demure Lines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Pajamas retired to their proper setting, the home, this winter, are being worn by exceptionally fashionable women for informal entertaining. The smart hostess pajama is a feminine garment with trousers that are barely recognizable as such because of their width. Furthering the feminine side of pajamas, it is fashionable to drape a fichu around the shoulders of this low cut, one piece garment.

Schiaparelli, whose hostess pajamas are having the greatest success, cuts them much like her Empire waisted evening frocks, and gives them a modernized Watteau fullness at the back, as you may have observed in the accompanying sketch.

This hostess pajama model is made of white crinkly crêpe, called crepin, a material that is going to be important in spring styles. The model is in one piece and the fitted bodice is draped toward the back under a big crêpe bow placed at a high waistline. The front of the bodice is quite high, ending in a rounded neckline, and the back consists of two wide shoulder straps that meet under the bow at the waistline.

Over the pajamas Schiaparelli puts the most alluring fichu that has been seen since fichus were first invented. The top of this fichu, which is draped around the neck, is made of orange chiffon, and the lower part is purple net. The fichu is braided in a pigtail beginning at the center front and caught over on the left hip, from which point it hangs in long ends of purple net and orange chiffon.

KLEENEX
Former 50c package now 35c

Enormous popularity of rayon-cellulose tissues for handkerchiefs—for beauty—for a thousand uses—results in nationwide price reduction!

KLEENEX users—here's great news! A striking price reduction in Kleenex Tissues—those soft, delectable, cloth-like squares that you find so useful a dozen times a day.

The regular price of that big box—formerly 50c—is now but 35c. A third less! The same smart, sparkling package! The same number of tissues! The same soft, cloth-like quality! Only the price has changed!

The reason

This great price reduction is due directly to the enormous increase in the number of Kleenex users. Twice as many people at least are using Kleenex as there were a year ago. So the price goes down for all!

At this new low price you'll find Kleenex more useful than ever. Let the whole family use it for handkerchiefs.

Let Kleenex make your beauty care more effective. Use it for removing face creams. Use a tissue every time you put on make-up, to blend the edges naturally into the skin.

Kleenex polishes silver, glass, furniture. It is much more sanitary than a dust-cloth.

Kleenex makes the care of infants so much easier. Doctors recommend it. Buy several packages at this new low price! Put a package in every room in the house. Another in the automobile. No reason now for skimping! Every drug, dry goods and department store has Kleenex.

FOR COLDS . . . Kleenex always, in place of handkerchiefs! It costs so little that you use and destroy, thus avoiding self-infection. No laundering.

FOR BEAUTY . . . use Kleenex for removing cleansing cream. You need the remarkable absorbency of Kleenex, to assure complete removal of all dirt along with cleansing cream. Saves staining and ruining towels.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

Inventor Who Saved Thousands with Tin 'Hat' Dies in Want

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Franz Marx saved the lives of hundreds of thousands of Germans, yet he died penniless and in a cold Berlin garret and his widow was found near starvation.

Franz Marx designed the German steel helmet which famous surgeons declare saved hundreds of thousands of soldiers, protecting their heads and necks in battle.

Few of the multitudes in field gray wearing the three pounds of heavy nickel steel shaped like an inverted bucket, knew who had designed their "tin hat" or how much thought and calculation had gone into it. Most of them knew, though, that for sheer protection, the German helmet was surpassed by none of those adopted as official battle garb of the contesting armies.

Far less dapper in its form than the French poilu's modified Roman legionnaire's helmet, and less rakish than the shallow inverted plate style worn by the British and American soldiers, the ponderous headgear first hammered out in 1916 by Franz Marx was the one which could best lay claim to anatomical and ballistic perfection of pattern.

The German helmet was to have weighed 2.2 pounds—but when completed it represented a burden of 6.6 pounds. As a further protection, a supplementary forehead covering weighing another two pounds could be attached to the front.

Neither the steel helmet nor the sentiments which clustered around it during the war have been allowed to die out.

Not only does it remain, in the original form, official service wear for the 100,000 soldiers of the reich's army, but it has become a symbol, reserved especially be the radical reactionaries of the right wing; the Fascisti following Hitlerites as well as the monarchist Nationalists. To these all, to whom the memory of the war is ever yet glorious and worthy of perpetuation, and for whom the conflict itself is only suspended, but not finally ended, the drooping "Stahlhelm" remains the most typical soldier distinction. It is in especial the particular badge of the strongest anti-Republican, anti-Liberal, militaristic organization of Germany, the Stahlhelm Frontfighters league, known everywhere simply as "steelhelmeters."

The simple craftsman Marx, with his hammers and dies and vises could hardly know that he was pounding out a more than a pot-shaped piece of chrome-nickle steel—that he was hammering on an emblem, an insignia which would come to embody the war's memories for his land.

The Charming Cheat

By Clara Sharpe Hough

SYNOPSIS.

Ricardo Dane visits New York in search of his aunt, Miss Filomena Stanley, his mother's half sister. Ricardo's mother had recently died and left him heir to the ranch and mountain land in Romeu valley, California, where he had spent most of his life. He intended to find his sole remaining near relative and bring her back to Romeu valley. He had understood this to be his mother's dying wish. His aunt, an actress, had been out of favor with the family, although his mother had sent her checks.

Ricardo locates a Filomena Stanley, but instead of the aged aunt he'd expected he finds a beautiful young aunt. She is living in a Bohemian studio with a Follies girl named Frances. Ricardo readily believes this lovely creature, who acknowledges the relationship. His arrival was fortunate for Filomena, who had been out of work for weeks and was in a sad state financially. Ricardo showers her with gifts and moves her into a better apartment. He moves into the same building on another floor. Webster Sutton, a college friend of Ricardo's, visits New York. He and Eunice Greenway, a girl from home who is studying in New York, are entertained by Ricardo and his aunt. Eunice is a friend of Ricardo's fiancée, Rachel Beatty. She heartily disapproves of Filomena. Web believes his friend is being trimmed and before he leaves tells him so. Ricardo learns Web was right when Filomena receives a telegram from her home stating that her father was dead. He is furious and puts Frances, who was helping Filomena pack, out of the apartment.

INSTALLMENT X.

AVENGING A WRONG.

"Your shoes," Ricardo suggested.

She glanced down at her satin slippers and silently went to the closet for more suitable footwear. Sitting on the bed with her back turned to him, she effected this change with a modesty that would have become the most virginal of maiden aunts.

Presently Ricardo said, "You know I'm here just to make sure you come back with me."

Ricardo buckled her suitcase, found her fur coat in the general litter created by the helpful Frances and assisted her into it. As he turned to unlock the door he realized that the clamor lately induced by those same helpful hands, sided by a lusty voice, had died. They emerged into an empty, silent living room.

Frances, disheveled and breathless, burst in, followed by the dark faced elevator boy in uniform and a good sized policeman.

She looked a bit taken aback at sight of the apparently unruffled pair.

"Well, how about it, miss?" demanded the policeman. "Is this the guy that was using you rough, or is he gone?"

Frances displayed the long rent in her sleeve. "I tell you he threw me out of that room," she began, still a little breathless, "and locked the door."

"She's overexcited," Ricardo explained to the policeman. "We're starting to Boston for the week-end and we had a little farewell party, you see, and she——"

"It's a lie," cried Frances, "I haven't touched a drop. I thought he was going to kill her, I tell you; why, he——"

"She looks all right," said the policeman with a benevolent eye upon the flushed face above Filomena's fur collar, "you trying to kid me?"

"We'll miss our train," said Ricardo, "and we'd hate to do that. So if you don't mind——"

"You're all right, are you, miss?" asked the policeman of Filomena, "He been treating you all right? He hasn't been doing anything you don't like?"

"You live here?" he pursued.

"This is her apartment," Ricardo explained; "I have a room downstairs, one of the singles."

"Yes, sir," supplemented the uniformed boy, "Number 27 is the gentleman. This here's number 49, Miss Stanley."

The policeman looked at Filomena for corroboration. She nodded.

"This is Miss Stanley," said Ricardo.

"And if you don't mind, we don't want to miss our train. Miss Stanley," he added, his eye on Frances, "will stop at my floor long enough for me to pick up my bag. Will you get us a taxi, Edward?"

The policeman, who had said a polite good-night in the elevator, lingered outside. When he saw the two enter a taxi and instruct the driver to go to Grand Central he went on his way satisfied.

"What can I tell them about you?" asked Filomena pathetically as they finally neared their station. She had succeeded in almost forgetting the unforgettable awful facts about Ricardo Dane, who looked so broad shouldered and dependable in the seat beside her.

He had been thoughtful and kind and considerate on the way to Boston, and on the terrible jolting local train that was now taking them to East Wellmouth. Of course, she reflected, he was being kind with the same kindness that a farmer shows toward his turkeys along in November. She turned a little cold inside, glancing at Ricardo's profile with the big nose that she once had laughed at. Whatever trait of character that nose denoted, it was nothing she would ever laugh at again. That was certain. She turned colder as she recalled again the utterly devastating moment in her bedroom with the door locked and the key in his pocket.

"What can I tell them about you?" she now asked pathetically. As Frances had pointed out unavailingly, it was a time when she should not have had to worry about Ricardo Dane and his feelings.

He turned from his contemplation of a cheerless December landscape to glance at her.

"I don't care what you tell them," he replied, with returning traces of yesterday's hardness.

"You might tell them the truth about me," he suggested, his tone just as hard and cruel as yesterday. It was all sham, the kindness and gentleness he had been showing. His courtesy on the journey, his thoughtfulness last night when she had known she wouldn't be able to sleep in the train, it was all just pretense, probably to impress porters and conductors and such people as that.

She glanced up at him again. Her eyes filmed with tears as she looked down once more.

"Don't think the truth would sound well up on Cape Cod, do you?" he asked; "you don't think they'd like to hear that I'm the man who's been keeping you in New York?"

She shook her head.

"Well, do as you please. I'll keep my mouth shut," he offered obligingly.

They sat in silence again.

Presently Ricardo said, "You know I'm here just to make sure you come back with me. I don't trust you, you see. You're coming back to New York with me because you owe me something.

"You think I can trust you?" she flared. "You say you won't trust me!"

"You've got to trust me," he returned callously. "I've got the upper hand, as it happens. I don't trust you because you've already lied to me.

"All right," she shrugged slightly, "we can talk about it—later. I—it's hard to think all these things out just now." Her eyes filled again.

"No thinking necessary," he assured her, his voice gentle and compassionate again, "you don't have to think of anything, my dear. I'm doing the thinking."

"But——"

"And I'll do the planning. You don't have to decide anything at all. I'm deciding everything." Which might have been consoling had she not known that really it was most ominous. When she could not actually know what awful things he might be planning, but had vaguely and indefinitely quite a good idea.

Few spots can be more depressing than a small summer resort in the middle of the winter. House after house with boarded windows or close drawn shutters. Lonely street after lonely deserted street. The leafless trees and frosted expanse of lawn and flower bed gives these shells of holiday gayety an even more bleak and cheerless aspect.

They drove in a station taxi along a street that on one side gave them glimpses of the chilly blue gray water of Cape Cod bay and presently drew up before a small and very ancient looking clapboard cottage inside a picket fence.

Ricardo, having given the driver the exorbitant fee he demanded, followed Filomena up the tidy graveled walk and across a narrow porch badly in need of paint.

Before them the door flew open. A tall, thin woman with smooth gray hair stood and looked at them in astonishment. She reached a hand toward Filomena.

"I must say I didn't expect you," she remarked hospitably, "but your father's better, anyway, so——"

"Why, Aunt Kay," stammered Filomena, faltering back a step, "I thought—why, the telegram—O, Aunt Kay—" And she dissolved into tears, leaning limply against Ricardo, who, incommoded by two suitcases, was quite incapacitated for rendering her any assistance.

"The telegram? Well, we were a lot more worried about him yesterday or we wouldn't have wired you. Come on in. Is this the driver?" Her eyes rested without curiosity upon Ricardo.

They followed her into a narrow hall and thence into a cozily warm living room that was so filled with furniture that there seemed no possibility of any one either getting in or being able to turn around after he got there.

They stood there, uncomfortably, in their coats, while Aunt Kay discussed the condition of Filomena's father, who had been so bad that she had told Gert to send a wire saying he was very low and she'd better come home.

Filomena, mopping at her eyes with a damp ball of a handkerchief, sniffed audibly as she said, "the telegram said he was—he was dead, Aunt Kay."

"If that isn't a shame," said Aunt Kay. "I call that a downright shame. To scare you like that. That Gert—you know how she is—probably she thought——"

"It's no matter," returned Filomena chokily, "it's no matter, really. Only that I—I—well, I can go back again," she ended in a sob, dabbing at her reddening eyes and nose in utter despair.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

A Pitiful Request for Help.

"My wife and I, without any income, are in a home for incurables. There is a great deal of sewing and mending to be done, and my wife is so nervous it is difficult for her to sew by hand. I wonder if among your readers there is some one who has a light, portable sewing machine which can be attached to the table or stand which we could have. T. S."

These elderly people have no means whatsoever of securing for themselves the articles they need and must rely upon the generosity of friends when such needs present themselves. Can you help in this instance?

Modern Schools Are Eliminating the Old Competitive Feeling

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Many parents hold as an ideal a picture of their young son or daughter as a leader—a leader in sports, or in school work, or socially. Schools, too, try to develop leadership among their pupils.

But many schools of the progressive sort make a special effort to protect their pupils from the effects of a leader. Competitive school work even is eliminated, not to mention competitive sports. The best effort of each child, irrespective of the other children, is the aim of the teacher.

It is interesting to hear these children talk. One of them said the other day, after a complimentary remark had been made about a drawing of his, "Yes, I can draw birds pretty well, and you ought to see the horses Tom draws and the fish Bill draws. They're swell!" A desire to do well himself and at the same time a pleasure in another person's ability to do well was very evident and refreshing to hear.

In this school there is no pitting of one child against another; the emphasis is not put on who can do this best or that best, who is best in geography or arithmetic or history—but on whether each one is doing the best he is capable of.

Perhaps it is true that competition does enter into life later on, at least for men. But if it can be suppressed on the child that his aim should be his own best, and not better than Tom or Dick or Harry, he will be helped to achieve real self-fulfillment and not a hectic effort to do some one better.

Many of our finest artists and musicians and inventors and executives achieved preëminence not from a desire to be a leader and to get to the top but through the impulse to give of their best to the job—whether it was to paint, to compose, to invent, to manage a business.

That is a fine desire to inculcate in a child—a fine goal and a sufficient one.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Cleanliness Always Suggests Feminine Beauty, Says Expert

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Beauty makes itself felt not only through form, but through suggestion."

A good line, isn't it? You can think offhand of girls and women you know who work their charms through suggestion, rather than form. You are not particularly conscious of form, by which is meant the physical details such as silhouette, hair, complexion, and so on. You just like to look at them. There is "something about them," as you no doubt have, yourself, remarked—or have heard your menfolk remark.

Men, I believe, are more responsive to the beauty suggestion appeal. Women, latterly anyway, have got into the way of analyzing coldly feature for feature, line for line, limb for limb.

If you ask me to what one outstanding appeal is this thing of suggestion based on, I would say exquisite cleanliness with, perhaps, a tantalizing bit of scent thrown in for good measure. I am not referring to the daily bath observance, because it goes without saying it is taken. I refer more to fresh, exquisite lingerie with the faint fragrance that is attached to a fastidious woman's dresser drawers.

To put it more baldly, there are women who suggest exquisite cleanliness of underthings; and women who suggest—well, the question of being none too nice about their underthings. I recall discussing a certain woman of importance in her line with a celebrated modiste. I ventured that the person under discussion always gave me the impression of being rather soiled looking.

The modiste said: "She is. Soiled clean through to the skin, and it's none too clean."

Anyway, that's what is meant by suggestion pro or con. And it isn't one of the things you either have or you haven't. It is the one beauty avenue wide open to whatever woman would embrace it. Your laundress, just as well as your social registrate friend, may carry this aura of refreshing charm. I speak of the laundress because I had one who exemplified it beautifully. She wasn't a scented charmer, I will admit—but she simply breathed cleanliness.

The lingerie purchasable today at minimum cost, which some one calls the ultimate expression of femininity, is only the ultimate expression of femininity when it is just that.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

I wonder if Freud was a good bridge player. He really should have been, for contract bridge is running a gamut of all the sciences. In the days of auction we merely toyed with mathematics. Contract has added psychology. Somehow the average player has struggled through all this. Any day I expect some one to call in differential calculus to explain the various probabilities of the distribution. When this is done most of us will stop playing the game entirely.

Yesterday's play-a-problem, however, remained in the simpler stages of psychology. The bidding was quite ordinary, but in the play the declarer, through his knowledge of his opponents' mental processes, was able to make an otherwise unattainable result. This was the hand:

NORTH
♠—J,10,7,6,5
♥—J,8,5
♦—7,6,3
♣—A,2

WEST (Dealer)
♠—Q,2
♥—A,Q,9
♦—A,K,5
♣—Q,10,9,8,7

EAST
♠—A,9,3
♥—K,10,6
♦—J,9,4,2

SOUTH
♠—K,8,4
♥—7,4,3,2
♦—Q,10,8
♣—K,4,3

West dealt and bid one no-trump. North passed. East raised to two no-trumps. It is worth noting that East had a fair minimum raise—a no-trump count of 9. South passed and West went to three no-trumps, since he had more than sufficient strength for a rebid, and all passed.

Now let's see if you can spot the particular play of West's that makes this hand at all notable. I am first going to give you the play before explaining it.

North opened the ♠ 6, dummy played the 3, South the K, and West the 2. South then led back the ♠ 8, which declarer captured with the Q, North playing the 5 and dummy the 9. West then led the ♥ 9, North played the 5, dummy the K, and South the 2. Dummy returned the ♣ 5, South played the 3, declarer the 7, and North the 2. Declarer then led the ♣ 8, North was forced to play his A, dummy played the 6, and South the 4. Now North led the ♠ 7, dummy played the A, South the 4, and West discarded the ♦ 5. Dummy led the ♣ J, which South captured with the K, declarer playing the ♣ 9, and North discarding the ♦ 3.

South now played the ♥ 3, which declarer took with the ♥ Q. Declarer then took the next five tricks in his own hand by leading out the ♥ A, ♣ Q, ♣ 10, ♦ A, and ♦ K in that order.

Of course, I know you got it. But at the risk of being obvious I will explain the principal play. It occurred at tricks 3 and 4.

Declarer sees that in order to make his game he must set up his clubs. He also knows that any club entry that North holds must be taken out before the declarer loses the spade stop in dummy. After dummy's spade stop is taken out three rounds of spades will have been played and therefore West does not suppose South will hold any more spades and so does not mind South obtaining the lead. For this reason declarer goes over to dummy at trick 3 with the ♥ K. He then leads a low club from dummy. If he had made the mistake and led the J, South would almost surely have covered. This meant that North would have ducked the play. South could lead a spade and rob dummy of the last stop in spades, leaving North with a stop in clubs and an entry for his spade suit. By leading low, though, South is almost certain to play low. West, covering, tries to force out North's entry at trick 4. North avoids this by ducking the first time, but the second time is forced in with the ♣ A. The North hand is now helpless and West proceeds to take his game.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3, H. K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Send your bridge problems to Charles True Adams, The Chicago Tribune; inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Critic Advises Visits to Two New Exhibits

Praises Carson Pirie and Camera Club Shows.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There are two interesting exhibitions which have just opened within a block or so of each other. The Chicago Camera club, 137 North Wabash avenue, is showing prints from the twenty-sixth international photographic salon held last year in Paris, and the Carson Pirie Scott galleries, which have moved into new quarters on the sixth floor, are celebrating their opening with an exhibit of recent paintings in oil and water color by J. Theodore Johnson, who has just returned from five years of study in Paris. So we are getting Parisian influences from left and right.

There are 197 prints in the Camera club show, chosen by George H. High of Chicago from the 735 prints shown in Paris, these being in his opinion the most representative of the several countries concerned in the exhibition. The president of the French republic, M. Doumer, liked particularly the three charming and delicate prints by Jan de Meyer, a Swedish artist whose soft pictures resemble pencil drawings. The Jan de Meyer prints are here and they are among the most delicate and lovely shown.

There are a number of fine documentary pictures in the exhibit and a number of excellent portraits and still life studies. Paris uses photography in advertising to a greater extent than we do, so it is not surprising to find several chic advertisements. The print of sea gulls is worth seeing and the gorgeous magnified butterfly's wing, as well as the flower with a bee in its heart. The landscape and figure photography is also very impressive.

The paintings by J. Theodore Johnson in the Carson Pirie Scott gallery are a vivid splash of color after the soft tones of the Camera show. Mr. Johnson has made decided progress. His water colors are glittering and alive. His oils are less vivacious but none the less forceful. His studies of fruit and flowers are particularly stunning. The portraits are interesting. This is solid work. The lovely quai scene by the Seine is possibly the most beautiful canvas in the exhibit, but the whole exhibit is well worth seeing.

Medical Student Is Pulled 'Twixt Duty and Love for a Girl

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He is a medical student with three years' more school work. He's 22 years old. The girl is two years older. They're madly in love. She has a good position; the student a small income from some sideline work.

The girl suggests they pool their incomes, marry at once, and gamble on working out their future successfully. The boy's father's business is on the rocks. The boy feels obligated to stay single and help his dad out. Also, he does not think it fair to let the girl make the sacrifices an immediate marriage would involve.

He's trying to be practical and is—away from the girl. With her—love won't let him employ common sense reasoning.

I recall awhile ago in this department there arose the question of the wisdom of the young professional marrying before he had established an income. The consensus of experience confessions at the time was against the early marriage. Those who married while the man was still a student and those who waited until he was established wrote.

The consensus was that while waiting had its hazards, it was better to wait. Some, of course, reported that the school day marriage turned out successfully, but these invariably paid tribute to the high character and fine sense of humor of the parties involved.

There were sour notes in the reports chiefly from women who felt their sacrifices had been in vain. And there were confessions, not sour, nevertheless regretting the hasty marriage plunge and the complicated problems ensuing.

The thing, therefore, boils itself down to the immediate two concerned, their love, their loyalty, and their power of appreciation.

An outside element is introduced in the particular instance submitted today: The father's need of the boy's financial assistance—a duty under the current depression circumstances to be met with appreciation, we think, for those many years of paternal kindness and care.

The fact that the boy feels a responsibility toward his family would indicate the sort of character worth waiting for—if waiting is decided upon.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germladen phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

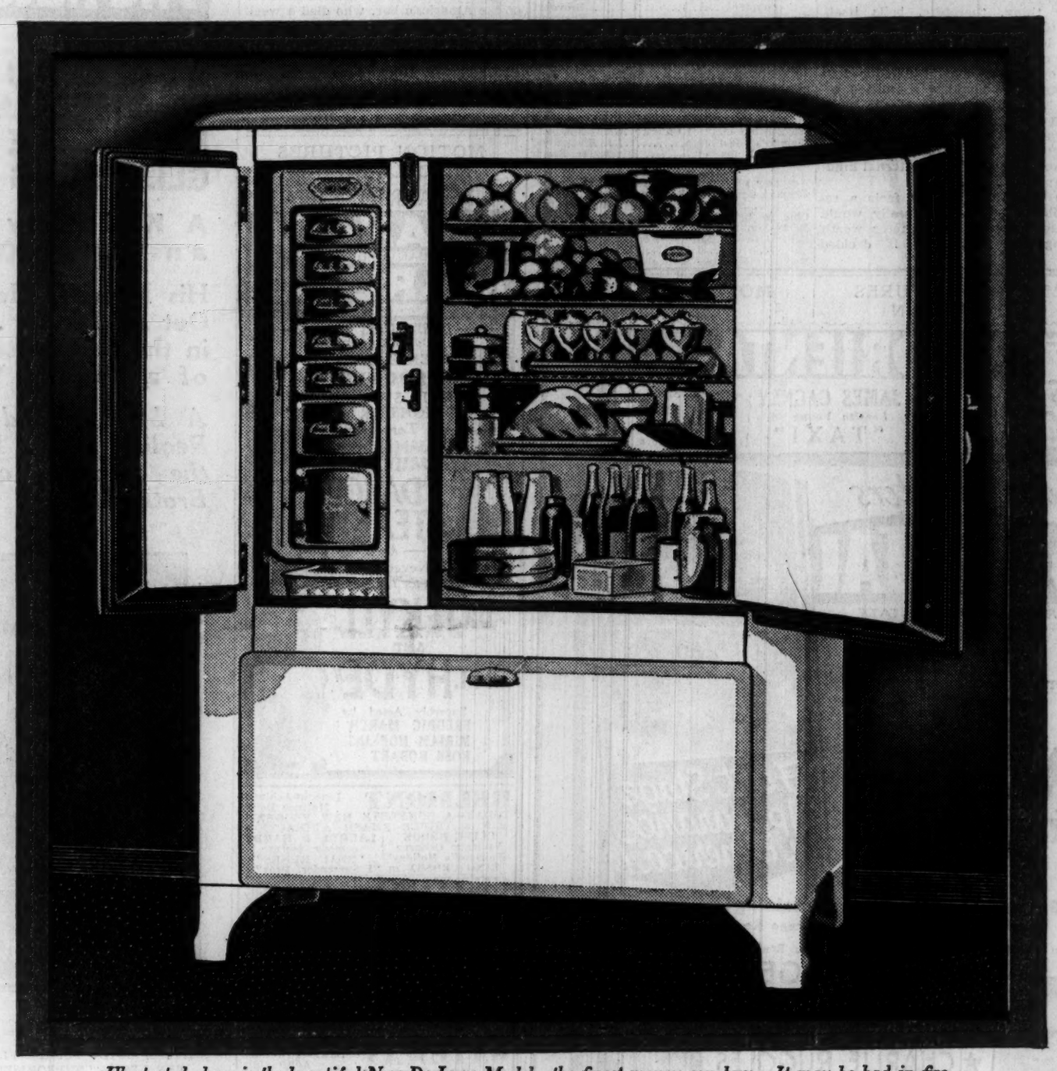
Kelvinator

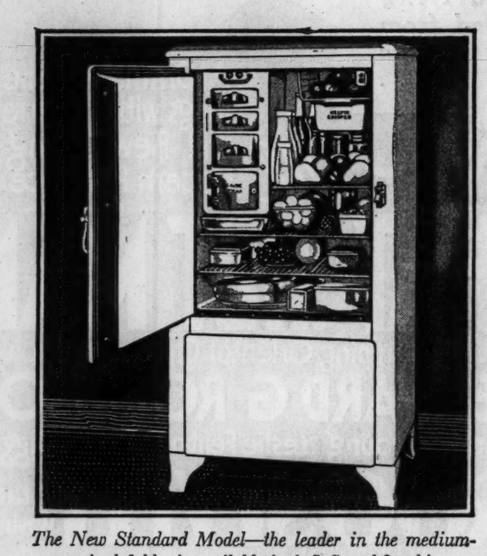
Announces 17 Beautiful New Models

-at new low prices

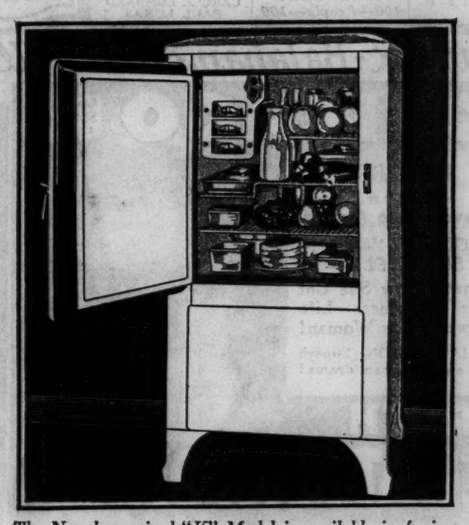
To those Kelvinator Owners who bought their Kelvinators five, ten and even fifteen years ago—and to all prospective purchasers of an electric refrigerator, we extend a cordial invitation to come and see the many important engineering developments and the numerous design refinements Kelvinator has embodied in the seventeen new 1932 Models.



Illustrated above is the beautiful New De Luxe Model—the finest money can buy. It may be had in five sizes, from 6 to 22-cubic feet food storage capacity.



The New Standard Model—the leader in the medium-priced field—is available in 4, 5, 7 and 9-cubic feet food storage capacity.



The New low-priced "K" Model is available in 4 sizes in all-porcelain or with porcelain interior and lacquer exterior.

The New Line of 17 different Models is not only the most complete, but also the finest Kelvinator has offered in 18 years devoted entirely to electric refrigeration. . . . The New De Luxe and Standard Models are the only fully automatic electric refrigerators. In them you have four separate, distinct temperatures—each serving a different purpose—and each automatically controlled. There are no dials to set. Nothing to remember or forget. There is no danger of freezing the contents of the food compartment. . . . But this exclusive feature, even though it is the most important and the most desirable feature on an electric refrigerator, is only one of several notable engineering developments you will find in these New Models. The Kold-Keeper, which serves as a reservoir of cold; the Frost Chest, for keeping fish, meats and game, and the World's Fastest Freezing Speed, from water to ice in the average time of 80 minutes, are others which make Kelvinator such an entirely satisfactory electric refrigerator to own. . . . The New low-priced "K" Models differ from the larger, more expensive Models only in the number of features. In all other respects, they have the same fine craftsmanship, the same quality and the same performance standards that have earned for Kelvinator the reputation of being "the soundest value, dollar-for-dollar, in electric refrigeration". . . . You are cordially invited to visit the Kelvinator representative nearest you to see these fine New Kelvinator Models. Kelvinator Sales Corporation, Detroit, Michigan.

SPEED SKATERS, HOCKEY TEAMS BEGIN PROGRAM

Gov. Roosevelt to Make Speech.

Today's Program

10:30 a. m.—500 meter speed skating trials.

11 a. m.—Hockey, United States vs. Canada.

2:15 p. m.—5,000 meter speed skating trials.

2:45 p. m.—Hockey, Germany vs. Poland.

3 p. m.—5,000 meter speed skating finals.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—The 1932 renewal of the Olympic games, which were revived and modernized just before the turn of the century to promote friendship, chivalry, and respect between the nations, will begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the snowy village of Lake Placid, in the Adirondack mountains of New York.

The first display will be the parade of the athletes, under their respective colors, in the Olympic Winter stadium, and the recitation of the Olympic oath of amateurism and sportsmanship by Jack Shea, an American youth, a Dartmouth student, and a resident of Lake Placid, on behalf of the entire body of competitors.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will deliver an oration, the pageant will dissolve, and the winter games, preliminary to the summer games, which will be held in Los Angeles, will begin with a 500 meter skating race.

354—Cound 'Em—354.

There will be 354 athletes, lacking a few, in the inaugural ceremonies. One of the German bobsled men, Albert Brehme, suffered a fracture of the skull in a spill during a practice slide, and is not likely to be about before the games end on Feb. 13. Several other German bobsled men were hurt in this accident, and some of them may also be missing from the opening exercises.

The Norwegians are believed to have the strongest team in the meet, and are likely to score more points than any of the other nations. Their skiers, both on the jumps and on the runs, are about the best in the world, and their jumpers casually established new records for the Lake Placid jump in their first practice.

The American team is the most numerous, with 79 members. There are 40 in the Canadian group, which, however, unlike the American team, has not entered all the competitive events. The Norwegians have the largest European team with 25 entrants. There are, all told, 17 competing nations, including Japan, with a team of 22 men.

It's Third Winter Meet.

This will be the third holding of the winter games of the Olympics. The track and field sports made up the entire program when the games were revived, with such high and hopeful purpose, only to be interrupted and then circumvented by the greatest war in history; but in 1924 a winter competition was conducted at Chamonix, in the Alps, as an unofficial section of the Olympic games. The results of this meeting were later canonized by the international Olympic committee, retroactively, and the winter games of St. Moritz in 1928 were premeditated and fully recognized beforehand as a part of the Olympic program.

There is no official point scoring system in any branch of the Olympics, but it is customary to score points, nevertheless, either ten points or six being awarded for a first place, five for a second, and so on down to one point for sixth place.

Skaters Start It.

The athletics of the morning program will consist of three heats of the 500 meter skating race for men, followed by a hockey game and the 500 meter final. In the afternoon there will be heats in the 5,000 meter race, another hockey game, and the 5,000 meter final.

From the formal opening until the finish the sport will continue by day and in the evenings indoors and out, in an adjusted program of formal competitions and noncompetitive exhibitions. The climax, of course, will be the ski jumps and the bob races next week, these being the more spectacular and more dangerous pursuits. The bob run down Mount Van Hoevenberg, an engineered slide, at times consisting of a trough in the hillside, and at all times presenting a glare ice surface purposely watered with a spraying apparatus to increase the speed and the hazard, is supposed to be the fastest and the most dangerous in the world.

It's Different in Europe.

The European bobsled men are accustomed to the same conditions, with this exception, that they have been used to coasting on a layer of snow

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Toronto's Maple Leafs, leaders in the Canadian division of the National Hockey league, can't shake off the costly habit of being first cousins to Chicago's Blackhawks. They succumbed again at the Stadium last night by a sad 7 to 0 score that bereft them of their reputation as point producers.

The Maple Leaf combination took a jolt before the entertainment was two minutes old and they never recovered. With the Hawks ahead, 2 to 0, when the second period started the Canadians were forced to abandon a regulation defense in favor of a concerted attack. This offense not only netted them nothing but made it simple for the seemingly inspired Hawks to stage a scoring spree that grew monotonous.

Thompson Is Hero.

What little honor remained after Goalie Chuck Gardiner's impregnable defense was cornered by Paul Thompson, the Hawk forward. Thompson began a large evening for himself by registering Chicago's second goal in the opening period. Then he violated all known rules of the hockey union by scoring three points in a row in the second and third periods.

The Hawks opened the evening's work with the choicest bits of their offensive in operation. Therefore their initial goal in 1:40 wasn't surprising. Before this they had played almost exclusively in Maple Leaf territory.

The scoring episode started with one of those customary jamborees in front of Toronto's cage. March took a shot and the disc bounced back. Thompson then drove at Goalie Chabot, who stretched on the ice as he slapped the puck back whence it came. Then, with the net still without a sentry, Cook slapped in the score.

Thompson's Solo Clicks.

The Hawks' second goal was exclusively a Thompson affair. He picked up the rubber as it rebounded from Goalie Gardiner and started down left ice with it. Just after getting inside the blue line he let loose a long drive which sailed in waist high. Goalie Chabot tried to slap it back with his hand but missed. The time was 18:40.

The Canadians fairly inundated the Hawks' net with futile shots during the first few minutes of the second period. It was here that Gardiner was at his best. The battling was so fierce that the penalty box was well patronized. After five minutes of play Day was benched for tripping Ripley. Before Day was released from confinement Gottselig and Finnigan were ousted for staging an impromptu wrestling match behind the visitors' net.

The first of two Hawk goals in this period was a surprise affair. Holmes passed directly across the ice from right to left. Lowrey put his stick against the rubber, stalled for a moment, and then spanked a line drive into the cage. This happened in nine minutes of play. At 11:30 Thompson came drifting down the ice and encountered a Wentworth drive, which had bounced off Cabot's foot. Before the goalie could recover his balance Thompson hammered the disc past him, to make the score 4 to 0.

Get Three More.

Two Hawks and two Canadiens were in the box with hangover penalties when the last period started. This shortage didn't annoy the Chicagoans. In 25 seconds of play, Boucher took the puck along the right fence and passed to Thompson on the opposite side. With no defense men to annoy him, Thompson glided close up to the net and slapped in the fifth point.

Thompson hung up his third straight goal and the Hawks' sixth in 15 minutes of the last period. He was almost in front of the net when a pass from Wentworth skidded along. A short jab sent it past Chabot, the weary goalie. At 17:10 Gottselig duplicated Thompson's goal after a pass from Couture.

WEDDING BELLS

Tom Yarr, captain and center of Notre Dame's football team last year, married Miss Rosemary Killen of Chicago yesterday at St. Mel's church. Yarr, who finished his studies last week, is now assistant coach in the athletic department at Notre Dame.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

The signing of a ball player isn't regarded as hot news at a time when we are talking China and Golden Gloves. But when it marks the start of a player's thirtieth year in the game, that's something else. I refer to John Picus Quinn, Brooklyn's antediluvian spitballer, who came to terms the other day after obtaining a salary increase. Last year he won five games and had an earned run average of 2.67.

JACK QUINN.

Quinn, who broke into the game in 1903 in the Pennsylvania State league, is the marvel of the age for durability and dependability. When he entered professional baseball nobody had heard of Babe Ruth, for he was only 9 years old. Woody English of the Cubs had not been born. Hans Wagner was the leading hitter of the National league in those days, and Jimmy Sheckard was the long range clouter. Ty Cobb had not arrived at Augusta, Ga., to start one of baseball's most brilliant careers. Christy Mathewson was the pitcher every fan wanted to see.

All of these old timers have passed from the game. Mathewson is dead.

Nobody probably ever will know Quinn's real age. According to the record books he is 47, but men who have been following baseball for years say he is well over 50.

And he still is good enough to merit a raise.

Set amid the snow and ice of the Adirondacks, the Olympic games open today at Lake Placid. They will be finished next August under a California sun.

This is the second time the greatest of all international sports competition has been held in the United States. The 1904 games were run off in St. Louis.

The program for the winter Olympics includes skating, skiing, hockey, curling, and bobsled riding. These events, of course, are only a merry prelude to the track and field contests to be decided at Los Angeles in August, but they will attract more interest than usual, thanks to the splendid stories the last few day by Westbrook Pegler and Edward Neil. These gentlemen have helped to inform the world that even a bobsled ride when it involves world-wide competition is packed with thrills.

America's biggest assignment is to retain its supremacy on the track. Taking the lead at the revival of the games at Athens in 1896, Uncle Sam's athletes have hurled back the challenge of the world time after time. But it has been increasingly difficult with the years.

Other nations have been coming along fast. In the 1920 games at Antwerp we won only three firsts in running events. The situation was considered alarming when we failed to better our record in the 1924 meet at Paris. But the 1928 games at Antwerp showed clearly that we were going back rapidly when we won only one race. Ray Barbuti of Syracuse university, who outsped the world's fastest over 400 meters, was the lone American winner.

Apparently we have a fine field of sprinters and middle distance men for the 1932 races. But if history means anything, it is entirely too early to pat ourselves on the back. This year we may be shut out altogether.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Young Jake Schaefer, wizard of billiards, made the greatest shot of the world's three cushion championship tournament at Mussey's amphitheater last night when he killed off the title hopes of Gus Copulos of Eugene, Ore., 50 to 21.

The shot which startled every spectator came in the 29th inning when Schaefer was shooting for his 43d point at a time when he had Copulos hopelessly whipped already.

Makes Dead Ball Draw.

The first object ball was close to the side rail and half way from each end. His cue ball was about an inch away. The second object ball was frozen to the lower end rail.

Schaefer made a dead ball draw and pulled his cue ball across the table without striking the first cushion. The cue ball went into the opposite corner, swung out sharply to miss a kiss on the first object ball and then it caromed smoothly down the table to make a perfect hit on the second object ball.

The shot was negotiated so perfectly it seemed easy to many in the crowd. That Schaefer, long the king of balkliners, would resort to such a daring shot shocked the followers of the three cushion angle game. For the shot had to have speed as well as perfect timing in order to escape an obvious kiss with the first object ball. As a result the shot was far off angle, which amazed the three cushion experts all the more.

Schaefer knew it was a most unusual shot which confronted him. He studied it for five minutes. Then when he got in position to execute it he stroked for more than a minute, which seemed like an hour before he followed through.

Schaefer, with no chance to do better than tie for fourth place, has

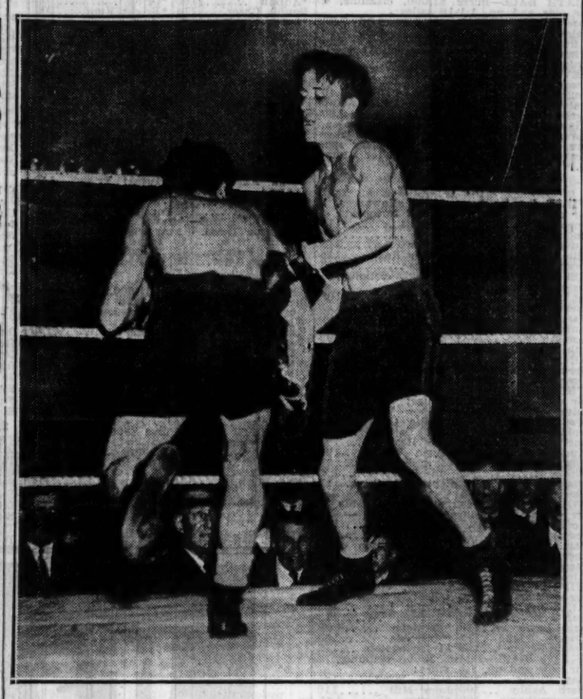
SPORTSMANSHIP



Golden Gloves candidates overlook no detail in their preparation for the championship competition and, least of all, sportsmanship. When Jerry Mulcahy (right) knocked Charles Cassolo through the ropes in the bout at Viking temple last night he waived a chance to knock out Cassolo by stopping to help him back into the ring. Cassolo won the decision. It's the game, not the reward, with these boys.

Golden Gloves Boy Wins on Viking Card

Merrill Tonn, heavyweight alternate on THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves squad last year, defeated Tony Susnis last night in the weekly amateur boxing show at the Viking temple, 69th street and Emerald avenue. Tonn floored Susnis for short counts in the second and third rounds.

There were two knockout victories, Orville Welch, south side welterweight, winning over Smitty Chapman in the second round, and Stanley Doman finishing Albert Sholander in the second round. Other results:

Hank Rinkus beat Lawrence Rago [3].
Charles Casollo beat Jerry Mulcahy [3].
Russell Nyberg beat Edward Taylor [3].
Maurice Bauman beat Charles McCarty.

THREE WIN BY KNOCKOUTS.

Three knockouts featured the boxing show at the unemployment shelter at 1210 South Morgan street last night as Chicago's amateur boxers continued preparations for THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament.

Frank Allen, a welterweight, knocked out Leonard Fister in the second round. Jack Brosman knocked out James Murray in the first round, and Frank Hatch also scored a one round knockout over Henry Orun.

SEVEN IN KOKOMO FINALS.

Kokomo, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Seven boxers fought their way to the finals of the second annual Kokomo Tribune-CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves boxing tournament here tonight before a capacity crowd of 2,000 at the Sipe theater arena. The winners of tonight's bouts will meet fighters of six other nearby towns here on Feb. 17 and 18.

The boxers who will represent Kokomo in the finals here are Francis Des Champs, flyweight; Leonard Mills, bantamweight; George Stewart, featherweight; Bernard Federstill, lightweight; Henry Zugelder, welterweight; Elmer Tuggle, middleweight, and George Scott, light heavyweight. There was no competition in the heavyweight division.

Levinsky Signs to Box Dempsey on Stadium Card

Mrs. Lena Levy, manager and sister of King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, yesterday signed a contract for Levinsky to meet Jack Dempsey in a four round bout on Feb. 18 in the Chicago Stadium.

Mrs. Levy's consent was not obtained until after a three hour conference, in which the Stadium steadfastly refused to pay more than $5,000 for 12 minutes of effort. Mrs. Levy demanded $7,500.

Levinsky has made arrangements to begin work at George Trafton's gym tomorrow. Dempsey will arrive Saturday morning, and will work out at Kid Howard's in the afternoon.

Dempsey has a date at the N. B. A. office Saturday morning to straighten out a claim of the Mississippi boxing commission. He will go to Milwaukee Saturday night or Sunday for a four round bout there on Monday, but will work Tuesday and Wednesday at Howard's, after which he will go to Cleveland. Jack has another appearance in Flint, Mich., on Feb. 15 and will be here the following day to finish training for Levinsky.

The bout will be fought with regular fighting gloves, not to exceed 10 ounces in weight. Sacks said Dempsey would enter the ring to fight Levinsky in the same manner as if he were fighting for the championship.

Indiana Uses Big Ten Receipts to Feed Children

Hewitt, secretary of the Indiana Unemployment commission. Soup kitchens will be set up at Bicknell, Jasonville, near Terre Haute, in districts in Sullivan county and at Clinton.

TRUSTEES ACCEPT AMERICAN LEAGUE CUP CHALLENGE

Await National Hockey Group's Answer.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The American Hockey league's challenge to the National league for a series of interleague games to determine the professional hockey championship of North America was accepted today by trustees of the Stanley cup. William Foran, Stanley cup trustee, who made the announcement, said he had forwarded the challenge to Frank Calder, president of the National league.

The cup, donated by Lord Stanley, was won last year by the Montreal Canadiens, winners of the Canadian and American divisions of the National league. According to plans, the cup will be awarded to the victor of the proposed interleague series.

If the National league accepts the challenge it will determine its champion by pitting the winner of the American division against the Canadian titleholder and eliminating the playoff among second and third place teams.

Canadiens Are Champs.

By a new plan adopted last year six of the ten teams in the National league compete in the Stanley cup playoffs. The Canadiens defeated the Chicago Blackhawks in the finals for the cup last year.

The American league, now operating with five clubs, Buffalo having dropped out of the circuit last week, has been regarded as an outlaw circuit by the National league.

How the National league will react to the challenge could not be learned today.

President William F. Grant of the American league refused to make a statement. Kansas City at present is leading the American league. Last year the championship was won by the Tulsa Oilers.

CALDER RECEIVES CHALLENGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—William Foran, Stanley cup trustee, today said he had sent the American Hockey league challenge to President Frank Calder of the National league at Montreal.

Reports that the Canadian-Hockey league also had voted to challenge the National league, were denied by Foran.

Blackhawks Sign Trapp, Williams, Defense Men

Burr Williams and Bob Trapp, both defense men, who until last night were members of American Hockey league clubs, have been signed by the Chicago Blackhawks, it was announced late last night by officials of the Hawks.

Williams appeared with the St. Louis Fliers and Trapp with the Tulsa Oilers in last night's game at Tulsa, Okla. The Hawks officials said they signed the pair because they had become free agents through failure of their respective owners to pay their salaries.

MY DANDY WINS HANDICAP FROM STREET SINGER

Allen Up in Feature at Hialeah Park.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—My Dandy, carrying the colors of W. C. and E. W. Reichert, won the Musa Isle handicap, feature at Hialeah Park, today. Street Singer was second and Royal Ruffin third. C. E. Allen rode My Dandy.

My Dandy broke fast and was sent to the front at once, but just lasted for the mile, beating Street Singer by a slight head in the fast time of 1:37 3-5. The Greentree stable's Espinaca forced the pace to the stretch and stopped. Royal Ruffin closed fast and was beaten a length for place. The winner paid $3.40.

Trombone Wins Easily.

C. W. Ogle's Trombone, slight favorite over Marshall Field's Nansen, scored by three lengths over the Field horse in the fourth race. G. D. Widener's Blackmock was third, a head in front of My Purchase. The time for seven furlongs was 1:24 2-5, and the winner paid $5. Disposing of the tiring My Purchase early, Trombone went to the front and was drawing away at the end.

Red Face Gallops In.

Coming from behind the pack, Red Face galloped to a six lengths victory in the mile and an eighth of the third. A field of nine faced the barrier, with Chicago Girl, the early pacemaker, saving the place. Fair Albert was a fast closing third.

Genial Host, the public choice, raced forwardly for six furlongs, but dropped back in the final drive. The winner returned $6.60 and stepped the route in 1:54 flat.

Purdue Beats Marquette Five, 26-23

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Purdue made a clean sweep of its nonconference schedule here tonight by defeating Marquette, 26 to 23, in a game in which both teams showed the effects of the recess from drill due to final examinations. Marquette showed surprising power and played Purdue to a standstill in the first half, earning a 15 to 12 lead at the intermission.

Purdue Takes Lead.

Purdue went into the lead for the first time at the start of the second half, when baskets by Dornte and Stewart gave the Boilermakers a 16 to 15 margin. The remainder of the game was a seesaw battle until Harry Kellar, who directed the Purdue attack during the evening, managed to break through for a field goal that gave Purdue a 24 to 22 lead.

The Boilermakers then attempted to draw Marquette's defense out with a passing game in deep court, but the Hilltoppers rushed and Porter fouled Shipley, who made good at the free throw line to cut the margin to 24 to 23.

Stewart Clinches It.

A wild scramble under the Purdue basket in the closing second finally resulted in the Boilermakers securing the ball, and Stewart staged a wild rush down the middle of the floor through the disorganized Marquette defense to sink a field goal and clinch the game just as the game ended.

White Brudunas, Marquette center, and Johnny Wooden, Purdue co-captain, tied for high point honors of the game with nine points each. Lineup:

packed on the ice. The snow gives their bob runners some resistance and though it does retard the speed, it also enables the men to keep their sleds on the run. The same conditions are theoretical at Mount Van Hoevenberg, but only theoretical. There has not been enough snow in the Adirondacks to maintain a cushion on the slide and the two accidents to the German sleds in practice runs were due to this lack.

A special train in addition to the regular Lake Placid cars regularly attached to the Cleveland train was sent out of New York this evening carrying spectators for the opening spectacle. Other visitors were converging on the town from Boston, from Canadian cities, and from upstate New York by train and by automobile, the roads being kept clear except in the worst winter weather.

Nevertheless, the games are likely to be a financial flop not only because of the depression but also because there are comparatively few Americans who are familiar with winter sports or so fond of cold weather as to go out of their way to seek it.

It Cost $1,500,000.

However, the great expense of building the varied plant for the Placid Olympics, including the bob run and the indoor ice stadium, estimated at $1,500,000, probably will be recouped in years to come as this year's display engenders an interest in winter sports.

Championships will be decided in 14 divisions of five sports, speed, and figure skating, hockey, ski running and jumping, and bob sledding, but the quality of the performances will depend largely on the state of the weather, which has been entirely too lenient thus far.

The Norwegians are the defending champions on the ice and they are expected to retain the team championship, but the American bobsled teams apparently have no dangerous challengers in the dash down the twisting run of one and one-half miles and should win not only first, but second, in each event.

The misfortune of the draw will eliminate one of the two best teams from the hockey competition in the first official match which brings together the teams from Canada and the United States. The winner of this game should have no great trouble in winning through to the championship.

Lake Placid, a little mountain town which lives on sport the year around, will be bright with the colors of not only the 17 competing nations, but of the most spectacular costumes ever designed for sport. The New York shops have been promoting ski costumes for women spectators of the Olympic games for several weeks and the designers wore out their color cards achieving some of their effects.

Catcher Jolley Returns Signed Contract to Sox

Smead Jolley, listed on the White Sox roster as a catcher and outfielder, was revealed yesterday as among those whose signed contracts are back in the club offices.

Vice President Harry Grabiner found the document after his return from the New York meeting, where he discovered progress wasn't possible in the proposed deal that would move Pitcher Al Thomas to the Yankees in exchange for Infielder Tony Lazzeri. However, the proposition may be taken up at a later date, provided the Yanks in the meantime do not acquire the experienced pitcher they want.

LUCKILY most of us know very little about dice. For the uninitiated let us explain that "seven" is a "natural"—and a "natural" means you win. Possibly you're wondering what these girls had at stake. It may surprise you to know they gambled—not for merchandise—but for a man.

You see it was this way. Brother's room mate—a chap named Harry—appeared unexpectedly in town on the eve of a party. It was clearly up to sister to find him a partner. But she and her friends had met Harry before. Harry isn't particular about shaving. Somebody had to take him so sister and her closest friend left it to the dice. Well—it's not a heartbreak—but sister lost.

This message is not alone for Harry and the many like him. There are thousands of men—and possibly you are one—who keep clean shaven at the price of considerable discomfort. In cases like this improper shaving methods are at fault. Today there's no reason to shun your razor. The razor blade Gillette is now making glides freely across your face without a trace of pull or burn. Daily or twice daily use won't irritate the tenderest skin.

We give you our word—this is the sharpest blade we have ever produced. Try the Gillette on our positive money-back guarantee. Buy a supply today.

Six Day Bicycle Riders Arrive Here Tomorrow

All the foreign and American six day bicycle stars scheduled to compete in Chicago's twenty-seventh international race, which starts in the Stadium Sunday night, will leave New York today and arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning. The foreign riders came from Europe on different boats, and it was necessary to wait until they had all arrived before entraining for here.

Foreign bicycle stars are enthusiastic in their praises of Jean Pijnenburg, stocky little Hollander, who will make his initial appearance in this race. He comes here with a great record, and all the foreign riders, as well as the Americans, who have witnessed him compete in Europe, say he is a star. Pijnenburg in a stretch of a little more than a year has won four races in Europe, and finished second in four. In the coming race Pijnenburg will ride with Adolphe Van Nevele of Belgium.

McNamara and Horan, Walthour and Grimm, Stockholm and Hill, Georgetti and Spencer, Ritter and Walthour are favored for first honors throughout the week.

The time for the early morning sprints have been moved back to their old time and will be held at 2 a. m., instead of 12:30 a. m., as was the case in the last race.

Loyola Faces Veterans in Carroll Game

Loyola university's basketball team will seek its fourteenth victory of the season tomorrow night at the Loyola gymnasium, playing the undefeated Carroll college five of Waukesha, Wis.

Carroll, champion of the Little Four conference for the last two years, has won six consecutive games this year, from Cornell, Milton, Lake Forest, Beloit, Lawrence, and Ripon. It has a veteran team, the one which defeated Loyola, 33 to 22, last year.

Four Are Chicagoans.

Four Chicago boys will appear in the Carroll starting lineup. August Vander Meulen, center; Don Hinckley and Paul Clarkson, forwards, are three year men, while Vincent Johnson is playing his second year at guard. Norman Jansen, a junior from Niagara, Wis., completes the starting lineup. Vander Meulen and Hinckley won individual scoring honors in the conference last year, with 85 and 79 points, respectively.

Loyola Is Unbeaten at Home.

Loyola is still undefeated on its home court this year and has won 13 of its 15 games. The Ramblers finish their season a week from Friday when Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich., which broke the Loyola winning streak at nine straight, play a return game at the Loyola gym.

If Loyola wins one of its remaining two games, the season will be the second most successful in the history of the sport at the school. Loyola in 1928-'29 was undefeated in 16 games.

been the sensation of the tournament. He is the only player who has beaten Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, who is in first place in the title chase. He beat Reiselt in 40 innings just as cruelly as he eliminated Copulos last night. He beat Bud Westhus, 50 to 23, in 31 innings in the shortest of the tournament. His victory over Copulos last night in 33 innings was the second shortest game of the tournament.

Copulos, who has been fighting a heroic uphill battle for a place in the sun, was dropped into fourth place hopelessly out of a chance at the title. He may wind up tied with Schaefer for fourth place.

Several of the three cushion stars who have been struggling along in the championship tide for more than two weeks began playing for the booby prizes during the afternoon.

Hall Trims Bozeman.

And to the surprise of the spectators one match developed into one of the best played and most thrilling of the tournament. It was the battle in which Allen Hall of Chicago trounced Jay Bozeman, the fresh young red headed fellow from Vallejo, Cal., by a score of 50 to 40 in 40 innings.

Hall played as most of the billiard fans in the country expected him to play at the beginning of the tournament when they made him the 5 to 2 favorite to carry away the crown. He completely subdued Bozeman, who also was playing marvelous billiards and averaging a point an inning.

Hall was in wonderful stroke and made points with such accuracy that the experts were amazed that a player of such great skill could finish so low. Until yesterday Hall did not flash the form that justified the pre-tournament forecast. Despite his poor form early in the tournament Hall finished with a grand average of .922, making 500 points in 542 innings. This average is better than that made by Art Thurnblad last year in winning the world's title. Thurnblad's grand average was .879.

The other match was a fight for last place between exponents of the angle game from Missouri. Bud Westhus of St. Louis pushed the veteran Tiff Denton of Kansas City down to the bottom of the basement when he was the winner at the end of 60 innings by a score of 50 to 34.

There has been quite a lot of wagering on the final outcome of the tournament. It has centered around the three leaders. The quotations were: Reiselt, 6 to 5; Kieckhefer, 5 to 2, and Thurnblad, 8 to 1.

C. D. G. A. to Run Open, Amateur Trials Again

The Chicago District Golf association again will conduct the qualifying rounds of the national open and amateur championships in this district, it was announced yesterday. The dates have been selected for both, but sites for neither have been named as yet. Efforts will be made to run each of the trials over 36 holes to speed up the qualifiers. Last year the open qualifying round was conducted at Medinah, while the amateur trials were run off at Onwentsia.

The Chicago district trials for the open will be held on June 6 and the amateur on Aug. 16. Courses for both will be chosen by the Chicago District Golf association in the near future.

The United States Golf association announced yesterday from New York that the deadline for entries in the open is Tuesday, May 17, while those seeking to enter the amateur have until July 16 to file. FEED, STRETCH MURPHY MEET AGAIN SUNDAY

Two of the greatest centers ever developed in college basketball will meet Sunday night when the two Charley Murphys — Stretch, late of Purdue, and Feed, who starred at Loyola, will clash in the Bruins-Purdue All Star game at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

Both are pivotal factors in the attack of their teams. Each is noted for his scoring ability. While the Hoosier Murphy has confined most of his activities to coaching, he also has appeared in several games with his team.

The Cuyler-Lake View High school five, which has won 53 straight games, will meet the Pioneer A. C. in a preliminary game.

Gruenig's Eye for Basket Gives Triangles Victory

A field goal and a penalty throw by Bob Gruenig in the final minutes gave the Triangles a 20 to 17 victory over Englewood last night in the Windy City Basketball league at the 132d armory, Rockwell and Madison streets. Other scores:

Ellers, 21; All Chicagos, 18.
Pandoras, 18; Drivers, 16.
Roszcznialskis, 16; Lindstroms, 15.

St. Edward Girls Beat Mt. Carmel Quintet, 22-10

St. Edward defeated Mount Carmel last night in the north division of the Catholic Girls' Basketball league, 22 to 10, at the St. Andrew gymnasium. In other contests, Lady of Mercy won from Queen of Angels, 17 to 2, and St. Andrew triumphed over Lady of Victory, 17 to 8.

Shamrocks in Earnest About Flier Game

Dick Carroll, manager of the St. Louis Fliers, and Babe Dye, boss of the Shamrocks, have reasons for wanting to win tomorrow night's game at the Chicago Stadium. On their last visit here two weeks ago the Fliers defeated the Shamrocks and Manager Dye directed some remarks at Manager Carroll which the latter resented pugilistically. In addition to this, both are excited by the prospect of taking part in a world's championship series.

Thirteen years ago Carroll coached the Toronto Arenas when they won the championship and the Stanley cup. Eight years ago Dye played with the Toronto St. Pats when they won the title and cup. Today they are the managers of two of the foremost contenders for the championship of the American league, the winning of which may entitle the American league representative to meet the champions of the National league in a playoff series for the cup.

The St. Louis boss is the oldest manager in the American league, Dye is the youngest. Carroll made his name in hockey as a coach, his playing being confined to amateur competition. In fifteen years he managed seven chmpionship teams and never finished out of the playoffs. Dye has had one year of amateur coaching to prepare him for his first professional job. His fame was chiefly acquired as a player.

RUPPERTS, HOUSE OF DAVID INDOOR TEAMS TO MEET

Matt Ruppert's indoor baseball team, claimants of the national indoor baseball title, will play the House of David team of Benton Harbor at the Rainbo Fronton next Monday.

In the first game the T. O. Wallaces will lash with the Nik Kellers for the City league title. In the last meeting of these two teams the Wallaces and the Kellers battled fourteen innings to a tie game.

O'Hare, president of the National Jockey club which operates Sportsman's park, the new half mile race track near Hawthorne, announced last night that the track's spring meeting will open on May 2 and continue through May 21. Officials for the meeting are J. J. Graddy, Fred Digby, and E. J. O'Hare, stewards; Robert S. Shelley, racing secretary; Thomas J. Brown, starter; John M. Henry, paddock judge; Lally Collyer, timer; Robert Meyer, track superintendent; Robert S. Shelley, John M. Henry, and Sidney Bender, placing judges.

LONDOS AGREES TO WRESTLE AS CLINNIN ORDERS

Jim Londos last night wired Promoter Doc Krone that he would abide by the order of the Illinois athletic commission to go through with his bout with Rudy Dusek at the Coliseum next Thursday.

Londos had asked for a 30 day postponement to present the local commission with written evidence showing that his neck lock is a legal hold. Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the commission, recently ruled that the neck hold was illegal and barred its use in this state.

Krone announced that Jim Clinkstock will meet Jim McMillen in the semi-windup. Hans Kampfer will meet Frank Bronowicz instead of Matros Kirilenko, the Russian. Hans Steinke will wrestle George Hills.

MURRAY VISTS IOWA; SAYS HE WANTS "BIG JOB"

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A desire to get in the Big Ten or some school where "more people know about it if you win a football game" was expressed today by Frank Murray, Marquette university coach, when he arrived for an interview with University of Iowa athletic officials regarding the vacant head coaching job here.

Murray talked frankly of his desire to get into a larger school, where he felt he would have better schedules.

He added that he had been at Marquette so long and had so many winning teams that fans were disappointed when he failed to turn out a successful eleven. For this reason, he said, he would like to leave "before a losing team comes along."

Murray is the fifth coaching prospect to come here to look over the Iowa athletic plant. The others were James Crowley of Michigan State; George Little, former University of Wisconsin athletic director; Ike Armstrong of Utah, and Jack Chevigny.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 35,000; sheep, 14,000.

The lamb market came into the limelight yesterday when buying on eastern account drove prices up 10@40c and brought the $7.00 quotation into play toward the close. Local houses, after holding back most of the forenoon, were among the best buyers late and were paying the highest prices for lambs since the middle of October as the session ended. The selling side successfully bucked the early attempt to slash quotations against decreasing supplies and closing prices at Chicago were relatively the highest in the country.

Yearlings and matured stock followed lambs to the sharply higher price level, and one large shipment of old slaughter ewes filled a special order at $4.50 near the close, the highest paid for slaughter ewes since last May. Lamb prices are $1.50@2.00 above the low spot in December.

Meet Little Resistance.

Cattle and hogs loafed along all day to irregularly lower price levels. Hog buyers encountered little resistance to their demands for another cut in quotations yesterday and pressed both the top and general average back to the 32½ year low marks established last Friday. The top at $4.10 showed a drop of 15c and was 25c under last Monday's peak, while the general average moved down 10c to $3.80 and showed a 20c drop since Monday. Losses of 10@15c were general in the hog market and buying lagged from start to finish, with 6,000 estimated left.

The wholesale trade for fresh pork, which has been moderately active at prevailing low prices, showed signs of slowing down, and closing reports were rather pessimistic. Hog prices have been declining in the face of the 100,000 decrease at 11 markets during the first three days of this week.

Hog Futures Steady.

Traders showed little interest in the futures trade yesterday and bids and offers were much the same as on Tuesday's trade. May contracts were offered at $5.50 and bid $4.75. March bids reached $4.25 and offers were made at $5.00, while February hogs could be bought at $4.50 or sold at $4.00.

The cattle trade was a lifeless affair. The market has been more susceptible to bearish factors and the current low hog prices are helping to drag cattle prices down. Slightly increased receipts, narrower outlet for dressed beef and indifferent eastern buying put all the advantage on the buying side again. Long yearling steers averaging 1,072 lbs went to eastern buyers at $9.00, the highest paid yesterday. Only a small proportion of the day's offerings were eligible to more than $7.50, while many full carloads of plain quality steers ranged downwards to $4.50.

PLACE SHARES OF GEN. MOTORS UPON $2 BASIS

Firm's Cash Position Is Strong.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The General Motors corporation, largest of the automobile concerns, yesterday reduced its annual common stock rate from $3 to $2. The directors declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, compared with 75 cents previously paid. The reduction was not unexpected in view of a preliminary report on 1931 earnings which was issued last week, showing only $2.01 a share earned on the common stock.

There had been some faint hopes that General Motors would continue to dip into its surplus in order to maintain dividends. That policy was adopted last year, and necessitated paying out about $43,000,000 more than was earned. Many strong corporations adopted a similar policy last year. But recently, with general business showing only faint improvement, directors of industrial enterprises have show a disposition to confine dividend payments to actual earnings.

Sloan Explains Action.

"The directors felt that notwithstanding that the forecast for the current quarter, although uncertain at this early date, indicates earnings not greatly different from the corresponding period of a year ago, the fact that there is no definite improvement as yet indicated in the economic trend prompts a dividend distribution in harmony with existing circumstances and conditions," President Alfred P. Sloan Jr. said, in explaining the General Motors dividend reduction.

"The prime importance of maintaining the present impregnable financial position of the corporation in a period of uncertainty such as prevails at the moment was recognized. In view of all these circumstances it was the opinion of the board that a change in rate was desirable."

Naturally, reduced dividends are disappointing to stockholders and some had interpreted an address made by Mr. Sloan a month ago in Boston as presaging maintenance of payments. He said at that time that "under circumstances existing today, where there are few problems of expansion and where profits are subnormal, then the equities of stockholders justify the drawing upon surplus to maintain dividends, recognizing at all times that the financial structure of the business must in no sense be impaired."

Has Strong Position.

There is no doubt that General Motors is maintaining a strong position, as it had cash and government securities totaling nearly $205,000,000 at the end of 1931, compared with about $179,000,000 at the end of 1930. The new dividend rate is equivalent to the $5 rate paid prior to 1929, when the stock was split on a 2½ for 1 basis. The $3 rate then was established, with extra dividends of varying amounts from time to time.

Although most leaders in the automobile industry expect better business and earnings this year, they are feeling their way. This is one reason why the steel industry is showing less than seasonal expansion. The Iron Age estimates that automobile production this month will total 175,000 units, compared with 140,000 last month.

Expect Rail Purchases.

"The pig iron figures and this week's reports on steel making operations are evidence of the absence of the usual seasonal recovery," the review continues. "This week the steel ingot rate for the entire country has declined to 28 per cent from 29 per cent last week. Although steel ingot production is believed to have made a slight gain in January over December, pig iron output decreased eight-tenths of 1 per cent. In January, 1931, pig iron production gained 3 per cent and ingot output advanced 19 per cent.

"Steel companies with the best operations are benefiting to a greater extent than others from automobile business. The railroad wage adjustment raises hopes that there will be an increase in purchases by the carriers. Some rails and repair material probably will be bought but major programs are likely to be postponed until the last half of the year."

North Western Puts 500 Men to Work in Shop Here

The Chicago and North Western railway will return 500 men to work at its locomotive shops at Crawford avenue and Kinzie street, officials of the road state. This is said to be one of the first instances of railway action to fulfill the terms of the agreement entered into with the unions to provide as much work as possible. It has been estimated that the North Western will save about $6,000,000 from the 10 per cent wage reduction accepted by the men.

Mutual Life Insurance Co. Has $234,925,900 Income

Gains during 1931 are reported by the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York in its annual report which shows total income for the year of $234,925,900, comparable with $227,193,377 for 1930. Total disbursements last year were $183,272,515 in comparison with $172,260,467 for the previous year. The admitted assets of the company increased $54,039,556 during 1931, totaling $1,106,236,049.

Seubert Tells of Tax Burden on Oil Trade

BY SCRUTATOR.

While leaders in the petroleum industry were appearing before the house ways and means committee in Washington yesterday to continue their arguments against the proposed federal tax of a cent a gallon on gasoline and an excise tax on oil, Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, explained the industry's stand.

Mr. Seubert, who is also a director of the American Petroleum institute, had just returned from Washington where, at the previous day's hearing, he had voiced the opposition of the institute toward increasing the tax load on the oil business.

"Probably no other commodity is already so heavily taxed as oil," Mr. Seubert said. "Before it is taken out of the ground, oil is subjected to state taxes on the leaseholds and on the drilling equipment.

"Oil producing states impose a 'severance tax.' That amounts to an excise tax on the oil as produced. The rate is approximately 3 per cent of the surface value of the oil.

Stored Oil Taxed.

"Wherever oil is in storage in either crude or refined state at times of levying assessments for property, it is again taxed under the property tax laws.

"All the pipe lines, pumping stations, refineries, tank cars, service stations, and other properties for distributing and manufacturing are taxed under various state and federal laws. These taxes entering into the cost of oil products become a tax on the products themselves.

"It has become a general practice for cities and towns to impose special license fees or taxes on all plants or stations engaged in handling gasoline or other petroleum products. In addition to all these taxes, profits earned by oil companies are subjected to state and federal income taxes."

That, says Mr. Seubert, all happens before the gasoline gets to the ultimate consumer, who pays these taxes indirectly without knowing about them.

Average Is 4 Cents.

The final tax is paid when the motorist has his tank filled. All states now have a gasoline tax, ranging from 2 to 7 cents per gallon. The average is now above 4 cents. Under present conditions a tax of 4 cents is 1 cent more than the price of the gasoline itself at the refinery in Oklahoma. It is more than 30 per cent of the average retail price of gasoline for fifty representative cities, according to an estimate made on Jan. 1.

"According to preliminary estimates," Mr. Seubert continued, "the states collected $524,000,000 from gasoline taxes in 1931. No statistics are available as to the other taxes, but it is certain that the tax bill of the industry was much larger than the total net earnings to be credited to the owners of the businesses.

"In other words, the industry is working first for the government and secondly for the investors whose capital makes it possible."

Now Opposes Taxes.

The American Petroleum institute until recently had not opposed gasoline taxes where it regarded them as reasonable and the revenue was to be used for road construction or betterment. It has now altered its position and announces that it will make a definite campaign against this form of taxation. This was evidenced when the directors two weeks ago adopted a resolution against the bill to increase the tax on gasoline in the District of Columbia from 2 to 4 cents.

"Study of the effects of gasoline tax evasion," Mr. Seubert says, "has convinced leaders of the industry that ruinous conditions result from the tax because the proportion of the tax to other cost factors is so great that evasion gives the company or person resorting to it an advantage which no legitimate marketer can match. The higher the tax rate goes the less likely it becomes that it can be fairly collected."

London Views Eastern News Favorably; Stocks Gain

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Traders on the stock exchange viewed the far eastern news more favorably and prices of Japanese and Chinese bonds were marked up from one to three points, which also imparted buoyancy to other sections. Gilt edged securities were additionally helped by revenue returns and hopes for a reduction in the bank rate, while investors took interest in industrials and home rails.

NO MARKET FOR NOTE OFFERINGS OF JERSEY CITY

Los Angeles Lacks Bids for Water Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—Jersey City was added to the list today of the communities whose new security offerings do not impress bankers as being attractive enough within the price and interest rate limitation set by law. The offering of $5,500,000 three and one-half year notes met with no response even though an interest rate of 6 per cent could have been named.

Inasmuch as Jersey City cannot accept a bid under par and can pay no more than a 6 per cent interest rate, the outlook for greater success at another public sale set for any time in the near future is not considered encouraging. It is believed that the city officials will make an attempt to raise funds at the local banks for a smaller amount than the issue advertised for sale today.

Set 5 Per Cent Maximum.

The attempt of the city of Los Angeles to attract bids for an issue of $3,000,000 water bonds yesterday was unsuccessful, a factor in the episode being the stipulation of a maximum interest rate of 5 per cent. Unless the city is willing to wait for a more satisfactory market or to authorize a maximum rate of 6 per cent, bankers here do not believe that the financing can be successfully carried out.

Confronted with a maturity of $500,000 tax anticipation notes on March 1, a like amount of notes on April 1 and a pay roll of $525,000 to be met this month, Nassau county, N. Y., officials have been unsuccessful in their attempts to interest either local or New York bankers in the purchase of a new issue of notes. A similar situation last December was met when New York bankers loaned all but $175,000 of the $1,600,000 needed.

Holds Sale Friday.

The city of Seattle, Wash., has announced its intention to conduct a sale on Friday of $3,000,000 municipal light and power bonds, representing part of the $10,000,000 authorized on Jan. 23. The rate is not to exceed 6 per cent.

Cuyahoga county, O., will receive bids on Feb. 19 for an issue of $219,500 improvement bonds, due Oct. 1, 1933 to 1941. Bidders are to name an interest rate not to exceed 5½ per cent.

Nation's Monetary Gold Stock Drops $13,203,300

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A decrease of $13,203,300 in the nation's monetary gold stock was indicated in today's transactions as reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank. Exports totaled $13,050,200, of which $12,563,700 was for France, $300,000 for Holland, $100,000 for Switzerland, and $86,500 for Belgium. In addition there was an increase in gold earmarked for foreign account of $687,100. The only import was $34,000 from India.

COPPER PRICES ARE WEAK DESPITE RISE IN EXPORT SALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—Copper prices continued weak today, despite unusually good sales for export yesterday at the new low level of 6⅞ cents a pound c. i. f. European ports. The red metal was reported available at 6½ cents, delivered Connecticut Valley base. The all-time low is 6¼ cents.

Additional cables this morning brought the total of export sales yesterday to 4,100,000 pounds at 6⅞ cents. There was a reaction, however, today, and early sales were reported light.

In view of the continued decline in consumption and the steadily increasing stocks, some trade interests believe there will have to be a virtual shutdown of all mining operations before normal market conditions can be achieved. At 6½ cents a pound, even low cost producers are hard put to make a profit.

Some light was thrown on the scramble for sales when it was reported that a copper jobbing firm was offering to throw in with each purchase of 1,000 tons of electrolytic copper fifty shares of Anaconda, Kennecott, or General Cable, or twenty-five shares of American Smelting.

At around current quotations for the red metal 1,000 tons would cost in the neighborhood of $140,000, so that the premium offered in stock is not as attractive as it appears at a glance. At today's prices fifty shares of Kennecott, less commissions, would cost $525; fifty shares of Anaconda, $512; fifty shares General Cable "A," $255, and twenty-five shares American Smelter, $387.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES STEADY ON DULL TRADE

Prices were comparatively firm in the extremely slow trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Closing quotations represented only slight changes from the previous day's final prices.

News of a sort to stimulate speculative activity was scarce. The action of Continental Chicago corporation directors in voting the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the preferences stock was ignored by traders and the issue did not appear on the tape. The common was quoted at its previous price on a small turnover.

Utility shares were also dull but Insull Utility Investment shares were weak. The common broke to 3¾ and the second preferred was off a point to 6½. It is generally expected that the quarterly dividend on the preferred will be omitted when directors meet for action in a few days. Middle West common held its ground on transactions approaching 6,000 shares.

American Chicle Co. Earns $4.18 Per Share for Year

American Chicle company earned $4.18 a share in 1931, against $4.42 in the preceding year. For the December quarter earnings equaled 90 cents a share, compared with $1.02 in the last three months of 1930. Current assets as of December 31 last, including cash and marketable securities of $2,134,440, amounting to $5,169,467 and current liabilities were $699,570.

GERMAN CREDIT IS RENEWED FOR ANOTHER MONTH

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BASLE, Switzerland, Feb. 3.—At almost the eleventh hour the danger of Germany losing the $100,000,000 credit which now forms a major part of her gold reserve was definitely removed today, but only for one month.

The four creditors—the Federal Reserve bank, the Bank of England, the Bank of France, and the Bank for International Settlements — renewed the credit, which was to expire tomorrow for that period, after having received a formal guarantee through the world bank that the German government would not take measures to prevent the shipment of gold should the creditors demand repayment.

The Bank of France recently made the month's extension of its quarter share in the credit subject to this condition, whereupon the other three creditors followed suit.

When the credit was issued in June, in part to keep Germany on the gold standard, the reichsbank guaranteed it with its gold reserve. Not until the French raised the point, however, did the German government, after a cabinet session yesterday, give its guarantee not to use its legislative and other powers to prevent such shipment of gold.

PACKARD OMITS DIVIDEND FOR FIRST QUARTER

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The board of directors of the Packard Motor Car company decided today to omit the dividend for the first quarter of 1932.

The announcement said that the company's action was taken, "consistent with its traditional policy of conservatism, and in spite of the fact that the company holds $13,750,000 in cash and marketable securities." The dividend policy in the future, the announcement said, will depend upon earnings and general economic conditions.

The company paid $6,750,000 in dividends during 1931, the announcement said, and a statement by Alvan MaCauley, president, said that during the first three quarters of the year the company showed a small profit. Engineering development and preparation expense for increasing its two lines to four were concentrated in the last year, however, the announcement said, and the loss for the year was estimated at $3,000,000.

New Car Sales in Illinois in January Total 5,164

New car sales in Illinois made a slightly more encouraging showing in January, the total of 5,164 cars sold being 2,775 cars ahead of December and the highest since October, according to the monthly report issued today by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. Of the total, 2,629 were sold in Cook county and 2,535 downstate. Sales do not yet reflect the stimulus of the annual automobile show in Chicago and are still 4,912 cars below the total new car sales for January, 1931.

Estimate 1931 Aircraft Sales at $49,096,866

Sales of commercial and military aircraft, engines and parts in 1931 are estimated by the "Aircraft Year Book" at $49,096,866, a decrease of 8 per cent from the sales of 1930.

Leading Food Firms Boost Investments

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—Investment holdings of five representative food stocks have increased approximately 29 per cent since 1930, a recent survey of figures on stock holdings reveals.

The companies concerned are the Borden company, Standard Brands, Inc., the Gold Dust corporation, the National Dairy Products corporation, and the General Foods corporation.

The General Foods corporation added 10,000 names to its list of stockholders, bringing the total to approximately 50,000 at the end of December. In two years that company has increased its list of stockholders 108 per cent.

Stability of Earnings.

That growing public interest in food stocks is ascribed to the statistical evidence of stability of earning power exhibited by representative companies of that industry during the hard times of the last two years following a gradual increase in earning power over a period of years. Compilations by the National City bank of corporation earnings for the first nine months of 1931 reveal the food industry as having done better than the average by a wide margin.

The compilation in question shows that aggregate net profits of 205 corporations for the first nine months of last year amounted to $392,526,000, against $740,855,000 in the corresponding period of the previous year. The decline amounted to 47 per cent. The aggregate net profits of sixteen food products companies during the same period of last year were $64,645,000, against $75,163,000 the first nine months of the previous year, a decrease of $10,518,000, or 14 per cent.

It has not always been true that the representative companies of the food industry have shown the earning power they command now. A comparison of results in 1930 with results in 1920 shows, according to another compilation, a great improvement in these depression times with 1920, also a depression year. Net profits of eleven food companies in 1921, a statistical analysis shows, averaged 1.35 per cent of capital investment, whereas in 1930 the net profits averaged 2.51 per cent, an increase of more than 1 per cent. Similarly inventory turnover in sales in 1930 was 7.15 times, while in 1920 it was 8.63 times.

Reasonas for Stability.

It is evident that the food industry has undergone an important transformation in the period from 1920 to the present time, which has increased and stabilized its earning power. The reasons for that are believed to be two. The first factor is the inherent stability of the food industry, owing to the steady demand for food products. The second factor is the merger movement in the food industry, which began in 1925 and which stabilized the functions of the food companies to a still greater extent than was apparent before.

Net earnings for 1931 of $14,542,319, equivalent, after preferred dividends and special deductions, to $1.08 a share on 12,644,313 shares of common stock, were reported today by Standard Brands, Inc. This compares with $16,402,253 net, or $1.22 a share on 12,644,002 shares in 1930.

Montgomery Ward Sales 27.63% Below Year Ago

The monthly sales report of Montgomery Ward & Co., mail order and chain store concern, shows a considerable decline from a year ago. January sales totaled $12,028,054, compared with $16,620,238 in January, 1931, a decline of $4,592,184, or 27.63 per cent.

Protests Action of France on Imports of U. S. Radios

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The American chamber of commerce delivered today to Louis Rollin, minister of commerce, one of the most vigorous protests ever made by an authorized American trade body to the French government.

Criticism was embodied in the statement, which denounced the recently imposed suspension of radio importations which has virtually wiped out the American market here in that commodity, but it was also intended to register a protest against the "general question of arbitrary import restrictions, which are creating a very serious feeling of insecurity in business circles and particularly among the importers of American products in France."

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, Feb. 3.—All was quiet on the stock market front today. Extremely so. Only about 800,000 shares were turned over—hardly enough to keep the wheels turning.

Price movements were without significance. The drift was generally toward lower levels, but losses were so small that they scarcely counted.

The lull in activity was probably due as much as anything else to the prospects of an armistice if not peace in the far east. Traders are in no little confusion as to the probable effect of a termination of hostilities, with the market in its present state of low vitality. In view of the upturn in steel, aircraft, power, and other "war baby" stocks earlier in the week, when it looked as though the war might assume really serious proportions, the situation has led many observers to believe that a sudden cessation of the fracas might be reflected in a set of brand new lows for the bear market. Others see in the situation a possibility of a revival of commerce, the bond market, and so ultimately in stock trading.

Dividend Uncertainty.

In addition to the new turn in the Sino-Japanese dispute, the market had to contend today with uncertainty over the dividend action scheduled to be taken by the directors of General Motors after the close of business. While not so much of a market factor as U. S. Steel, General Motors is still very much in the picture when attempts are being made to guess the course of trading, and so the outcome of today's meeting was watched with no little interest. There have been conflicting reports as to the state of business with this premier corporation of the motor industry and the board's announcement this afternoon was counted upon to give an inkling as to the direction and velocity of the wind in this major field of industrial enterprise.

The common stock of the company fluctuated within a range of a half point all day, with the turnover comparatively light. The close found it fractionally above last night's final figure. Other shares of the automobile group merely rested on their oars. Auburn Auto, which moves independently of the others, was rather weakish, finishing with a loss of about 4 points.

Rail Shares Quiet.

Railroad shares did nothing either way to distinguish themselves. Several ordinarily active issues of the group failed to appear on the tape at all. Among those to come in for any attention were Atchison, which rose nearly a point; New York Central, which finished unchanged, and Norfolk and Western, which gave up some 3 points.

United States Steel managed some progress on the upside in face of the Iron Age report showing a decline of about 1 per cent in steel operations. Brokers said the action of the corporation in offering its stock to employés at $40 a share probably had something to do with the firmness of the issue today.

Other individual performers of note were scarce. Royal Dutch moved up 1½ points on buying reputed to be coming from European sources, particularly London and Amsterdam. Kreuger and Toll scored a fractional advance in the face of another batch of selling orders for foreign account.

Utilities Range Lower.

Public utility issues ranged lower most of the time. American and Foreign Power and International Telephone both showed fractional gains at the close in spite of reports of widespread property damage in the Cuban earthquake, which ordinarily might have been expected to militate against their market accounts.

Oil and mining shares did nothing.

Peerless Motor Car.

At present I am holding some shares of Peerless Motor Car corporation. Please give me some information on the company.—E. F. D.

Peerless Motor Car corporation is the oldest automobile company now doing business. It was originally established 31 years ago.

In the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1931, 1,499 units with a sales value of $2,819,000 were produced, against 4,715 units which sold for $6,478,000 in the preceding fiscal year. Net loss for the latest year was $713,000, against net income of $73,000, or 17 cents per common share, for the 1930 fiscal year. Net loss for the nine months to Sept. 30, 1929, was $2,164,000, after nonrecurring charges, against loss of $1,683,000 for the 1928 calendar year, loss of $726,000 for 1927, and net income of $920,000 for 1926. Manufacturing facilities and management were reorganized in 1930.

On Sept. 30, 1931, current assets were $1,507,000 and current liabilities were $117,000. Capitalization consisted solely of 326,739 shares of capital stock [par $10]. On Nov. 16, 1931, stockholders approved the reduction in the par value of the capital stock to $3 per share and reduction in authorized capital to $2,250,000.

Dome Mines, Ltd.

Does the stock of Dome Mines, Ltd., rate any better than speculative?—M. G. T.

Dome Mines, Ltd., is the second largest gold producer in Canada. In May, 1931, visible resources were estimated to be about 2,000,000 tons, sufficient to last for five years at the present rate of production.

Net profit, before depreciation and depletion for 1931, was $1,691,000, against $118,000 for 1930.

In October, 1929, the company's mill was destroyed by fire and a new one was not put in operation until October, 1930.

For the full 1930 year net income, after all charges, was $86,000, or 9 cents per share, against $1,778,000, or $1.87 per share, for 1929. Net for 1928 was $1,494,000, against $1,516,000 for 1927.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $2,806,000 and current liabilities were $478,000. Cash, bullion and bonds were more than $2,500,000. There was no funded debt. Capitalization consisted of 953,334 shares of no par capital stock, which has been on an annual $1 dividend basis since 1927. The stock is speculative.

THEY BOUGHT A GOOD INCOME

● Many successful investors attribute their present financial welfare to sound bonds profitably purchased in times such as the present. They bought a good income, well-secured, at bargain prices.

● In our opinion, bonds of companies comprising the Associated Gas & Electric System, are a sound investment, combining acknowledged security with attractive yield.

FOREIGN SALES OF WHEAT HELP BOOST PRICES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While war news continues to have considerable influence on the wheat market, which advances or declines on developments in the far east, there were indications yesterday of a larger general interest in the American market yesterday.

According to traders who should be in a position to know liberal buying orders for futures were received from both the United Kingdom and the continent early yesterday which were a factor in causing an early advance of around 1¢ over Tuesday's finish. A new cold wave over the winter wheat belt was also a factor, as temperatures well below zero were reported in private messages from Kansas.

Not only did Europe take futures on a fair scale but also came in as a heavy buyer of Canadian cash wheat. Sales in all positions were estimated around 1,500,000 bu, with the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany identified as among the countries that took grain during the day. Whether the buying movement was the forerunner of the long anticipated heavy takings by importers or just another flash in the pan such as has been in evidence before was what puzzled the trade.

Wheat Closes Higher.

Taken as a whole the wheat market made only a moderate response to the numerous bullish influences which developed during the day. The May delivery sold up to 60¾c early only to meet with considerable opposition from scattered longs and also selling by holders of offers and reacted to 59½c when pressure increased. However, the late reports suggesting low temperatures throughout the west and the strength in Winnipeg caused another bulge and the finish was at net gains of ⅝@⅞c with March closing at 57@57½c; May, 59¾@59⅞c, and July, 60@60¼c.

Free buying by the seaboard was reported at Winnipeg and the latter market was ½@⅝c higher at the last with May at 63¾c in Canadian funds which were quoted at 12½ per cent discount. Liverpool advanced sharply early, but lost part of the advance and closed ¾@1c per bu higher with May at 56c, or 4c under the same delivery in Chicago. Buenos Aires wheat was ⅜@⅝c higher.

Strength abroad was on reports of large flour sales in the United Kingdom with a better demand for cash wheat, while private estimates placed the Spanish crop at 17,000,000 bu below the official returns, and 39,000,000 bu below the harvest of 1930. Supplies of wheat in southern Italy were said to be very small with millers there buying foreign grain freely.

Corn Futures Weaken.

Corn was fractionally higher with wheat early, but reports of liberal country offerings of cash grain to arrive somewhat above buyers' views led to a selling movement that caused a drop of 1@1¼c from the best figures with May touching 39¾c on the break, the lowest since Jan. 27. Sufficient scattered buying developed on the dip to bring about a small rally from the inside but the close was at net losses of ¼@⅝c. March finished at 37⅛c; May, 40⅛c, and July at 42½c.

Total purchases of cash corn to arrive were estimated at 35,000 bu, while shipping sales were 25,000 bu. Buenos Aires closed ⅜@½c higher, although general showers were reported in Argentine which will be beneficial for the new crop.

Oats finished unchanged to ⅛c lower in sympathy with corn. May closed at 25¾@25⅞c, and July at 25⅜c. Cash interests bought May and sold July at ⅛c difference. Rye was ⅛@¼c higher with wheat. Trade in the aggregate was not large. May closed at 46½c and July at 47⅝c.

LARD PRICES LOWER

A fairly good business was on in lard futures yesterday, with an easier tone reflecting a decline in corn and hog prices. Shorts were good buyers early, while selling was by hedgers and by commission houses. Hog supplies, although not so large as a week ago, were in excess of last year. Liverpool lard was 6d to 1s 3d lower. At the close Chicago futures were off 7½c. Bellies had poor support, with a break of 27½c on selling of 100,000 lbs for May delivery. Cash trade in lard and meats was only fair, and pork loins were ¼@½c lower, with liberal offerings. Exports were large at 71,400 lbs, and bacon 12,500 lbs. Prices follow:

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw, was quiet today and in absence of business prices were unchanged at 3.02c for spots. Price changes in futures were irregular and sentiment rather confused owing to the inactivity in the spot market and the absence of any definite news from Cuba in regard to the crop restriction plans. Final prices were 2 points net lower on all positions. Approximate sales, 11,450 tons. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A drop of around 50 to 60 degrees in western Kansas with no snow covering revived talk of crop damage to winter wheat and brought in buying of offers late in the day. The crop situation is so uncertain that traders are going slow on the selling side on breaks, although they have not sufficient courage to back their belief in serious crop damage with substantial buying orders. So far the crop scare has not created a strong buying power on the part of the outsiders, although it was said that should they be convinced that the wheat crop has been badly injured they are likely to come in strongly on the buying side and a bulge would be the result.

Corn traders are bearish on the poor cash demand from the east and on prospects of an increased movement of cash corn from the country, and especially in Iowa, where within the last few days industries in that state have been enabled to secure larger offerings from farmers at higher prices than Chicago.

Indications are for a small increase in the movement of oats which has been disappointingly small all season. Commission houses yesterday were fair buyers of July and sellers of May, while cash interests did the reverse. Choice heavy oats have been in demand all season at fair premiums with no pressure of offerings.

BUTTER FUTURES RALLY

Butter futures declined early yesterday on the Chicago mercantile exchange, but rallied near the close and ending the day ½@¼c lower. A new all time low was recorded when April fresh standards sold down to 19¾c. Egg futures were firmer, closing ⅝c higher, the first strength in butter was largely a result of an improved storage report, the four markets reporting a fairly heavy outward movement against the constant inward movement recorded last week. Covering started and the advance brought in new buyers. Egg receipts of late have been running rather sharply under last year, which encouraged better support of February fresh firsts, new buying and covering both appearing and the market showed a steady gain. Sales: Butter, 124 cars; eggs, 17 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 3 cars. Prices follow:

PACKERS SETTLE CONTROVERSY WITH TANNERS

Resumption of more normal business was seen yesterday by representatives of packers and tanners after the two interests announced they had reached an agreement ending a three months' controversy over the basis of purchases and sales of hides.

Several of the large packing houses have been assessing a 4 per cent surcharge for hides having a standard head trim. For thirteen weeks sales of hides have been curtailed because of the disagreement. Tanners claimed the surcharge was confusing and refused to purchase hides unless the improved quality resulting from the trim was included in the amount of the purchase price.

Hide stocks have piled up to around 1,200,000 to 1,500,000 hides, it is estimated, since Nov. 1. Packers' representatives yesterday were given an indication by a poll of forty-six fanning companies that the latter stood ready to place immediate orders for 190,000 to 200,000 hides on the new basis, which eliminates the surcharge.

World's Wheat Exports Estimated by Broomhall

Importers' requirements of wheat during the season Aug. 1, 1931 to July 31, 1932 as estimated by Broomhall, aggregate 568,000,000 bu for Europe and 208,000,000 bu for other countries, or a total of 776,000,000 bu. The United States will export 80,000,000 bu less than originally estimated, which loss, it is said, will be made up by increase exports from principally Australia, also Canada. The Argentine and Balkan countries, and perhaps Russia, will furnish only 88,000,000 bu this season compared with the original estimate of 96,000,000 bu for this country and this will have to be replaced by larger shipments from the Argentine or Canada.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.85 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

Why pay more than Household's low rate On loans?

The nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small loan law. We established this low rate in 1928 and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE:
The average monthly cost of a $200 loan repaid in 20 equal monthly payments is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.
